J. R. Talcott Takes a Stand.

An Interesting Meeting at Fruit Vale.

Republican Gatherings All Over the County.

Wind-Up Work Is Being Done by the Office Seekers.

The Republicans of Fruit Vale held a big meeting at Blake's Hall Saturday night. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Valentine G. Hush acted as chairman. During the evening speeches were made by A. L. Frick, E. C. Hart, Judge Post and J. R. Talcott.

Mr. Talcott is a candidate for Supervisor, and much interest was taken in his speech. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been asked in an open letter received October 7, 1894, signed by ten prominent citizens, to tell the people of Fruit Vale my views upon town incorporation, and also to pledge myself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section are used for the improvement of this section (in the event of my election as Supervisor), and, that you may understand fully my position in this matter, I will ask your indulgence while I read from this letter the two questions submitted:

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it be backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

Second.—Pending such town incorporation, will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section?

Recognizing the high standing and general reputation for fairness of the signers of this letter, I read carefully the questions asked, and became satisfied that I could not give (as demanded) a "definite and unqualified" answer to the first question in its present form. (One of the reasons being that they did not outline the proposed boundaries of their scheme.) You will remember that during the past year, no less than three distinct schemes, for a town of the sixth class, have been put forward in Fruit Vale, the petitions, for each, published for weeks in the local paper, and no two having the same boundary lines.

Not wishing to delay matters by returning the letter to the writers for revision I, on October 8th, addressed to each signer the following letter:

"In reply to the open letter of yourself and friends, will say that I desire to meet all of you gentlemen together before giving the required answer to the public. I would be pleased to invite another ten men of equally good standing, thoroughly representative residents of Fruit Vale Road district to meet with us.

"I feel that you have opened the way to a more complete understanding of each other's views, and, while we may differ in some minor details, am fully satisfied that the common interest of us all is in the same direction and that we may not be so far apart when we consider the matter, without prejudice, together.

"Hoping this will meet the views of you all, and that you will allow me to name some central place of meeting, and as soon as consistent with other appointments now made. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "J. R. TALCOTT."

Imagine my surprise when before breakfast the following morning, October 9th, I read in a leading Democratic organ the report of an interview with one of the signers of the open letter. The only answer, other than this, which I have received direct from any of those gentlemen, I now hold in my hand. It is under date of October 10th, and is as follows:

"J. R. Talcott, Esq., Fruit Vale. DEAR SIR:—Your note of October 8th in reply to ours of a previous date is at hand. With regard to meeting ten other gentlemen and yourself, 'at a time consistent with your other appointments' to discuss the questions propounded to you in our letter, is, to say the least, very indefinite, and, as it seems to us, entirely unnecessary. The questions are plain, simple and easily understood, and should not require a conference with twenty gentlemen before answering.

"You must long since have made up your mind upon the questions asked, otherwise you are not a fit person for our Supervisor.

"Our object in asking them was to learn positively your views upon these important questions, and to learn how you will act regarding them if elected, not to discuss them with you, and ten of your friends. The time for discussion is past, we want to know where you stand.

"A general complaint made against you is that it is next to impossible to get a direct answer from you on any public question, and the tenor of your letter seems to confirm this.

"We again ask for replies to our questions, and however brief your answers may be, we hope they will be definite, without qualification, and not needing further explanation, so that we can govern ourselves accordingly. Respectfully, for self, and on behalf of other signers of letter, et al."

"JOHN LLOYD,

Before answering this communication I learned upon good authority that although this letter agreed to be a second letter from the same first one, as a gentleman who signed the Consequently after of fact it was not so. be very plain. answer was intended to

"FRUIT ...e it in full:

"To John Lloyd, ..., Fruit Vale—DEAR SIR: Your letter to me of ... Vale, signed by yourself, and on behalf of other signers of a communication ... of other signers of October 1, 1894, is imper... under date of October 10th, personal in tone, and I address you personally in tone, and credibly informed that because I am ers of the above referred to of the signication of October 1, 1894, our communication of October 1, 1894, our communication letter to me of October that your written and signed by you with was knowledge or authority. The it their communication above referred to and of me a written pledge, which I stand lawyer, should know would be illegal to give under the election laws of the State. I deny the right of any man, or set of men, to require written or other pledges from me as a candidate, touching questions that may come before the Board of Supervisors in their official capacity. Upon the receipt of the communication of October 1st, heretofore referred to, which I received on October 7th, believing that it would be illegal for me to give the written pledge demanded, and being desirous that the signers of that communication should have a complete understanding as to my position on these questions, I addressed to each of them on October 8, 1894, a letter requesting them to meet me for that purpose, which you, in your letter of October 10th, say is 'entirely unnecessary,' as 'the time for discussion is passed.' In this we differ—and while I have refrained for the reason heretofore stated, from pledging myself, in the manner demanded, it is my intention to clearly define my position at a public meeting, to be held at Fruit Vale at an early date, of which due notice will be given.

"Respectfully yours,

"J. R. TALCOTT."

And I will state that each one of the gentlemen signing that letter received a written invitation to be here tonight.

And now fellow-citizens, agreeable to my promise, I am before you tonight to answer as well as I can the questions in their present form.

"First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it is backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

My Friends: I desire to be entirely frank with you. Should the scheme referred to in this question be originated in the same manner as the one taken before the Board of Supervisors this present session, that is, without consulting any person upon the outskirts of the town, and should its projectors proceed to carry it out in the same manner and upon the same lines, I have as yet, as a citizen, seen no reason to materially change my opinion of its merits. On the other hand, if at any time it appears that a considerable number of the best citizens of Fruit Vale desire incorporation into a sixth class town, and go about it in a business way, with committees of representative residents and tax payers from each section of the proposed town, all meeting together for the common good, and if they should under such circumstances decide to go ahead, I have no idea but that self interest alone would compel me to join with them, even though my judgment should be wavering.

I believe that this section of country has a bright future before it and I think that when you stop to consider the matter that you will see that my every interest is in line with anything that will benefit this whole community. Local pride makes many of you zealous in protecting the interests of Fruit Vale avenue. This is as it should be. Others are equally interested for San Leandro road. Others still would like something done on Sherman street and the Redwood road, and so on through all sections of this road district.

No; I shall not oppose incorporation when you take all parties in interest into your councils and I find that the majority are in favor of it.

In answer to the second question, which is: "Pending such town incorporation will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund contributed by the section are used for the improvement of this section?" will say that if by "this section" Fruit Vale Road District is meant I can answer it easily, for if elected to the office of Supervisor I am determined to have the road taxes, so far as I have the power, expended in the district where collected, and shall use my best endeavors to have the road funds honestly expended and fairly distributed in all sections of each and every road district and to, so far as possible consistent with economy, distribute the work of each road district among its own citizens. Of course everyone acknowledges the necessity of giving more attention to the main thoroughfares, but all county roads must come in for a share.

It may be of interest to you to know that I deem it essential to have in each road district some competent person to look after its wants in detail. If ever there was economy needed in the administration of the county business it is in times like the present and you can depend upon it that I fully appreciate this fact.

Many of us are going to the Tax Collector's rooms this year with heavy hearts caused by nearly empty purses.—Not a pleasant task in good times, it becomes a burden now. If elected, I shall surely help what I can to make the burden lighter until such times as we can afford to be generous. I expect to give all the time necessary to the work, and good counsel from public-spirited citizens will always be acceptable. I hope I have made plain my views on two questions asked.

Before closing I desire to say to my friend, Mr. Lloyd, that the position taken by me in my letter to him of October 14, 1894, (refusing his demand for written pledges) I am informed has been declared to be sound law by leading judges on both the San Francisco and Alameda county benches, and also by eminent attorneys who practice before them; and I took on further consideration he will so see it. Of one thing further I wish to say a word. I don't know as it is good judgment to do so, for many reasons; but I have heard so often during this campaign that "if so and so was not working for you, my neighbors would support you to a man." I ask, "Why does that make any difference? Is not so and so a man of judgment, a good business man, a worthy citizen and one who has contributed more than either of us to the good of the county?" I am told "Yes, but you know he is getting more than his share of the county business now and my neighbors, who don't know you, think he is working for you because he expects to control you in the board."

"I have known Mr. So and So many years, not very intimately, 'tis true, but I think I know him well enough to know that he would be almost the last man to ask of me to violate my oath as a Supervisor, and that is more than I can say of some of his enemies. I wish to tell you in all candor that I have made no promises, and shall make none, being determined, if elected, to do the business of the county with the same care and attention to detail that I have done my own business in the years I have been in your midst. I have made many mistakes in my own business, and no doubt would make others were I made Supervisor, and were it lawful I could not, and neither could you afford to have me pledged to him or even against him.

One thing more and I have done. It is not perhaps in good taste to criticise in any way the work of former or present Boards of Supervisors, and it is not a part of my policy to do so. I am willing, however, to go on record, notwithstanding the violent opposition of some of the gentlemen who live in the vicinity, against the system which has been pursued in robbing the creek bed, on Fruit Vale avenue, for the sake of obtaining material which is, of itself, of doubtful value when placed upon any of the main thoroughfares. It is high time this practice was stopped, and material of better quality procured. This is in accord with my best judgment, many times publicly expressed in years gone by, and presented now without solicitation by or suggestion from any person.

I thank you for your kind attention, and ask you if you are satisfied with the explanation of my position, to assist in the selection of a Fruit Vale representative in the Board of Supervisors on the 6th of next November.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fatal Collision on the Hudson.

NEW YORK, October 20.—In a dense fog that hung over the river and harbor today the tugboat F. A. Kirkham was sunk off the Battery by a collision with Jersey Central Railroad Company's ferryboat Mauch Chunk. One man was drowned. The Mauch Chunk fished out another of the crew and a third was saved by a passing tug.

Details of the Great Naval Battle.

The Emperor's Insult to Li Hung Chang.

He Still Has a Few Chances Left to Redeem Himself.

Special Correspondence of the Associated Press (per steamers China and Australia.)

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — Long before the rejoicing over the capture of Phyong Yang had begun to subside Japan was excited to fresh enthusiasm by the news of a naval victory of even greater significance, in the northeastern inlet of the Yellow sea. On the 16th of September Admiral Ito, commanding the squadron stationed at the mouth of the Taitong, or Daido river, was notified that a large Chinese fleet had arrived at the Yalu river, in charge of transports conveying reinforcements to the army on the frontier.

He set sail the following morning with all the men-of-war that could be immediately summoned, namely: The Matsushima, flagship; Hashidate, Itsukushima, Yoshino, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Naniwa, Chiyoda, Fuso, Akagi and Hiyei. Accompanying these eleven was the Saikio, a merchant steamer taken into the national service since the war began, of no strength and not intended for heavy work in action. She would not have joined the expedition but for the desire of Admiral Viscount Kabayama, the naval chief of the staff, who, being on a visit of inspection at the north, could not resist the temptation to witness the expected engagement. Between 12 and 1 o'clock fourteen Chinese ships and six torpedo boats were discovered a little south of a harbor called Taikosan in Japanese pronunciation and east of Kaiyoto island.

The ships were the Ting Yuen, flag; Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Ching Yuen, Quih Yuen, Ping Yuen, Chao Yuen, Yang Wei, Kwang-Kak, Wei Yuen, Kwang Ping and two others whose names are still unknown. Of these the first two carried Krupp guns of thirty centimetre and fifteen centimetre. The next four carried twenty-one centimetre and fifteen centimetre Krupps and the next two had twenty-five ton Armstrongs.

Contrary to anticipation they advanced unhesitatingly and commenced to fire when four thousand metres distant from the Japanese, who reserved their first discharge until another thousand metres had been covered. The serious fighting began between the vessels of the China right and the Japanese left, the flagships on either side leading the onset. By 1 o'clock the contest was general. Both lines maintained their position steadily for an hour, when the Chinese showed signs of wavering. Three of their ships, either by accident or design, had for some time been made special objects of attack, and though they contended vigorously to the last, they were sunk one after another, the crews climbing into the rigging as each descended and signaling wildly for help to both their companions and assailants. They were the Lai Yuen, Chih Yuen and Chao Yuen.

As soon as they were disposed of the foremost Japanese ships directed their assault against the immense German-built vessels at the head of the Chinese column, but for a long time without effect upon the heavy steel plating which protected them.

At last, however, a lucky shell struck the Ting Yuen a little above the water, and seemed to the Japanese observers to pierce the armor through and through. Their belief that this feat had been achieved was increased when a thick body of smoke was seen rising from the flagship, and although no diminution of activity on board was perceptible, they were convinced that she had been set on fire and remained burning up to the hour of her hasty departure.

Whatever her condition, she succeeded in inflicting heavy punishment upon her chief adversary. The Matsushima was struck by two twelve-inch shells, the first of which upset and battered out of shape one of her large guns, while the second exploded an amunition box, dealing dreadful havoc among the crew, and starting a fire which was subdued only with great difficulty.

In consequence of these mishaps, the Matsushima withdrew from the scene and moved toward the Taitong, Admiral Ito transferring his flag to the Hashidate.

Meanwhile, three other Japanese vessels had undergone extremely rough treatment. The Saikio, which Viscount Kabayama persisted in keeping in the thick of the fight, notwithstanding her obvious unsuitability for such duty, lost control of her rudder, and found herself in much closer proximity than was desirable to the Ting Yuen and Chen Yuen. As she could not avoid them, she made directly for them, misleading them, it is supposed, into the belief that she was about to ram them. The Japanese are of the opinion that it was under this illusion that the two huge ships separated, allowing the Saikio a passage of about forty fathoms wide, through which to escape.

Torpedoes were discharged at her as she went by, but without avail. The Hiyei having been unable, by means of her slowness, to keep pace with the rest of the fleet, became a conspicuous object to the Chinese, and was so deluged with missiles that she was set on fire before the afternoon was half over. Her small crew was greatly reduced, and as the surgeon was among the wounded the sufferers could not be properly cared for. When she had lost twenty killed and thirty-four wounded she fell out of line and turned toward the Taitong.

But meeting a transport on the way, she obtained assistance in quenching the flames, handed over the wounded, and returned with all the speed she could make, not waiting for a doctor, to take up her work where she had left off. In this hope she was disappointed, for the enemy had flown, and the battle was over. It is recorded that when steaming away in flames she was thrice in great danger from torpedoes, but skillfully escaped by employing a device described in a recent magazine account of an imaginary naval fight in South America. To most readers of that sketch, the expedient of stopping a projectile by turning upon it a converging fire of shot and shell seemed purely fictitious; yet this is precisely what the Hiyei is said to have done in at least one instance.

About the time when Admiral Ito left the Matsushima the disorder in the Chinese fleet plainly indicated that the contest could not be prolonged on their side. Three ships had been sunk and a fourth, the Yang Wei, had been half destroyed and abandoned. Besides the Ting Yuen two others were on fire, and the entire force was thoroughly demoralized. A little after 5 o'clock the flagship took the lead in retreat toward the home stations. Four fast-steaming Japanese cruisers were detailed to follow and if possible to cut off their escape. But the torpedoes had to be reckoned with, and the possibility of being struck by one of them in the night made it imperative that the Japanese should exercise caution. Morning found them at the mouth of the Gulf of Pechili, with no ship of the enemy in sight.

They steamed back to Kaiyoto island, keeping a keen lookout on the way, but the Chinese had evidently reached a safe place of refuge. The greater part of the Japanese squadron had reconvened near Taikosan harbor, on the chance of getting another fight, bringing this time some torpedo boats to co-operate. The need of them was so greatly felt on the previous day that it is safe to say no large body of Japanese ships will ever again sail without these essential adjuncts. One of them was now put to a practical if somewhat inglorious use in breaking up the Yang Wei, deserted and unfit for further service.

Examination shows that none of the Japanese vessels received damages that cannot be repaired with slight cost or labor. All but the four referred to were so free from injury that they could have gone into action afresh the following day.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE.

An extraordinary session of Parliament has been called by the Emperor to meet at Hiroshima, October 15th, and to last seven days. The summons states that the co-operation of the National Representatives and their consent to the war expenditures are recognized as necessary by the Sovereign. No other subject but war supplies is to occupy the attention of the Diet. As no large building is available in Hiroshima, it is proposed that the meetings be held in a huge tent.

The Prime Minister and Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs, Finance and Justice are in attendance upon the Emperor at Hiroshima, but Government business continues to be conducted at Tokio.

The Empress, always active in movements of mercy and charity, has called the ladies of the court to assist her, as patroness of the Red Cross Association, in collecting hospital supplies and preparing lint, bandages, etc., for the needs of the wounded in Corea. By her Majesty's express desire all articles has provided and sent from the Palace are to be used for Japanese, Chinese and Coreans alike. In a similar spirit a notification has been issued by the Minister of War calling attention to the principles of the Geneva convention, to which Japan became a party in 1886, and admonishing the army that "However cruel and vindictive the enemy may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rules of civilization; his disabled succored, and his captured kindly and considerately protected." Also that "gentle treatment is due to those who offer no resistance to our arms," and that even the body of a dead foe should receive respect." Although China has not subscribed to the convention, and her soldiers may therefore behave inhumanly, no Japanese must retaliate but "bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their August sovereign, and display charity as well as courage."

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Warnings of punishment in store for Li Hung Chang in consequence of the repeated defeats suffered by the Chinese Army and Navy, had several times been sent forth from Pekin, but the foreign public has been slow to credit the possibility of so ill advised a proceeding.

That the rules of a system which condemns every official to disgrace in the event of failure in his enterprises, should be applied to the chief subject of the enterprise, or that the Imperial authority could be so injudiciously exercised as to fasten ignominy upon a statesman and soldier to whom the reigning house owes all the power it possesses, seemed too great a departure from propriety for the court to sanction. But the wrath of the Emperor has been kindled, and his displeasure manifests itself in a decree proclaimed on the 17th of September, and published in Shanghai the next day, the full text of which is as follows:

"The Wojen, having broken faith with Corea and forcibly occupied that country, the throne sympathized with its tributary kingdom in her distress and so raised an army to attack the common enemy. Upon Li Hung Chang, Imperial High Commissioner of the Peiyang, having chief control of the forces there, rested the entire burden of being prepared for emergencies, but instead, he has been unable to act with speed and promptness in his military preparations, so that much time has elapsed without any important results. He has indeed failed in the trust reposed in him by us. We therefore command that his decoration of the three-eyed peacock feather be plucked off from his hat, and that he be stripped of the yellow riding jacket as a slight punishment. It is necessary then that the said Imperial High Commissioner exert himself to the utmost and decide upon what should be done; but be direct and hasten the various armies from the various provinces to the front, in order that all may put forth their best strength to chase and root out the enemy. In this way Li Hung Chang may hope to redeem his former errors."

A Military Ball.

Troop A, First Cavalry, National Guards of California, will give a ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday night. It will be a full-dress affair, both as regards guests and members of the company. The captain, John Brunson, is a resident of Oakland. The troop was stationed in this city during the late railroad strike, and many of the members made a favorable impression upon citizens with whom they came in contact.

A DESPERATE BURGLARY.

But it Yields the Thieves Very Little Plunder.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—At North Dover last night, four masked men battered down the office door of the C. M. Ovlatt Manufacturing Company, after the night watchman had refused them admission, then bound and gagged the watchman, drilled the safe and blew it open with dynamite. They did not obtain much money.

CHOKED HER PA.

A Death That Looks Much Like a Murder.

Officials Intend to Investigate the Affair.

A Feeble Old Man Brutally Beaten by His Daughter.

CHICAGO, October 22.—David Higgins, a bricklayer, aged 51 years, living at 178 Sangamon street, was found dead in his room last night.

The circumstances surrounding his death are so suspicious that his son-in-law, Richard Stapleton, and his daughter Minnie are being held by the Desplaines street police to await for a coroner's inquest.

The police say that Stapleton made this statement when arrested:

"My wife and her father have been drunk for several days. Saturday morning they had a row, in which Minnie choked her pa. After she let him go he threw himself on the cot and complained of feeling sick. We went away, and when we returned last night found him dead."

This story of Stapleton's does not coincide with that told by Emil Strong, who owns the house in which Higgins died.

Strong averred that no penalty of the law was severe enough to punish Mrs. Stapleton, and that her husband was included in the same category. Strong said:

"Five weeks ago old man Higgins rented a room of me. A week ago Richard Stapleton and his wife came to occupy the same room with Higgins, the woman being the old man's daughter. She's everything a woman should not be; her husband is no better a man. That morning about 1 o'clock I heard Higgins out in the hall. I took him into my room and made a bed for him on the sofa. He said he was afraid Stapleton would kill him, and that his daughter choked him so he could not sleep. The next day I turned the Stapletons out. They returned shortly after, and have since abused the old man shamefully."

Strong stated that the woman and Stapleton were accustomed to beat and choke the old man cruelly, and the dead man's face being almost unrecognizable from discoloration when found lends color to the belief that he was murdered by the couple.

BURNT ALIVE.

Four Children Perish in a Blazing House.

The Fire Broke Out While They Were Asleep.

Midnight Catastrophe at an Honored Man's Home.

NYACK, N. Y., October 22.—The four grandchildren of Rev. William Taylor, the Methodist missionary bishop of Africa, perished in the burning of the elegant house of their father, Ross Taylor of South Nyack, early today.

In addition, one man was so badly burned that he can scarcely recover and two others are seriously injured.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when Mrs. Taylor was awakened by the smoke.

She aroused her husband, the Rev. Ross Taylor.

He found the halls filled with smoke, the fire having obtained great headway.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor groped through the suffocating smoke to the open air, without having been able to extend a helping hand to their six children or others of the household.

As Mr. and Mrs. Taylor emerged the fire department arrived.

The energies of all were directed toward the rescue of those who remained in the doomed structure.

The two eldest Taylor children, Stewart and William, were aroused, and jumping from the window, were caught without being seriously injured.

Harriet aged 11, Ada aged 9, Arthur aged 7, Schultz 5, perished.

Their bodies were recovered three hours later.

Miobael Mulady, a laborer, and Edward Link and William Ruth, house decorators, sleeping in the third story, jumped for their lives.

Mulady was fatally hurt. Ruth and Link sustained serious injuries, but will probably recover.

The house had been recently built and the interior decorations were still incomplete.

FIXING UP.

Supervisors Are Preparing for the Election.

Arrangements Being Made for Ballot Boxes.

Application for More Tellers in the Seventh Ward.

The Supervisors met this morning. Owing to the absence of Supervisor Morgan the chair was occupied by Mr. Bailey. All the other members of the board were in attendance.

Mrs. Frederick made application for relief for Miss M. Lynch, an invalid at 663 Tenth street, who has recently undergone a dangerous surgical operation. The matter was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

B. T. Weir asked for relief for P. Boccacio, who resides on Myrtle street, below Third. The request was granted and Boccacio was allowed to go to the Infirmary.

Mrs. Mary Erickson, residing at 1571 Fifth, with two children, asked for temporary relief, and the request was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The request of Annie Willet of 837 Washington street for relief was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

Albert Dijore, aged 24 years, residing on Second street, between Broadway and Franklin street, said he did not want to go the infirmary, but desired to receive some food. His case was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

H. F. Hankins, aged 58 years, a native of Illinois, residing at 1769 Goss street, also asked for relief, and the case was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

THE SUNOL ROAD.

C. M. Day, J. Wellbyie and G. W. Nusbaumer, viewers of the proposed widening of the county road between Sunol and Pleasanton, reported that the proposed widening is a public necessity. The cost of the improvement would be about $800, $355 50 of which would be paid for land to Charles Felton and Charles Hadsell. A resolution was adopted transferring $355 50 from the General Road District fund to the Road Damage fund, for the payment of Messrs. Hadsell and Felton.

County Surveyor Nusbaumer filed a map showing the obstructing fence on Fruit Vale avenue complained of by W. G. Henshaw and others. The question of removing the obstruction was referred to Supervisor Martin.

Mrs. Ella Sleeper of 779 Twelfth street, said her husband is sick and she is unable to support her three children. The application was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

Dr. Stratton recommended that a cross be allowed Mrs. M. Jesus and the matter was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The Oakland Paving Company made another demand for the refunding of the duplicate poll tax, which had been collected from a number of their men. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. J. C. Plunkett expressing appreciation for the tribute paid by the Supervisors to the memory of her husband, the late Supervisor J. C. Plunkett. The letter was called forth by the receipt by Mrs. Plunkett of a beautifully engrossed memorial card, setting forth the good qualities of the late Supervisor, and signed by all the members who served with him on the board. Mrs. Plunkett's note was ordered spread upon the minutes of the board.

CREDITS FOR PRISONERS.

On request, William Adams, in jail for battery, and L. E. Farney, imprisoned for petty larceny, were granted credits for good behavior while under sentence.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted to H. E. Ey, Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; John Tierney, Broadway and Columbia avenue; and P. Carrosso, Clifton street and Claremont avenue.

Applications for liquor licenses were referred to the Judiciary Committee as follows: J. Webb, Forty-first street and San Pablo avenue; Simon Coste, Mission San Jose; Julius Wildermuth, Newark; and I. V. Rolph, Alvarado.

On motion of Supervisor Johnston, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a concrete culvert at College avenue and Vernon street. The bids will be opened November 5th.

On motion of Supervisor Martin, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, plans and specifications for a concrete culvert at the head of Fruit Vale avenue. These bids will also be opened November 5th.

The clerk was instructed to furnish Justice Larue with a docket.

A certified copy of the finding of the Superior Court in the suit of E. L. Lawrence, Constable, vs. Alameda county was read. It showed that Lawrence had secured judgment as fees and costs amounting to $313 70. Filed.

ELECTION TELLERS.

Thomas Jeffress wanted to know whether or not the Supervisors could allow additional tellers to be appointed at the election on the 6th of next month in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward. He said that, under the law, it is contemplated that a voting precinct shall not contain more than 200 voters. The Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward he said, at the last election polled 625 votes and required three days and two nights for the Election Board to count them. This year he claimed there would be at least 700 votes polled in that precinct and it would require at least four days and nights to count them. No election board, he thought, could stand the work. In San Francisco, he said, the inspectors of election have the power to appoint two additional tellers to aid in the canvass of the vote, and if additional tellers were appointed here it would enable the canvass of the vote to be carried out with a great deal of dispatch.

Supervisor Johnston said that if tellers should be appointed in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward they would also have to be appointed in the Third precinct in Berkeley, where about the same number of voters are to be accommodated as are in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward.

The question raised by Mr. Jeffress was referred to the District Attorney.

BALLOT BOXES NEEDED.

Supervisor Pelouze notified the board that there is a shortage in ballot boxes and that in Mr. Bailey's district only eight out of fifteen boxes required could be located. He claimed that they had not been returned after the last election. The clerk was notified to ascertain where ballot boxes could be made according to the plan now in use.

Mrs. D. Ferguson, who resides in the little shack on Twelfth street, near Lake Merritt, asked for groceries. This is the little woman who, about a year ago, claimed that she had been beaten, bound and robbed in her house while her husband was absent for a few moments. The request was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

A resolution was adopted directing the County Treasurer to pay to the clerk of the Superior Court, for R. T. Pope, the sum of $1 as damages in the matter of opening a road in Murray township.

CHASING THE COOK.

No More Deaths Yet From the Colusa Poisoning.

COLUSA, Cal., October 22. — Twenty-two inmates of the County Hospital were poisoned yesterday morning by strychnine in their coffee.

One man died.

No further deaths have resulted from the poisoning of the inmates of the County Hospital.

Mrs. Ingram, the wife of the superintendent, is still very sick, but will recover.

The accepted theory is that the discharged Chinese cook, who had trouble with the steward, entered the hospital during the night and put strychnine in a can of ground coffee.

There are no arrests as yet.

MARCHED AWAY.

The Industrials Start Out for San Leandro.

Santa Clara's Sheriff Will Head Them Off.

A Would-Be Recruit Is Subjected to a Bad Beating.

Thirty enthusiastic Industrials will camp at San Leandro tonight. They are the pick of the Eighth street army, and as stated in the TRIBUNE several days ago, they say they will march to San Jose despite the Sheriff of Santa Clara and all his hosts.

Shortly after lunch today the wealers emerged from their tent and, forming in military order, marched eastward to —possibly Santa Clara jail. They expect to return in a few days and will possibly make another excursion into the country before the election.

Yesterday "General" Kelley was seized with a fit of morality. Some of his privates did not please his sense of the proper, so they were fired. One of the men ejected proposes to make things lively for the leaders. His name is Martin and he is one of "General" Frye's last year's crop of Indiana vials. Yesterday morning he came over from San Francisco to join Kelley's wealers.

He immediately proceeded to the tent but met with a chilly reception. He claims that Kelley gave orders to kill the intruder unless he left at once.

Very naturally the would-be recruit vanished in a hurry. After thinking the matter over he concluded to return and take his chances. Now he wishes he hadn't.

A miscellaneous crowd of officers and privates jumped the persistent visitor and gave him a severe trouncing. In fact, before he made his escape he was badly used up. He complained to the police, and was told to swear to a complaint. Thus far he has failed to do so.

The wealers deny Martin's story, but the cuts and bruises on the injured man's head and face are pretty strong evidence in his favor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., October 20.—The Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston train, bearing excursionists to the Republican meeting at Charleroi, was wrecked at Tippecanoe.

The front truck of the third car dropped and three cars jumped the track.

The passengers jumped wildly from the train.

John Thomas Green, colored, of Uniontown, had his leg broken.

Evans Lynn of Uniontown had some bones broken.

Benjamin Kettering of Greensburg had an ankle broken.

None of them were fatally injured.

DIRECTUM WITHDRAWS.

The Great Horse Has Probably Broken Down.

BOSTON, Mass., October 20. — Alix has won the first heat in the race with Directum by three lengths. Time, 2:09.

In the second heat Alix won handily by four lengths. Time, 2:14¾.

The race ended with the second heat, when Directum was withdrawn. He is under the care of a veterinary surgeon.

Alix may be sent on an exhibition mile.

The judges announced that Alix would trot an exhibition mile with a running mate and that the purse of $11,000 would be given to the mare.

Alix trotted the exhibition mile in 2:07¾.

Fag End of the Ragged Brigade.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The so-called Coxey Army paraded, consisting of only eight ragged men with a wagon, and went through Wall street today. Carl Browne, who was the leader, was arrested.

A Gospel Mission.

Special services will be held in the Gospel Mission, 418 Eighth street, led by the converted Jew Evangelist Harry May. Services commence Tuesday at 1:30 P.M.

NEWS BY STEAMER.

Disastrous to Chinese Ships and British Interference.

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — (Per steamer City of Peking to Honolulu, and steamer Australia to San Francisco, October 20.) There is still great rejoicing here over the Japanese land victory at Pyong-Yang and the naval victory off Yalu river.

Shanghai newspapers report as an undisputed fact that the news has been received of the mutiny of 6000 Chinese troops near the border of Corea and their flat refusal to march in the direction ordered by their officers.

The Chean, a Chinese transport, was wrecked early in September, while carrying a thousand troops from Ching Kiang to Formosa, and two hundred were drowned.

The surviving soldiers murdered the captain and crew on reaching shore, in revenge for the mismanagement of the ship.

Although the Japanese Government refuses to disclose any damaging facts concerning British Admiral Freemantle his actions are beginning to be freely criticized throughout Japan, even by British residents. After the engagement at A[illegible], n[illegible]ly the crew of the Chinese man-of-war, Kwang Yi, abandoned their ship and took refuge on Ca[illegible]n island.

It has been discovered that Admiral Freemantle sent one of his vessels for them and caused them to be taken back to China after exacting from them their promise that they would not again serve against Japan. So far as known, the Government at Tokio has made no complaint of this breach of neutrality.

J. R. Talcott Takes a Stand.

An Interesting Meeting at Fruit Vale.

Republican Gatherings All Over the County.

Wind-Up Work Is Being Done by the Office Seekers.

The Republicans of Fruit Vale held a big meeting at Blake's Hall Saturday night. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Valentine G. Hush acted as chairman. During the evening speeches were made by A. L. Frick, E. C. Hart, Judge Post and J. R. Talcott.

Mr. Talcott is a candidate for Supervisor, and much interest was taken in his speech. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been asked in an open letter received October 7, 1894, signed by ten prominent citizens, to tell the people of Fruit Vale my views upon town incorporation, and also to pledge myself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section (in the event of my election as Supervisor), and, that you may understand fully my position in this matter, I will ask your indulgence while I read from this letter the two questions submitted:

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it be backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

Second.—Funding such town incorporation, will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section?

Recognizing the high standing and general reputation for fairness of the signers of this letter, I read carefully the questions asked, and became satisfied that I could not give (as demanded) a "definite and unqualified" answer to the first question in its present form. (One of the reasons being that they did not outline the proposed boundaries of their scheme.) You will remember that during the past year, no less than three distinct schemes, for a town of the sixth class, have been put forward in Fruit Vale, the petitions, for each, published for weeks in the local paper, and no two having the same boundary lines.

Not wishing to delay matters by returning the letter to the writers for revision I, on October 8th, addressed to each signer the following letter:

"In reply to the open letter of yourself and friends, will say that I desire to meet all of you gentlemen together before giving the required answer to the public. I would be pleased to invite another ten men of equally good standing, thoroughly representative residents of Fruit Vale Road district to meet with us.

"I feel that you have opened the way to a more complete understanding of each other's views, and, while we may differ in some minor details, am fully satisfied that the common interest of us all is in the same direction and that we may not be so far apart when we consider the matter, without prejudice, together.

"Hoping this will meet the views of you all, and that you will allow me to name some central place of meeting, and as soon as consistent with other appointments now made. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "J. R. TALCOTT."

Imagine my surprise when before breakfast the following morning, October 9th, I read in a leading Democratic organ the report of an interview with one of the signers of the open letter. The only answer, other than this, which I have received direct from any of these gentlemen, I now hold in my hand. It is under date of October 10th, and is as follows:

"J. R. Talcott, Esq., Fruit Vale. DEAR SIR:—Your note of October 8th in reply to ours of a previous date is at hand. With regards to meeting ten other gentlemen and yourself, 'at a time consistent with your other appointments' to discuss the questions propounded to you in our letter, is, to say the least, very indefinite, and, as it seems to us, entirely unnecessary. The questions are plain, simple and easily understood, and should not require a conference with twenty gentlemen before answering.

"You must long since have made up your mind upon the questions asked, otherwise you are not a fit person for our Supervisor.

"Our object in asking them was to learn positively your views upon these important questions, and to learn how you will act regarding them if elected, not to discuss them with you, and ten of your friends. The time for discussion is past, we want to know where you stand.

"A general complaint made against you is that it is next to impossible to get a direct answer from you on any public question, and the tenor of your letter seems to confirm this.

"We again ask for replies to our questions, and however brief your answers may be we hope they will be definite, without qualification, and not needing further explanation, so that we can govern ourselves accordingly. Respectfully,

"JOHN LLOYD,

"For self and on behalf of other signers of letter, etc."

Before answering this communication I learned upon good authority that although this letter appeared to be a second letter from the same gentleman who signed the first one, as a matter of fact it was not so. Consequently my answer was intended to be very plain. I give it in full:

"FRUIT VALE, October 14, 1894.

"To John Lloyd, Fruit Vale—DEAR SIR: Your letter to me of October 10th, signed by yourself, and on behalf of other signers of a communication to me, under date of October 1, 1894, is impertinent in tone, and I address you personally because I am creditably informed that some of the signers of the above referred to your communication of October 1, 1894, claim that your letter to me of October 10th was written and signed by you without their knowledge or authority. The letter and communication above referred to demand of me a written pledge, which you, as a lawyer, should know would be illegal for me to give under the election laws of this State. I deny the right of any man, or set of men, to require written or other pledges from me as a candidate, touching questions that may come before the Board of Supervisors in their official capacity. Upon the receipt of the communication of October 1st, heretofore referred to, which I received on October 7th, believing that it would be illegal for me to give the written pledge demanded, and being desirous that the signers of that communication should have a complete understanding as to my position on those questions, I addressed to each of them on October 8, 1894, a letter requesting them to meet me for that purpose, which you, in your letter of October 10th, say is 'entirely unnecessary,' as 'the time for discussion is passed.' In this we differ—and while I have refrained for the reason heretofore stated, from pledging myself, in the manner demanded, it is my intention to clearly define my position at a public meeting, to be held at Fruit Vale at an early date, of which due notice will be given.

"Respectfully yours,

"J. R. TALCOTT."

And I will state that each one of the gentlemen signing that letter received a written invitation to be here tonight.

And now fellow-citizens, agreeable to my promise, I am before you tonight to answer as well as I can the questions in their present form.

"First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it is backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

My Friends: I desire to be entirely frank with you. Should the scheme referred to in this question be originated in the same manner as the one taken before the Board of Supervisors this present session, that is, without consulting any person upon the outskirts of the town, and should its projectors proceed to carry it out in the same manner and upon the same lines, I have as yet, as a citizen, seen no reason to materially change my opinion of its merits. On the other hand, if at any time it appears that a considerable number of the best citizens of Fruit Vale desire incorporation into a sixth class town, and go about it in a business way, with committees of representative residents and tax payers from each section of the proposed town, all meeting together for the common good, and if they should under such circumstances decide to go ahead, I have no idea but that self interest alone would compel me to join with them, even though my judgment should be wavering.

I believe that this section of country has a bright future before it and I think that when you stop to consider the matter that you will see that my every interest is in line with anything that will benefit this whole community. Local pride makes many of you zealous in protecting the interests of Fruit Vale avenue. This is as it should be. Others are equally interested for San Leandro road. Others still would like something done on Sherman street and the Redwood road, and so on through all sections of this road district.

No; I shall not oppose incorporation when you take all parties in interest into your councils and I find that the majority are in favor of it.

In answer to the second question, which is: "Pending such town incorporation will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund contributed by the section are used for the improvement of this section?' will say that if by "this section" Fruit Vale Road District is meant I can answer it easily, for if elected to the office of Supervisor I am determined to have the road taxes, so far as I have the power, expended in the district where collected, and shall use my best endeavors to have the road funds honestly expended and fairly distributed in all sections of each and every road district and to, so far as possible consistent with economy, distribute the work of each road district among its own citizens. Of course everyone acknowledges the necessity of giving more attention to the main thoroughfares, but all county roads must come in for a share.

It may be of interest to you to know that I deem it essential to have in each road district some competent person to look after its wants in detail. If ever there was economy needed in the administration of the county business it is in times like the present and you can depend upon it that I fully appreciate this fact.

Many of us are going to the Tax Collector's rooms this year with heavy hearts caused by nearly empty purses.—Not a pleasant task in good times, it becomes a burden now. If elected, I shall surely help what I can to make the burden lighter until such times as we can afford to be generous. I expect to give all the time necessary to the work, and good counsel from public-spirited citizens will always be acceptable. I hope I have made plain my views on two questions asked.

Before closing I desire to say to my friend, Mr. Lloyd, that the position taken by me in my letter to him of October 14, 1894, (refusing his demand for written pledges) I am informed has been declared to be sound law by leading judges on both the San Francisco and Alameda county benches, and also by eminent attorneys who practice before them; and I think on further consideration he will so see it. Of one thing further I wish to say a word. I don't know as it is good judgment to do so, for many reasons; but I have heard so often during this campaign that "if so and so was not working for you, my neighbors would support you to a man." I ask, "Why does that make any difference? Is not so and so a man of judgment, a good business man, a worthy citizen and one who has contributed more than either of us to the good of the county?" I am told "Yes, but you know he is getting more than his share of the county business now and my neighbors, who don't know you, think he is working for you because he expects to control you in the board."

"I have known Mr. So and So many years, not very intimately, 'tis true, but I think I know him well enough to know that he would be almost the last man to ask of me to violate my oath as a Supervisor, and that is more than I can say of some of his enemies. I wish to tell you in all candor that I have made no promises, and shall make none, being determined, if elected, to do the business of the county with the same care and attention to detail that I have done my own business in the years I have been in your midst. I have made many mistakes in my own business, and no doubt would make others were I made Supervisor, and were it lawful I could not, and neither could you afford to have me pledged to him or even against him.

One thing more and I have done. It is not perhaps in good taste to criticise in any way the work of former or present Boards of Supervisors, and it is not a part of my policy to do so. I am willing, however, to go on record, notwithstanding the violent opposition of some of the gentlemen who live in the vicinity, against the system which has been pursued in robbing the creek bed on Fruit Vale avenue, for the sake of obtaining material which is, of itself, of doubtful value when placed upon any of the main thoroughfares. It is high time this practice was stopped, and material of better quality procured. This is in accord with my best judgment, many times publicly expressed in years gone by, and presented now without solicitation by or suggestion from any person.

I thank you for your kind attention, and ask you if you are satisfied with the explanation of my position, to assist in the selection of a Fruit Vale representative in the Board of Supervisors on the 6th of next November.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fatal Collision on the Hudson.

NEW YORK, October 20.—In a dense fog that hung over the river and harbor today the tugboat F. A. Kirkham was sunk off the Battery by a collision with Jersey Central Railroad Company's ferryboat Mauch Chunk. One man was drowned. The Mauch Chunk fished out another of the crew and a third was saved by a passing tug.

Details of the Great Naval Battle.

The Emperor's Insult to Li Hung Chang.

He Still Has a Few Chances Left to Redeem Himself.

Special Correspondence of the Associated Press (per steamers China and Australia.)

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — Long before the rejoicing over the capture of Phyong Yang had begun to subside Japan was excited to fresh enthusiasm by the news of a naval victory of even greater significance, in the northeastern inlet of the Yellow sea. On the 16th of September Admiral Ito, commanding the squadron stationed at the mouth of the Taitong, or Daido river, was notified that a large Chinese fleet had arrived at the Yalu river, in charge of transports conveying reinforcements to the army on the frontier.

He set sail the following morning with all the men-of-war that could be immediately summoned, namely: The Matsushima, flagship; Hashidate, Itsukushima, Yoshino, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Naniwa, Chiyoda, Fuso, Akagi and Hiyei. Accompanying these eleven was the Saikio, a merchant steamer taken into the national service since the war began, of no strength and not intended for heavy work in action. She would not have joined the expedition but for the desire of Admiral Viscount Kabayama, the naval chief of the staff, who, being on a visit of inspection at the north, could not resist the temptation to witness the expected engagement. Between 12 and 1 o'clock fourteen Chinese ships and six torpedo boats were discovered a little south of a harbor called Talkosan in Japanese pronunciation and east of Kaiyoto island.

The ships were the Ting Yuen, flag; Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Ching Yuen, Cath Yuen, Ping Yuen, Chao Yuen, Yang Wei, Kwang-Kak, Wai Yuen, Kwang Ping and two others whose names are still unknown. Of these the first two carried Krupp guns of thirty centimetre and fifteen centimetre. The next four carried twenty-one centimetre and fifteen centimetre Krupps and the next two had twenty-five ton Armstrongs.

Contrary to anticipation they advanced unhesitatingly and commenced to fire when four thousand metres distant from the Japanese, who reserved their first discharge until another thousand metres had been covered. The serious fighting began between the vessels of the China right and the Japanese left, the flagships on either side leading the onset. By 1 o'clock the contest was general. Both lines maintained their position steadily for an hour, when the Chinese showed signs of wavering. Three of their ships, either by accident or design, had for some time been made special objects of attack, and though they contended vigorously to the last, they were sunk one after another, the crews climbing into the rigging as each descended and signaling wildly for help to both their companions and assailants. They were the Lai Yuen, Chih Yuen and Chao Yuen.

As soon as they were disposed of the foremost Japanese ships directed their assault against the immense German-built vessels at the head of the Chinese column, but for a long time without effect upon the heavy steel plating which protected them.

At last, however, a lucky shell struck the Ting Yuen a little above the water, and seemed to the Japanese observers to pierce the armor through and through. Their belief that this feat had been achieved was increased when a thick body of smoke was seen rising from the flagship, and although no diminution of activity on board was perceptible, they were convinced that she had been set on fire and remained burning up to the hour of her hasty departure.

Whatever her condition, she succeeded in inflicting heavy punishment upon her chief adversary. The Matsushima was struck by two twelve-inch shells, the first of which upset and battered out of shape one of her large guns, while the second exploded an amunition box, dealing dreadful havoc among the crew, and starting a fire which was subdued only with great difficulty.

In consequence of these mishaps, the Matsushima withdrew from the scene and moved toward the Taitong, Admiral Ito transferring his flag to the Hashidate.

Meanwhile, three other Japanese vessels had undergone extremely rough treatment. The Saikio, which Viscount Kabayama persisted in keeping in the thick of the fight, notwithstanding her obvious unsuitability for such duty, lost control of her rudder, and found herself in much closer proximity than was desirable to the Ting Yuen and Chen Yuen. As she could not avoid them, she made directly for them, misleading them, it is supposed, into the belief that she was about to ram them. The Japanese are of the opinion that it was under this illusion that the two huge ships separated, allowing the Saikio a passage of about forty fathoms wide, through which to escape.

Torpedoes were discharged at her as she went by, but without avail. The Hiyei having been unable, by means of her slowness, to keep pace with the rest of the fleet, became a conspicuous object to the Chinese, and was so deluged with missiles that she was set on fire before the afternoon was half over. Her small crew was greatly reduced, and as the surgeon was among the wounded the sufferers could not be properly cared for. When she had lost twenty killed and thirty-four wounded she fell out of line and turned toward the Taitong.

But meeting a transport on the way, she obtained assistance in quenching the flames, handed over the wounded, and returned with all the speed she could make, not waiting for a doctor, to take up her work where she had left off. In this hope she was disappointed, for the enemy had flown, and the battle was over. It is recorded that when steaming away in flames she was thrice in great danger from torpedoes, but skillfully escaped by employing a device described in a recent magazine account of an imaginary naval fight in South America. To most readers of that sketch, the expedient of stopping a projectile by turning upon it a converging broadside shot and shell seemed purely fictitious yet this is precisely what the Hiyei is said to have done in at least one instance.

About the time when Admiral Ito left the Matsushima the disorder in the Chinese fleet plainly indicated that the contest could not be prolonged on their side. Three ships had been sunk and a fourth, the Yang Wei, had been half destroyed and abandoned. Besides the Ting Yuen two others were on fire, and the entire force was thoroughly demoralized. A little after 5 o'clock the flagship took the lead in retreat toward the home stations. Four fast-steaming Japanese cruisers were detailed to follow and if possible to cut off their escape. But the torpedoes had to be reckoned with, and the possibility of being struck by one of them in the night made it imperative that the Japanese should exercise caution. Morning found them at the mouth of the Gulf of Pechili, with no ship of the enemy in sight.

They steamed back to Kaiyoto island, keeping a keen lookout on the way, but the Chinese had evidently reached a safe place of refuge. The greater part of the Japanese squadron had reconvened near Talkosan harbor, on the chance of getting another fight, bringing this time some torpedo boats to co-operate. The need of them was so greatly felt on the previous day that it is safe to say no large body of Japanese ships will ever again sail without these essential adjuncts. One of them was now put to a practical if somewhat inglorious use in breaking up the Yang Wei, deserted and unfit for further service.

Examination shows that none of the Japanese vessels received damages that cannot be repaired with slight cost or labor. All but the four referred to were so free from injury that they could have gone into action afresh the following day.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE.

An extraordinary session of Parliament has been called by the Emperor to meet at Hiroshima, October 15th, and to last seven days. The summons states that the co-operation of the National Representatives and their consent to the war expenditures are recognized as necessary by the Sovereign. No other subject but war supplies is to occupy the attention of the Diet. As no large building is available in Hiroshima, it is proposed that the meetings be held in a huge tent.

The Prime Minister and Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs, Finance and Justice are in attendance upon the Emperor at Hiroshima, but Government business continues to be conducted at Tokio.

The Empress, always active in movements of mercy and charity, has called the ladies of the court to assist her, as patroness of the Red Cross Association, in collecting hospital supplies and preparing lint, bandages, etc., for the needs of the wounded in Corea. By her Majesty's express desire all articles thus provided and sent from the Palace are to be used for Japanese, Chinese and Coreans alike. In a similar spirit a notification has been issued by the Minister of War calling attention to the principles of the Geneva convention, to which Japan became a party in 1886, and admonishing the army that "However cruel and vindictive the enemy may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rules of civilization; his disabled succored, and his captured kindly and considerately protected." Also that "gentle treatment is due to those who offer no resistance to our arms," and that even the body of a dead foe should receive respect." Although China has not subscribed to the convention, and her soldiers may therefore behave inhumanly, no Japanese must retaliate but "bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their August sovereign, and display charity as well as courage."

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Warnings of punishment in store for Li Hung Chang in consequence of the repeated defeats suffered by the Chinese Army and Navy, had several times been sent forth from Pekin, but the foreign public has been slow to credit the possibility of so ill advised a proceeding.

That the rules of a system which condemns every official to disgrace in the event of failure in his enterprises, should be applied to the chief subject of the enterprise, or that the Imperial authority could be so injudiciously exercised as to fasten ignominy upon a statesman and soldier to whom the reigning house owes all the power it possesses, seemed too great a departure from propriety for the court to sanction. But the wrath of the Emperor has been kindled, and his displeasure manifests itself in a decree proclaimed on the 17th of September, and published in Shanghai the next day, the full text of which is as follows:

"The Wojen, having broken faith with Corea and forcibly occupied that country, the throne sympathized with its tributary kingdom in her distress and so raised an army to attack the common enemy. Upon Li Hung Chang, Imperial High Commissioner of the Peiyang, having chief control of the forces there, rested the entire burden of being prepared for emergencies, but instead, he has been unable to act with speed and promptness in his military preparations, so that much time has elapsed without any important results. He has indeed failed in the trust reposed in him by us. We therefore command that his decoration of the three-eyed peacock feather be plucked off from his hat, and that he be stripped of the yellow riding jacket as a slight punishment. It is necessary then that the said Imperial High Commissioner exert himself to the utmost and decide upon what should be done; that he direct and hasten the various armies from the various provinces to the front, in order that all may put forth their best strength to chase and root out the enemy. In this way Li Hung Chang may hope to redeem his former errors."

A Military Ball.

Troop A, First Cavalry, National Guards of California, will give a ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday night. It will be a full-dress affair, both as regards guests and members of the company. The captain, John Brunson, is a resident of Oakland. The troop was stationed in this city during the late railroad strike, and many of the members made a favorable impression upon citizens with whom they came in contact.

A DESPERATE BURGLARY.

But It Yields the Thieves Very Little Plunder.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—At North Dover last night, four masked men battered down the office door of the C. M. Oviatt Manufacturing Company, after the night watchman had refused them admission, then bound and gagged the watchman, drilled the safe and blew it open with dynamite. They did not obtain much money.

CHOKED HER PA.

A Death That Looks Much Like a Murder.

Officials Intend to Investigate the Affair.

A Feeble Old Man Brutally Beaten by His Daughter.

CHICAGO, October 22.—David Higgins, a bricklayer, aged 51 years, living at 178 Sangamon street, was found dead in his room last night.

The circumstances surrounding his death are so suspicious that his son-in-law, Richard Stapleton, and his daughter Minnie are being held by the Desplaines street police to await for a coroner's inquest.

The police say that Stapleton made this statement when arrested:

"My wife and her father have been drunk for several days. Saturday morning they had a row, in which Minnie choked her pa. After she let him go he threw himself on the cot and complained of feeling sick. We went away, and when we returned last night found him dead."

This story of Stapleton's does not coincide with that told by Emil Strong, who owns the house in which Higgins died.

Strong averred that no penalty of the law was severe enough to punish Mrs. Stapleton, and that her husband was included in the same category. Strong said:

"Five weeks ago old man Higgins rented a room of me. A week ago Richard Stapleton and his wife came to occupy the same room with Higgins, the woman being the old man's daughter. She's everything a woman should not be; her husband is no better a man. That morning about 1 o'clock I heard Higgins out in the hall. I took him into my room and made a bed for him on the sofa. He said he was afraid Stapleton would kill him, and that his daughter choked him so he could not sleep. The next day I turned the Stapletons out. They returned shortly after, and have since abused the old man shamefully."

Strong stated that the woman and Stapleton were accustomed to beat and choke the old man cruelly, and the dead man's face being almost unrecognizable from discoloration when found lends color to the belief that he was murdered by the couple.

BURNT ALIVE.

Four Children Perish in a Blazing House.

The Fire Broke Out While They Were Asleep.

Midnight Catastrophe at an Honored Man's Home.

NYACK, N. Y., October 22.—The four grandchildren of Rev. William Taylor, the Methodist missionary bishop of Africa, perished in the burning of the elegant house of their father, Ross Taylor of South Nyack, early today.

In addition, one man was so badly burned that he can scarcely recover and two others are seriously injured.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when Mrs. Taylor was awakened by the smoke.

She aroused her husband, the Rev. Ross Taylor.

He found the halls filled with smoke, the fire having obtained great headway.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor groped through the suffocating smoke to the open air, without having been able to extend a helping hand to their six children or others of the household.

As Mr. and Mrs. Taylor emerged the fire department arrived.

The energies of all were directed toward the rescue of those who remained in the doomed structure.

The two eldest Taylor children, Stewart and William, were aroused, and jumping from the window, were caught without being seriously injured.

Harriet aged 11, Ada aged 9, Arthur aged 7, Schults 5, perished.

Their bodies were recovered three hours later.

Michael Mulady, a laborer, and Edward Link and William Ruth, house decorators, sleeping in the third story, jumped for their lives.

Mulady was fatally hurt. Ruth and Link sustained serious injuries, but will probably recover.

The house had been recently built and the interior decorations were still incomplete.

FIXING UP.

Supervisors Are Preparing for the Election.

Arrangements Being Made for Ballot Boxes.

Application for More Tellers in the Seventh Ward.

The Supervisors met this morning. Owing to the absence of Supervisor Morgan the chair was occupied by Mr. Bailey. All the other members of the board were in attendance.

Mrs. Frederick made application for relief for Miss M. Lynch, an invalid at 663 Tenth street, who has recently undergone a dangerous surgical operation. The matter was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

B. T. Weir asked for relief for P. Boccacio, who resides on Myrtle street, below Third. The request was granted and Boccacio was allowed to go to the Infirmary.

Mrs. Mary Erickson, residing at 1571 Fifth, with two children, asked for temporary relief, and the request was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The request of Annie Willet of 807 Washington street for relief was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

Albert Dijore, aged 24 years, residing on Second street, between Broadway and Franklin street, said he did not want to go the infirmary, but desired to receive some food. His case was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

H. F. Hankins, aged 58 years, a native of Illinois, residing at 1760 Goss street, also asked for relief, and the case was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

THE SUNOL ROAD.

C. M. Day, J. Wellbye and G. W. Nusbaumer, viewers of the proposed widening of the county road between Sunol and Pleasanton, reported that the proposed widening is a public necessity. The cost of the improvement would be about $800, $358 50 of which would be paid for land to Charles Felton and Charles Hadsell. A resolution was adopted transferring $358 50 from the General Road District fund to the Road Damage fund, for the payment of Messrs. Hadsell and Felton.

County Surveyor Nusbaumer filed a map showing the obstructing fence on Fruit Vale avenue complained of by W. G. Heashaw and others. The question of removing the obstruction was referred to Supervisor Martin.

Mrs. Ella Sleeper of 770 Twelfth street, said her husband is sick and she is unable to support her three children. The application was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

Dr. Stratton recommended that a truss be allowed Mrs. M. Jesus and the matter was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The Oakland Paving Company made another demand for the refunding of the duplicate poll tax, which had been collected from a number of their men. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. J. C. Plunkett expressing appreciation for the tribute paid by the Supervisors to the memory of her husband, the late Supervisor J. C. Plunkett. The letter was called forth by the receipt by Mrs. Plunkett of a beautifully engrossed memorial card, setting forth the good qualities of the late Supervisor, and signed by all the members who served with him on the board. Mrs. Plunkett's note was ordered spread upon the minutes of the board.

CREDITS FOR PRISONERS.

On request, William Adams, in jail for battery, and L. E. Farney, imprisoned for petty larceny, were granted credits for good behavior while under sentence.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted to H. E. Ey, Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; John Tierney, Broadway and Columbia avenue; and P. Carrosse, Clifton street and Claremont avenue.

Applications for liquor licenses were referred to the Judiciary Committee as follows: J. Webb, Forty-first street and San Pablo avenue; Simon Coste, Mission San Jose; Julius Wildermuth, Newark; and I. V. Rolph, Alvarado.

On motion of Supervisor Johnston, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a concrete culvert at College avenue and Vernon street. The bids will be opened November 5th.

On motion of Supervisor Martin, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, plans and specifications for a concrete culvert at the head of Fruit Vale avenue. These bids will also be opened November 5th.

The clerk was instructed to furnish Justice Larue with a docket.

A certified copy of the finding of the Superior Court in the suit of E. L. Lawrence, Constable, vs. Alameda county was read. It showed that Lawrence had secured judgment as fees and costs amounting to $313 70. Filed.

ELECTION TELLERS.

Thomas Jeffress wanted to know whether or not the Supervisors could allow additional tellers to be appointed at the election on the 6th of next month in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward. He said that, under the law, it is contemplated that a voting precinct shall not contain more than 200 voters. The Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward he said, at the last election polled 625 votes and required three days and two nights for the Election Board to count them. This year he claimed there would be at least 700 votes polled in that precinct and it would require at least four days and nights to count them. No election board, he thought, could stand the work. In San Francisco, he said, the inspectors of election have the power to appoint two additional tellers to aid in the canvass of the vote, and if additional tellers were appointed here it would enable the canvass of the vote to be carried out with a great deal of dispatch.

Supervisor Johnston said that if tellers should be appointed in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward they would also have to be appointed in the Third precinct in Berkeley, where about the same number of voters are to be accommodated as are in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward.

The question raised by Mr. Jeffress was referred to the District Attorney.

BALLOT BOXES NEEDED.

Supervisor Pelouze notified the board that there is a shortage in ballot boxes and that in Mr. Bailey's district only eight out of fifteen boxes required could be located. He claimed that they had not been returned after the last election. The clerk was notified to ascertain where ballot boxes could be made according to the plan now in use.

Mrs. D. Ferguson, who resides in the little park on Twelfth street, near Lake Merritt, asked for groceries. This is the little woman who, about a year ago, claimed that she had been beaten, bound and robbed in her house while her husband was absent for a few moments. The request was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

A resolution was adopted directing the County Treasurer to pay to the clerk of the Superior Court, for R. T. Popo, the sum of $1 as damages in the matter of opening a road in Murray township.

CHASING THE COOK.

No More Deaths Yet From the Colusa Poisoning.

COLUSA, Cal., October 22. — Twenty-two inmates of the County Hospital were poisoned yesterday morning by strychnine in their coffee.

One man died.

No further deaths have resulted from the poisoning of the inmates of the County Hospital.

Mrs. Ingram, the wife of the superintendent, is still very sick, but will recover.

The accepted theory is that the discharged Chinese cook, who had trouble with the steward, entered the hospital during the night and put strychnine in a can of ground coffee.

There are no arrests as yet.

MARCHED AWAY.

The Industrials Start Out for San Leandro.

Santa Clara's Sheriff Will Head Them Off.

A Would-Be Recruit Is Subjected to a Bad Beating.

Thirty enthusiastic Industrials will camp at San Leandro tonight. They are the pick of the Eighth street army, and as stated in the TRIBUNE several days ago, they say they will march to San Jose despite the Sheriff of Santa Clara and all his hosts.

Shortly after lunch today the wealers emerged from their tent and, forming in military order, marched eastward to —possibly Santa Clara jail. They expect to return in a few days and will possibly make another excursion into the country before the election.

Yesterday "General" Kelley was seized with a fit of morality. Some of his privates did not please his sense of the proper, so they were fired. One of the men ejected proposes to make things lively for the leaders. His name is Martin and he is one of "General" Frye's last year's crop of Industrials. Yesterday morning he came over from San Francisco to join Kelley's warriors.

He immediately proceeded to the tent but met with a chilly reception. He claims that Kelley gave orders to kill the intruder unless he left at once.

Very naturally the would-be recruit vanished in a hurry. After thinking the matter over he concluded to return and take his chances. Now he wishes he hadn't.

A miscellaneous crowd of officers and privates jumped the persistent visitor and gave him a severe trouncing. In fact, before he made his escape he was badly used up. He complained to the police, and was told to swear to a complaint. Thus far he has failed to do so.

The wealers deny Martin's story, but the cuts and bruises on the injured man's head and face are pretty strong evidence in his favor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Republican Excursionists Injured at Tippecanoe.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., October 20.—The Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston train, bearing excursionists to the Republican meeting at Charleroi, was wrecked at Tippecanoe.

The front truck of the third car dropped and three cars jumped the track.

The passengers jumped wildly from the train.

John Thomas Green, colored, of Uniontown, had his leg broken.

Evans Lynn of Uniontown had some bones broken.

Benjamin Kettering of Greensburg had an ankle broken.

None of them were fatally injured.

DIRECTUM WITHDRAWS.

The Great Horse Has Probably Broken Down.

BOSTON, Mass., October 20. — Alix has won the first heat in the race with Directum by three lengths. Time, 2:09.

In the second heat Alix won handily by four lengths. Time, 2:14¾.

The race ended with the second heat, when Directum was withdrawn. He is under the care of a veterinary surgeon.

Alix may be sent on an exhibition mile.

The judges announced that Alix would trot an exhibition mile with a running mate and that the purse of $11,000 would be given to the mare.

Alix trotted the exhibition mile in 2:07¾.

Far End of the Ragged Brigade.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The so-called Coxey Army paraded, consisting of only eight ragged men with a wagon, and went through Wall street today. Carl Browne, who was the leader, was arrested.

A Gospel Mission.

Special services will be held in the Gospel Mission, 418 Eighth street, led by the converted Jew Evangelist Harry May. Services commence Tuesday at 1:30 P.M.

NEWS BY STEAMER.

Disastrous to Chinese Ships and British Interference.

YOKOHAMA September 30 — (Per steamer City of Peking to Honolulu, and steamer Australia to San Francisco, October 20.) There is still great rejoicing here over the Japanese land victory at Pyong Yang and the naval victory off Yalu river.

Shanghai newspapers report as an undisputed fact that the news has been received of the mutiny of 6000 Chinese troops near the border of Corea and their flat refusal to march in the direction ordered by their officers.

The Chean, a Chinese transport, was wrecked early in September, while carrying a thousand troops from Ching Kiang to Formosa, and two hundred were drowned.

The surviving soldiers murdered the captain and crew on reaching shore, in revenge for the mismanagement of the ship.

Although the Japanese Government refuses to disclose any damaging facts concerning British Admiral Freemantle, his actions are beginning to be freely criticized throughout Japan, even by British residents. After the engagement at Asan in July the crew of the Chinese man-of-war, Kwang Yi, abandoned their ship and took refuge on Co oan Island.

It has been discovered that Admiral Fremantle sent one of his vessels for the men, and caused them to be taken back to China after exacting from them the promise that they would not again serve against Japan. So far as known, the Government at Tokio has made no complaint of this breach of neutrality.

Not a new artist, but a new Gallery, to be opened by an old artist, who, for several years, was with W. W. Dames and is now the successor of E. D. Ormsby. Walter J. Smith is no stranger to us in the line of photography, and he has fitted up his parlors at 1055 Broadway in a most beautiful manner, having decorated, repainted and tinted the establishment in an up-to-date metropolitan style. On Saturday evening, Oct. 27th, Mr. Smith gives his initial opening to the public with a musical concert by the new orchestra under the leadership of Louis Homeier. It will be an evening of art and music both combined, and all are cordially invited to attend from 8 to 10 o'clock. MONDAY .... OCTOBER 22, 1894

SANTA CLARA COUNTY will give a rousing majority to W. R. Clark for Railroad Commissioner, for since the people have had a chance of getting acquainted with him they have learned that he is exactly the right man in the place.—San Jose Mercury.

That is exactly what ought to happen to Mayor Clark in Alameda County, also, and for the same reasons.

The Chicago Inter Ocean ironically puts this up as a ticket for 1896:

For President, George M. Pullman of Italy.

For Vice President, Andrew Carnegie of Scotland.

Platform: To hell with the workingman.

THE San Diego Union has opened its batteries on the "piece clubs," which have been organized in that city and are "actively engaged in soliciting cash contributions from candidates on the plea that if the money is forthcoming the members will cast a unit and help to elect the men who fee them." The Union says that they are not confining their efforts to any party, but address themselves to all. The Purity Election law aims at abolishing these political blackmailing organizations, and if candidates will only have the courage to comply with its requirements they will die a natural death.

THE Napa Register says Santa Cruz Republicans are talking as most Republicans talk here:

The county and the district tickets are of much more importance to the people this year than usual. The Republican county ticket when it comes to voting on it, constitutes to all intents and purposes, the foundation of the Republican State and Congressional tickets. Fealty to the one means fealty to all; the betrayal of one will carry a damaging influence on all others. The State and county tickets represent administrations of four years duration.

"Them's our sentiment's." They are our sentiments in more ways than one. THE TRIBUNE gave birth to the paragraph which the Santa Cruz Sentinel having no journalistic honor, appropriated without credit.

A COLONEL HENDERSON of Denver, Col., has begun to work the gold-bearing placers in the San Francisquita canyon, about sixty miles from Los Angeles. The presence of these gold-bearing deposits have been known for a long time. Over twenty years ago Colonel Peel prospected them pretty thoroughly, but was compelled to abandon them for the want of water. The gravel beds are rich in gold, but there is no water that can be brought to bear upon them within a radius of 100 miles, hence they are unprofitable to work. Peel and his associates were compelled to carry the pay dirt on mule back to the canyon below and cradle it with the slender stream dribbling through that gorge in the Coast range.

Log Rafting on the Pacific.

The loss of the big Astorian raft of logs which parted at sea shortly after crossing the Columbia river bar, en route to San Francisco, in tow of the tug Monarch, gives another setback to this method of lumber shipment. The raft was the property of the Southern Pacific Company. It was valued at $?0,000, and was insured for one-half the sum. A little over a year ago, the San Francisco Bridge Company made an effort to bring wharf piles and saw-logs down the coast the same way. They lost two mammoth rafts in the same way that the Astorian raft was lost last week. The last of these two rafts cost the Bridge Company $45,000, and swamped it. The company made an assignment soon after the news of the wreck of the raft reached here.

While the rafting of logs from one point to another is successfully conducted on the Eastern coast, only one company on this side has seemingly made any success of it, namely the Fort Bragg and Noyo River Lumber Company, a corporation in which General Alger of Michigan and some Oaklanders are largely interested. That company has safely towed down the coast a large number of rafts. The big profits in this method of transporting lumber is very tempting to millmen. It would seem reasonable to expect greater success with the business on the Pacific coast than they enjoy on the Atlantic coast, because of greater exemption from storms. Big rafts have gone adrift on the Atlantic side, and for months afterwards have menaced the commerce of that ocean, but the disasters have not been as serious or as frequent, as they have been here. Maybe our lumbermen are too eager to make a big thing in one shipment on the principle of "make or break," and as luck has gone against them, the latter experience has been their fate. It is also possible that the method of constructing the log rafts is defective, for once the big cigar-shaped structure leaves its cradle, the immense weight of its contents brings such a tremendous strain upon the chains binding it together that the dissolution of the cumbersome craft by the action of the waves is thus materially aided.

If rafting logs is to be made a success on this side of the continent, either some new method of raft construction will have to be adopted or else smaller rafts will have to be taken in tow.

The "Independent" in the Campaign.

It is at this juncture in the county campaign a noteworthy fact and affords food for reflection that what is left of the Democratic party here is a unit. The same, in a literal sense, is the state of affairs in the camp of the Democratic tender—the Populist party. Every Independent candidate, on the other hand, is a Republican, and if he remains in the field must injure the party with which he has hitherto affiliated. There is probably not a man in the field today as an independent candidate who has that deliberately in view. He probably thinks that his personal popularity, or some streak of good luck, will carry him safely through. But if he will take time to reflect one moment on the situation he cannot fail to realize his error. He failed at the primary, he lost in the convention. The party nominee is sure to receive the bulk of the party votes, as he is fairly entitled to them all. Where then can the "independent" derive enough votes to elect him? The Democrats were never known to vote for a Republican. They are not going to do it this year, even though that Republican classes himself as an "independent." They will stand by the Democratic candidate—that is, so many of them that have not joined the Populistic tender. The greatest danger to the Republican county ticket lies therefore within the ranks of Republicans. If any Republican gives his vote to an "independent" candidate, he must know that in so doing he is weakening his own party ticket and putting the party in jeopardy. His intentions may not be that way, but it will be the logical effect.

If any Republican, therefore, fails to read between the lines of the situation as affected by the independent element in the current campaign then he must be a dullard indeed. The remedy is a simple and safe one—it is this: If the "independent" candidate declines to voluntarily withdraw from the field, but persists in remaining in it and getting his name on the ballot, then every Republican when he comes to vote should, in stamping his ballot, avoid the name of the "independent" as he would the plague.

ACCORDING to the published Japanese account of the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river, Admiral Ito, in command of his Japanese fleet, attempted to execute the same maneuver that Nelson successfully executed at Trafalgar. The Chinese fleet was approaching in double column, and Admiral Ito at once altered the course of his ships so as to pass down the line between the two columns. The Chinese Admiral, Tin Joo Joshe realized his danger as soon as he saw the Japanese fleet bearing down upon him in single column, and he hurriedly changed his line of battle, thus avoiding a repetition of the story of Trafalgar. Had Admiral Ito succeeded in entering the lane between the two columns of the Chinese fleet he would have divided it as Nelson divided the French fleet, and he would have been in a position to work his guns on both sides of his ships at short range, while the ships of the enemy would have been receiving their own fire as well as his. Ito achieved a brilliant victory, nevertheless.

A VETERAN of Waterloo, who served under Wellington, is said to be living at St. Joseph, Mo., aged 107 years. His name is William Chambers, and he was born at Ballymant, County Antrim, Ireland, September 12, 1787. Chambers enlisted in the British army and fought at Waterloo as a cavalryman. A correspondent of the Chicago Times says that investigation of the birth records of Ballymant and the British war records establish the authenticity of Chambers' age and military service. He is still hale and has a clear memory of past events.

IN Grass Valley there is some talk of reorganizing a "601" society to get rid of the worthless characters that have established quarters there. The Tidings recommends that course. It is beginning to look as if a '77-'56 organization would have to be revived on this side of the bay by the cities of Alameda and Oakland for a similar purpose. Crime is a natural accompaniment of organized vagabondage.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Sashes and throatlets of a different color and material from the gown are very popular and do much to dress a simple toilet. A dainty arrangement is to fasten a sash on the left side of the bust, with about one-third of its length falling down on the skirt; the sash then passes under the left arm about the figure and fastens on the right side at the waist line, with the long end falling almost to the hem of the frock.

Indian Chutney—Three ounces salt, one pound brown sugar, one ounce garlic, one half pound raisins, one quarter ounce cayenne, six ounces preserved ginger, juice of four small lemons, six wineglasses of vinegar, and ten large apples. Pare and cut up the apples and boil them in the vinegar till quite soft. Shred all the other ingredients very finely and mix the lemon juice and sugar together. Mix everything together and simmer for one hour. Keep in a dry place, the warmer, too, the better. The chutney is ready for use in six months' time.

WHEN WOMEN VOTE

Oh, mother, please, mother, come with me now,
The afternoon's slipping by fast,
You said you were coming right home from the polls
As soon as your ballot was cast.
Poor father came in for his dinner at noon
And not a mouthful could he find,
And the words that he said as he slammed the front door
Left a strong smell of sulphur behind.
—Kansas City Journal.

Science says now that beauty is not skin deep. She can tell you that half the charm of a pretty face—at least the expression—is a matter of little muscles and a complex labyrinth of little nerves, and that the curve of the lips, the glance of the eyes, the droop of their lids, are a matter of the prevalent use of certain small muscles in obedience to a prevalent aspect of the mind. Moreover, that the use of these organs of expression has come down along ancestral lines, and that the mold of the features themselves is a question of heredity.

A new invention which will be largely appreciated, especially by home dressmakers, is a patent dress fastener, consisting of two pieces of cloth lined with steel, to which the hooks and eyes necessary for the front of a bodice are firmly and symmetrically riveted. These are sewn into the fronts of the dress, and as the hooks and eyes are alternately reversed, it is quite impossible for the bodice when in wear to become accidentally unfastened. The contrivance is sold for a few cents.

POLITICAL PRATTLE.

What the California Newspapers Are Saying.

Possibly our dairymen may be interested to know that "sham issue," the tariff question, directly affects their pockets and business. Well, here is one obvious consequence of superseding the McKinley tariff by the Wilson-Gorman schedule. The protection afforded to American cheese under the McKinley tariff was six cents per pound or say 43 per cent ad valorem. Under the Gorman bill it is but four cents per pound or say 29 per cent ad valorem. Even under the McKinley tariff the importation from Canada, as shown by the statistics of the treasury department for the year ending June 30, 1892, was over 200,000 pounds, which found its way to the Chicago market and assisted in fixing the price of cheese for the American market and necessarily for this market. Now that the tariff has been reduced one-third, of course the Canadian importations will be vastly increased with the result that our cheese makers may expect hereafter to have their profits hampered down still farther and the price they may get will be fixed by the Canadian dairyman.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

Estee will be an easy winner in the Gubernatorial race which is now on, Webster will be second and Jim and his buckboard will bring up the rear.—Petaluma Imprint.

As matters now stand, the voters of Fresno county are apparently called on to decide between George C. Perkins and Colonel Irish, the Southern Pacific servant, when they cast their votes for members of the Legislature. John P. Irish is not only a railroad servant of long standing, but is an ardent supporter of Cleveland's gold bug, anti-silver, pro-Chinese record, and is now stall fed for the Senatorial race with fat things from the Federal pie factory. This is a question which deserves serious consideration by the voter.—Fresno Republican.

Mr. Budd wanted to discuss State issues, and Governor Markham has given him a dose from which he will scarcely recover in time to blossom next November. By the way, the Democracy do not appear very willing to discuss local issues in Kern county. Of a truth, they are between the devil and the deep sea, with the latter yawning to swallow them up.—Kern County Californian.

Promises to reduce taxation do not come with good grace from the Democrats, whose record in State management does not warrant belief in them. Every Republican administration in California that has followed a Democratic administration has reduced the tax levy of its predecessor. In every campaign promises of economy were made, as now. In every instance the Republicans redeemed their pledges and the Democrats did not.—Nevada City Transcript.

Mr. Budd, the Democratic candidate for Governor, is making all sorts of captivating promises to the people, which are to be fulfilled in the event of his election—may be. Among other benefits to accrue to his Administration, he and his associate "reformers" are to reduce the rates of transportation 25 per cent. Hon. H. M. LaRue, the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner from the Sacramento district, says that he has not taken the Democratic pledge for a horizontal reduction in the rates of transportation in this State. Since this can be done only through the Railroad Commission, and since at least one candidate for Railroad Commissioner repudiates the pledge, this high sounding promise of the boastful Budd appears to be on the same plane with the great majority of his loud promises—made solely in the interest of Jim's Jim.—Petaluma Imprint.

Every honest Democrat in California knows that Hilborn was buncoed out of his seat.—The Mail of Woodland.

The Democratic Populists are Populists all through the campaign, but on the day of election they will vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom. Let the Republicans remember this and not imperil the chances of their own men by casting a single Populist ticket on the 6th of November.—Oroville Register.

Good reports are received everywhere as to the Republican chances for success. The State and Legislative tickets are beyond question in our mind. There will be a Republican Governor, a Republican Legislature and very nearly a solid Republican delegation in Congress—certainly a United States Senator.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Republicans are said to be slow to arouse to enthusiasm, but appearances indicate that in the fifteen days that remain before the election the enthusiasm will rise high above the ordinary boiling temperature. This enthusiasm may become dangerous by inspiring too great confidence. Enthusiasm alone will not carry the election. There must be careful work as well as arousing zeal. California must be made to give an unusually large Republican majority, one that will give emphasis to its condemnation of the destructive Democracy.—Stockton Independent.

All who have felt the evil effects of Democratic misgovernment should vote the Republican Legislative ticket, so as to make sure of a United States Senator who will stand up for protection and good government.—San Jose Mercury.

There is one man in Philadelphia who contends that 13 is his lucky number, and it has followed him all through life. He was born in 1840, which added together makes 13, and on the 13th of the month. There were 13 in the family. At 13 he successfully passed examination for college, and the first salary he earned was $13 a week. Nearly every hotel he stops at he strikes room 13; if he is in a very great hurry car 13 comes along and he gets there all right; almost always when he pulls small change out of his pocket he has 13 cents, and so it goes. Without any effort on his part this numerical coincidence extends to the most trifling things and seems to have no let up. For years he paid $13 a week board, and the numbers of the house he lived in formed that number when added together. When he counts his mail in the morning he has 13 letters, and if he picks up a number of sheets of paper at random to count them he finds they just number 13.

MEN TO VOTE FOR.

LOU H. MOREHOUSE,

Republican Nominee for Board of Equalization, Second District

If there is any man now in office who is pre-eminently entitled to a re-election for his fidelity to the public interest and fairness and for the honesty with which he has performed his public duties, that man is L. C. Morehouse, the Republican nominee for member of the State Board of Equalization from the Second Equalization district.

Mr. Morehouse has already held the office for three terms, and proven to the satisfaction of his constituents his special fitness for it. The duties of the Board require special qualifications in its members, a thorough knowledge of the values of realty in the various counties in the State. There is not a County Assessor in any part of the State, San Francisco, perhaps, excepted, that will not give Mr. Morehouse credit for an expert knowledge of the property values of their respective counties. The people of the State, outside of San Francisco, have long ago become thoroughly familiar with the reason why the metropolis does not also give him the same credit. He has incurred a strong opposition from that city because it has been his unpleasant duty, each year, in the interest of fairness and justice to the rest of the State, to vote for the raising of its assessment valuations. But in so doing, Mr. Morehouse and his collegues have erred on the side of leniency. This year, the assessment of San Francisco was raised by the State Board of Equalization fifteen per cent, at Mr. Morehouse's suggestions, although Mr. Beamer, the Democratic member of the Third district, advocated a raise of 20 per cent, and some of the interior papers thought it would not have been unfair to have raised it twenty-five per cent. In evidence that no injustice was done the metropolis by the raise, recent forced sales of business property there show that the local assessment could have been quadrupled in those cases without any injustice to the owners. It is an officer that knows how to do his duty and has the courage to do it, like Mr. Morehouse, whom the State wants in its service.

Mr. Morehouse was born in New York State, December 29, 1833. From there he accompanied his parents to Illinois in 1844. In 1852 he crossed the plains to California and located in Alameda county in 1853, remaining here until 1858, when he returned to Illinois by water.

In Illinois he pursued the occupation of farming until 1866, when he again crossed the plains for this State, driving overland in a wagon. He again located in this county and has remained here since.

Mr. Morehouse has held several public offices and in each one he has served the people honestly and faithfully. He was for a time a Deputy Revenue Assessor. Subsequently he was a constable. Later he was appointed a Deputy Sheriff. Afterwards he was chosen Township Assessor by election, and when the office became one of appointment he was made Deputy Assessor.

Mr. Morehouse's official training was, therefore, one which qualified him for the high and more responsible office to which he was elected by the people of the Second Equalization District in 1882.

Mr. Morehouse's election that year was a red-letter event. He was the only Republican that was elected that year on either District or State ticket. He has filled the office through three Administrations with uniform acceptability, having been re-elected in 1886 and 1890.

The Republicans of the Second Equalization district have a full appreciation of his worth, and in recognition of it they nominated him by acclamation at the District Convention this year.

The Second Equalization District embraces the following counties: Alameda, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Tuolumne.

At the election of 1890, with five candidates in the field, Mr. Morehouse received a majority vote over all of 4556, or a plurality over Dusterberry, the Democratic candidate, of 12,129 votes.

There are very cogent reasons why Mr. Morehouse should receive this year a still stronger indorsement at the hands of the people. He has given general satisfaction to his district, he is thoroughly posted on the duties of his office, no member has ever filled the position who has given it the attention he has given it, he has studied it carefully, given more time to it than any other man who ever occupied a seat on the board, he is a man who does his duty fearlessly, regardless of criticism. These ought to be strong enough reasons to influence the conduct of every voter in the district, irrespective of party affiliations, in his favor, thus swelling his majority larger than it ever has been.

CO-OPERATION.

A Plan to Give the Land to the People.

Distress Can Be Avoided by a Small Outlay.

Two Thousand Families Settled for a Million Dollars.

Editor Tribune—SIR: With reference to my plan for the assistance of the unemployed, sketched in an article recently published in your journal, I now proceed to set forth the details of the scheme:

To begin with the land, forty acres should be allowed to each man or family. Each section would thus have sixteen settlers to bring it into cultivation, without reckoning the children's help. This land should be cultivated on a co-operative system, in villages or groups, because in that way alone—as it appears to me—could the cattle and implements which would be required, be used in the most economical manner.

Each family should have a cow and some poultry; and in some cases, where the conditions were favorable, a pig or pigs for its own exclusive use, but a span of horses or a yoke of oxen would do duty for four families, as would also a plow, wagon, harrows and such like implements; while one reaper and one mower would do for an entire section, or sixteen families.

Each family would be required to reside on the place alloted for its use—no absenteeism would be allowed, except for urgent reasons, to be decided by the superintendent, whose duties will be defined later. Each family would be required to break and bring under cultivation at least ten acres of land in each year. The co-operation to which I have referred would admit of one man plowing his neighbor's land while his neighbor was seeding or otherwise cultivating the land of the person so occupied. This idea could be followed in all the various duties incidental to the common object in view.

During the first year an allowance would be made to assist in the maintenance of the family, varying in proportion to its needs, and for the feed for the animals. In the second year this would cease. The third year repayment of the sum advanced by the Government would commence. I propose that this repayment should be so gradual that it would never be felt as a hardship.

With regard to the amount of assistance to be rendered in each case I consider that an average of $500 per family would be sufficient for all purposes. A single man would require less, a man with a wife about that much, while a man with both wife and family would require more. This sum would include the cost of a house (necessarily of the very simplest construction), the proportion of cost of team, cow, poultry, implements, etc. After the second year, and each year following, one tenth of the sum so advanced should be repaid, so that in twelve years the holding would belong to the party who had cultivated it. Every four sections or sixty-four families should have a superintendent, whose duty it would be to see that each family performed the proper amount of work, to arrange as to the use of the teams and implements, with the joint concurrence of those interested therein, to see that the allowances were properly distributed; and to advise with the settlers generally.

Great care would have to be taken in the selection of these officers, while being busy bodies they should not be busybodies. They should have no right to enter the house of a settler uninvited. The object of their appointment would be the general supervision in the interests both of Government and of the settlers themselves. They would be paid by a charge of $10 a year to each settler or family after the second year.

Every town or village from which a settler or family was drawn, would be required to pay $50 towards the object of this undertaking; which, considering the relief afforded by the withdrawal of each settler or family, would, I think, be readily agreed to.

Whether the appropriation made by the Government for this purpose should be perpetuated so that the third year from the start the repayments commenced, the amounts repaid should be again used for a similar purpose, or whether the appropriation should only be for twelve years (the time in which I have suggested for the repayment by the settlers of the advances) would be a matter for consideration as would also the question whether a large sum, say $20,000,000, should be appropriated at the start, or whether a small sum, as a mere tentative measure, would be the wiser course.

At the rate I have suggested, every million dollars would provide for 2000 settlers. Is there not in this country some one who will take this scheme in hand and carry it out?

In conclusion I would say that I have not been portraying Utopia. I know that there would be very many difficulties to overcome in carrying the scheme into effect. But it is a scheme by which any industrious man can surely, in a few years, secure a perfectly independent position. I know that I myself could carry the thing out if necessary. Compare this picture with the picture of a crowd of men calling themselves an Industrial Army, wandering aimlessly from city to city and being kicked from one to the other, and I say that the man who would choose the latter would deserve all the evil he could meet with.

Higher Wages Were Desired by a Printer.

He Quit and Threw Two Hundred Hatters Out of Work.

WABASH, Ind., October 22.—A peculiar damage suit has been filed in the Wabash Circuit Court designed to test how far a contract between an employer and employe is binding.

The plaintiff is Nathan Meyer, proprietor of a hat works in this city.

When the works were established in this city three years ago, Oscar Busch, a printer who has charge of the file lettering on the interior of hats, was brought from New York City under contract to do the work.

He was paid $15 a week, and two years ago his wages were raised to $18.

About a month ago he quit work and would not return unless engaged for two years at $20 a week.

This was acceded to by Mr. Meyer, and a written contract was drawn up and signed.

Friday night Busch said that he wanted the balance due him as he did not intend working longer, and a check for $52 was given him.

Saturday morning he did not appear, and when reminded of his contract said it made no difference as he was going East unless Mr. Meyer raised his wages to $25 a week.

Mr. Meyer declined to entertain this proposition, and Busch not only refused to go to the factory, but refused to let his assistant go to work.

Payment was stopped on the $52 check, and suit for $1000 damages begun against Busch.

Meanwhile the factory is closed, 200 persons are out of employment, and the works will not start again until the latter part of the week when a skilled printer can be hired and brought here.

SPORTING NEWS.

The Reliance Football Team Scores a Splendid Victory.

The football game between the Reliance and Stanford teams last Saturday at the Haight street park resulted in a victory for the Oakland boys. The collegians were not in the contest from the beginning to the end. When the final score was obtained it stood 18 to 4 in favor of the Reliance.

The regular monthly race of the Oakland Navy was held on the estuary yesterday afternoon. The Whim crossed the line first, but she was ruled out on a foul. The Flying Scud was given first place, Amalia second and the Jack third. The big boats in the navy were practically distanced. The time was very slow, as the wind was light.

The monthly shoot of Company F for the medal was held at Shell Mound yesterday. The scores were as follows: Corporal Terrall, 45; Private McGinness, 44; Private Travers, 42; Private Campbell, 41; Private Parsons, 41; Private Webb, 41; Captain Wetbern, 40; Sergeant Cobbledick, 39; Corporal McCrudden, 39; Private Clough, 39; Corporal Cobalt, 38; Sergeant Pierie, 37; Private Stott, 37; Private Unda, 37; Private Moe, 37; Sergeant Rennie, 34; Private Williams, 35; Private Bortley, 34; Private Beck, 33; Corporal Harvey, 32; Private Mitchell, 31; Lieutenant Wonk, 20; Private Boody, 29; Private F. Parsons, 27; Private Finley, 26; Private Phelps, 25.

The next game will be played at Haight Street Park instead of at the Piedmont grounds. The contesting teams will be the Berkeleys and Reliance.

A POPULAR ORATOR.

Evangelist Martin is Attracting Big Crowds.

The great revival under the auspices of the First Christian Church, Rev. Dr. Sweeney's congregation, has grown into a wonderful meeting. It is held at Hamilton Hall. Rev. Dr. Martin of St. Louis is doing the preaching. The crowd last night was a seething mass of human beings, boiling like a busy bee hive and swarming with life.

Mr. Martin's wit and eloquence to men who may not even believe in religion at all, is a great entertainment—in fact a popular amusement. While he edifies the saints he seems to be equally as interesting to sinners. Unlike many meetings of the kind the man seem to constitute a large majority of his hearers. He will preach every night this week, his subject for tonight being "Can People Be Saved Outside of the Church?" Chairs will be provided today to increase the seating capacity of the hall.

An Unlikely Theory.

The police of Alameda have come to the conclusion that Rev. and Mrs. Wolff, who were so brutally assaulted in their residence in that city a week ago, were the victims of emissaries of a whisky ring in Alaska which they had opposed with both vigor and success while they were acting as missionaries in that part of the world.

W. J. Moore's Funeral.

The funeral of William J. Moore, a conductor of the Oakland Consolidated road, took place yesterday afternoon from Old Fellows' Hall, under the auspices of Oakland Lodge, No. 103, Knights of Pythias, and Odd Fellows Lodge, No. 118, of both of which organizations the deceased was a member.

A BIG FALL.

A Russian Countess Is Now Selling Papers.

Her Beloved Son Was Banished to Siberia.

She Came to America, but Her Bad Luck Pursued Her.

NEW YORK, October 22. — Chicago may boast of having an alien Marquis, who is a millionaire carpenter and builder, but New York goes one better, for Wall street business men buy their papers off a Countess, who had an established position in the court at St. Petersburg.

She is a little old woman, who has a small stand in front of the postoffice, over which she presides with a dignity acquired under far different circumstances.

Her full name is Josephine Suffcen Jarozka.

Her story, as she tells it, begins when a young Polish girl she married Count Paul Jarozka and went to live in St. Petersburg. She had a high social position there.

That was almost a generation ago, and she was happy in the Russian capital for many years.

By and by she and her husband began to disagree. Finally she left him.

Then her husband retaliated in a manner that some people might call peculiarly Russian.

They had a son, a bright youth, and the father caused information to be sent to the Government that he was in a conspiracy against the crown. One day the son disappeared.

The next the mother heard of him was that he had been sent to Siberia to die in the mines.

The Countess endeavored to secure her boy's release. She visited the officials herself.

She asked all her friends to help her, but she could not remove the Czar's chains from her boy. She then came to America, bringing with her what little money she had saved.

She lived in New York in cheap lodging houses until nearly all her money was gone and the time had come for her to do some kind of work or starve.

Then she began to sell papers, and since has earned her living in that manner.

Attempts have been made to take her from her present position of want and place her where she will never again be in danger of hunger or cold, but she looks on all of them as charity and refuses them.

Run Down and Killed.

Pierre David, a Frenchman residing at 428 Second street, near Broadway, was instantly killed by the 8:20 Alameda train last night, at the pier. It is supposed the dead man in trying to get out of the way of a freight train, stepped in front of the Alameda cars, and met his death.

The Best Teacher.

The Arabs say that the best teacher is Time That is true, especially when year after year enforces the same lesson. For more than thirty years ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS have been in use in every part of the world, and the testimony is universal as to their value as an external remedy for pains of every kind in the back, chest and side. Some people have learned the lesson so well that they try to imitate them, and the result is a host of counterfeits, all pretending to be just as good as ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, and unconscious that by this very statement they acknowledge that ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS hold the first place. Be sure and get the genuine.

Three Horse Teams.

The People's Express Company is always in the leading the matter of accommodating its patrons. It has added another feature to its equipment and that is a series of three horse teams with beautiful decorated wagons with which it delivers consignments on the arrival of every boat. This service is not much more rapid than it formerly was, the enlarged teams making more work possible. The People's Express, among its many advantages, offers a perfect system of checking trunks to and from one's home to the depots, which is a great convenience to those going away from or returning to Oakland.

CONCERT CALLS.

Entertainments Given by Well Tried Artists.

Review of the Events of the Past Week.

Musical Moments and Gleanings Among the Artists.

The musical events of the past week are herewith given:

H. T. Stewart's Recital.

Mr. Stewart gave his third organ recital last Wednesday evening at the First Unitarian Church, San Francisco. The Handel Concerto in G minor was excellently rendered. Handel's organ compositions are classics; why are they not played more? Guilmant's "Marche Religieuse" sounded just as well under the name of "Fantasia." The opening theme was taken too fast to be effective. The Andante with variations from Beethoven's Serenade for a string trio was charming, the last two variations being particularly fresh and pleasing. The Short Fugue in A minor makes a good organ fugue, but the arrangement loses all the novelty and piquancy of the original. The singing of Miss Anna Miller Wood contributed in great part to the evening's pleasure.

Congregational S. S. Orchestra.

This successful organization gave its eleventh concert last Friday night. The audience was large, but not so large as the performance merited. The programme began with Adam's overture "Le Roi d'Yvetot." For Gounod's "Queen of Sheba" March, the brass was reinforced, but was somewhat out of tune. Two dances from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker" Suite received much applause.

Miss Rose Hallahan played Mozart's First Piano Concerto. The little lady is no prodigy and the tiny fingers could not press down all the keys. This forcing of child performers is a pernicious practice; it can result in no direct benefit to them and, indirectly at least, it is harmful. Miss Maud Chappell was well received and heartily encored. Miss Jean Hush was a great surprise. It has even be suggested that her playing of Musin's "Caprice de Concert" was reminiscent of the great Ovide himself. For an encore she played Grieg's "Berceuse."

Miss Edith Russell made her debut before an Oakland audience. She has a mezzo soprano voice of pleasing quality and a winning stage presence. Garrett Colyn's "Persian Serenade" was well sung, and in response to loud applause Miss Russell sang Eleanor Smith's "The Quest." She is a valuable acquisition to our musical circles and promises to rank high among our local singers. Miss Russell received her musical education in Tacoma, her home, and New York. From her reception the other evening she promises to be very popular with Oakland audiences.

The orchestra will give its next concert January 11, 1895.

Carr-Beel Popular Concert.

The thirty-ninth Saturday popular concert drew a large and enthusiastic audience. Schubert's String Quartet in A minor opened the programme. Miss Regina Newman sang a bouquet of four songs. The lady has a pleasant and well trained voice, but her German pronunciation was only slightly better than her English. When will singers learn to speak in singing! This part of voice training is almost universally neglected, whereas it should be one of the most important features of such training. Louis Heine played two 'cello solos, but although called out four times he did not respond to the encore. Tschaikowsky's Trio, op. 50, closed the programme.

LOY.

TOO THIN.

The Bare-Faced Story Told by a Burglar.

A. Anderson, an 18-year old lad, got out of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, committed on an usher in the People's Theater a few weeks ago, but he is now in a hole where he may remain for some time. Late Saturday night he was arrested by Officer McKeegan while engaged in appropriating a stock of knives from the hardware store of Taylor & Ausseon on Twenty-third avenue and Fourteenth street. At the City Prison he was booked on a charge of burglary.

The lad claims that Saturday night, when he was on his way home, he met a man who forced him under penalty of instant death to commit the burglary. He refuses to give the alleged Bill Sykes' description, although he claims to know him. In the Police Court, this morning, his examination was set for the 26th.

THE COW WON.

Novel Contest With a Horse in Michigan.

The Milk-Maker Ran Like a Thoroughbred.

A Purse Had Been Put Up by a Couple of Sports.

PONTIAC, Mich., October 22.—People in Oakland county are discussing a novel race which occurred last week on the race track here between a cow and a horse. The race originated in banter between two neighbors, Edward White and Joseph Russell. White is the owner of a high-grade Durham cow, 9 years old, and about four weeks ago he began to drive her to a cart.

She soon developed startling qualities, and many owners of good horses who tried to pass White had to take the dust from the bovine's heels. One day Russell tried to pass White with his sorrel mare.

This led to words, and finally White bet Russell $50 that the cow could beat the horse on a half-mile trot or a half-mile walk. Russell accepted the bet and the money was put up.

The cow was somewhat confused by the shouts of the crowd and the otherwise striking contrasts with her familiar haunts, but she easily won the half-mile in seven minutes, the horse being a minute behind at the wire.

The half mile trot was also won by the cow without an effort in 3:07. White was saving up his cow's wind for the race against time which he had advertised as the closing feature.

His shepherd dog, which kept close behind the cart and seemed to feel a weight of responsibility in the race, was expected to bite the cow's heels as a last resort.

This proved unnecessary in the race with the horse, and the dog refused to do his part in the race for a record.

White claims, however, that she trotted a quarter at a four-minute gate on a country road, and promises to lower that with a few weeks' training.

The cow is driven with regular harness and bit, and never made a break.

SULLY'S SHOWS.

The Irish-American Comedian Here Tonight.

Good Performances to Be Given Theater-Goers.

"The Midnight Express" Is Staged at the People's.

The Millionaire, that clever comedy in which Daniel Sully has made such a hit all over the country will be presented at the Macdonough for two nights, commencing this evening. The play is one replete with dramatic interest and is full of striking situations and intense realism. Sully plays the part of an Irish contractor, who has secured a valuable railroad franchise and who is combated by a clique of millionaires. There is a railroad race and an exciting finish, and of course the poor man finally triumphs.

The Millionaire is one of those plays that excite critical enthusiasm, and it has many excellences that more pretentious dramas do not possess. In the first place it aims to present a moral hero drawn from actual life, and it does present him without any extraneous theatrical nonsense and without any sophistry.

The Acme Club will take a benefit tonight in connection with the performance, so a big house is assured.

The People's.

Dover Dale and his talented company will present the sensational comedy The Midnight Express, at the People's Theater tonight. It is a realistic sensational play.

MRS. SYNDER IN COURT.

She Claims the Neighbors are Backbiting.

Mrs. Snyder, of 835 Pine street, was in the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of cruelty to children. The woman's arrest was caused by Mrs. Sanford of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The case is a peculiar one. Neighbors of the woman claim she has been in the habit of abusing her little daughter May, and that the child has been beaten until she is in a state of desperation.

The child is rather a remarkable looking youngster. She is exceedingly slender and has a curious manner of staring fixedly at persons addressing her, something unusual in a little girl, and which leads to the suspicion that her mind is a trifle unbalanced.

In an interview with the mother this morning she stated that the whole trouble was caused by the officiousness of neighbors. Mrs. Snyder is reputed to be quite wealthy. Her husband is confined in an insane asylum. The woman was released on her own recognizance, and will appear next Monday for trial by the court.

Heagerty Knocked Out.

Denny Heagerty's long fight against the Berkeley temperance people is over. The attacks on his business, which worried him for several years past, have lately been so fierce that the hospitable caterer has concluded to leave towne The burning of his hotel and the attitude taken by the college papers have knocked him out and the thirsty college boys will have to get their coffee elsewhere.

His Injuries Fatal.

J. R. Talcott Takes a Stand.

An Interesting Meeting at Fruit Vale.

Republican Gatherings All Over the County.

Wind-Up Work Is Being Done by the Office Seekers.

The Republicans of Fruit Vale held a big meeting at Blake's Hall Saturday night. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Valentine G. Hush acted as chairman. During the evening speeches were made by A. L. Frick, E. C. Hart, Judge Post and J. R. Talcott.

Mr. Talcott is a candidate for Supervisor, and much interest was taken in his speech. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been asked in an open letter received October 7, 1894, signed by ten prominent citizens, to tell the people of Fruit Vale my views upon town incorporation, and also to pledge myself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section in the event of my election as Supervisor, and, that you may understand fully my position in this matter, I will ask your indulgence while I read from this letter the two questions submitted.

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it be backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

Second.—Pending such town incorporation, will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section?

Recognizing the high standing and general reputation for fairness of the signers of this letter, I read carefully the questions asked, and became satisfied that I could not give (as demanded) a "definite and unqualified" answer to the first question in its present form, (One of the reasons being that they did not outline the proposed boundaries of their scheme.) You will remember that during the past year, no less than three distinct schemes, for a town of the sixth class, have been put forward in Fruit Vale, the petitions, for each published for weeks in the local paper, and no two having the same boundary lines.

Not wishing to delay matters by returning the letter to the writers for revision I, on October 8th, addressed to each signer the following letter:

"In reply to the open letter of yourself and friends, will say that I desire to meet all of you gentlemen together before giving the required answer to the public. I would be pleased to invite another ten men of equally good standing, thoroughly representative residents of Fruit Vale Road district to meet with us.

"I feel that you have opened the way to a more complete understanding of each other's views, and, while we may differ in some minor details, am fully satisfied that the common interest of us all is in the same direction and that we may not be so far apart when we consider the matter, without prejudice, together.

"Hoping this will meet the views of you all, and that you will allow me to name some central place of meeting, and as soon as consistent with other appointments now made. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "J. R. TALCOTT."

Imagine my surprise when before breakfast the following morning, October 9th, I read in a leading Democratic organ the report of an interview with one of the signers of the open letter. The only answer, other than this, which I have received direct from any of these gentlemen, I now hold in my hand. It is under date of October 10th, and is as follows:

"J. R. Talcott, Esq., Fruit Vale. DEAR SIR: —Your note of October 8th in reply to ours of a previous date is at hand. With regard to meeting ten other gentlemen and yourself, 'at a time consistent with your other appointments' to discuss the questions propounded to you in our letter, is, to say the least, very indefinite, and, as it seems to us, entirely unnecessary. The questions are plain, simple and easily understood, and should not require a conference with twenty gentlemen before answering.

"You must long since have made up your mind upon the questions asked, otherwise you are not a fit person for our Supervisor.

"Our object in asking them was to learn positively your views upon these important questions, and to learn how you will act regarding them if elected, not to discuss them with you, and ten of your friends. The time for discussion is past, we want to know where you stand.

"A general complaint made against you is that it is next to impossible to get a direct answer from you on any public question, and the tenor of your letter seems to confirm this.

"We again ask for replies to our questions, and however brief your answers may be, we hope they will be definite, without qualification, and not needing further explanation, so that we can govern ourselves accordingly. Respectfully,

"JOHN LLOYD.

"For self, and on behalf of other signers of letter, etc."

Before answering this communication I learned upon good authority that although this letter appeared to be a second letter from the same gentleman who signed the first one, as a matter of fact it was not so. Consequently my answer was intended to be very plain. I quote it in full:

"To John Loyd, Fruit Vale, October 14, 1894. Your letter to me of Vale—DEAR SIR: by yourself, and on October 10th, signed of a communication to of other signers of October 1, 1894, is unper under date of I address you personally in tone, and creditably informed that because I am ers of the above referred to of the signers of October 1, 1894, our communication letter to me of October that your written and signed by you with was knowledge or authority. The it their communication above referred to and of me a written pledge, which you and lawyer, should know would be illegal to give under the election laws of the State. I deny the right of any man, or set of men, to require written or other pledges from me as a candidate, touching questions that may come before the Board of Supervisors in their official capacity. Upon the receipt of the communication of October 1st, heretofore referred to, which I received on October 7th, believing that it would be illegal for me to give the written pledge demanded, and being desirous that the signers of that communication should have a complete understanding as to my position on these questions, I addressed to each of them on October 8, 1894, a letter requesting them to meet me for that purpose, which you, in your letter of October 10th, say is 'entirely unnecessary' as 'the time for discussion is passed.' In this we differ—and while I have refrained for the reason heretofore stated, from pledging myself, in the manner demanded, it is my intention to clearly define my position at a public meeting, to be held at Fruit Vale at an early date, of which due notice will be given.

"Respectfully yours,

"J. R. TALCOTT."

And I will state that each one of the gentlemen signing that letter received a written invitation to be here tonight.

And now fellow-citizens, agreeable to my promise, I am before you tonight to answer as well as I can the questions in their present form.

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it is backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

My Friends: I desire to be entirely frank with you. Should the scheme referred to in this question be originated in the same manner as the one taken before the Board of Supervisors this present session, that is, without consulting any person upon the outskirts of the town, and should its projectors proceed to carry it out in the same manner and upon the same lines I have as yet, as a citizen, seen no reason to materially change my opinion of its merits. On the other hand, if at any time it appears that a considerable number of the best citizens of Fruit Vale desire incorporation into a sixth class town, and go about it in a business way, with committees of representative residents and tax payers from each section of the proposed town, all meeting together for the common good, and if they should under such circumstances decide to go ahead, I have no idea but that self interest alone would compel me to join with them, even though my judgment should be wavering.

I believe that this section of country has a bright future before it and I think that when you stop to consider the matter that you will see that my every interest is in line with anything that will benefit this whole community. Local pride makes many of you zealous in protecting the interests of Fruit Vale avenue. This is as it should be. Others are equally interested for San Leandro road. Others still would like something done on Sherman street and the Redwood road, and so on through all sections of this road district.

No; I shall not oppose incorporation when you take all parties in interest into your councils and I find that the majority are in favor of it.

In answer to the second question, which is "Pending such town incorporation will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund contributed by the section are used for the improvement of this section?" will say that if by "this section" Fruit Vale Road District is meant I can answer it easily, for if elected to the office of Supervisor I am determined to have the road taxes, so far as I have the power, expended in the district where collected, and shall use my best endeavors to have its road funds honestly expended and fairly distributed in all sections of each and every road district and to so far as possible consistent with economy, distribute the work of each road district among its own citizens. Of course everyone acknowledges the necessity of giving more attention to the main thoroughfares, but all county roads must come in for a share.

It may be of interest to you to know that I deem it essential to have in each road district some competent person to look after its wants in detail. If ever there was economy needed in the administration of the county business it is in times like the present and you can depend upon it that I fully appreciate this fact.

Many of us are going to the Tax Collector's rooms this year with heavy hearts caused by nearly empty purses.—Not a pleasant task in good times, it becomes a burden now. If elected, I shall surely help what I can to make the burden lighter until such times as we can afford to be generous. I expect to give all the time necessary to the work, and good counsel from public-spirited citizens will always be acceptable. I hope I have made plain my views on two questions asked.

Before closing I desire to say to my friend, Mr. Lloyd, that the position taken by me in my letter to him of October 14, 1894, (refusing his demand for written pledges) I am informed has been declared to be sound law by leading judges on both the San Francisco and Alameda county benches, and also by eminent attorneys who practice before them; and I think on further consideration he will so see it. Of one thing further I wish to say a word. I don't know as it is good judgment to do so, for many reasons, but I have heard so often during this campaign that "if so and so was not working for you, my neighbors would support you to a man." I ask, "Why does that make any difference? Is not so and so a man of judgment, a good business man, a worthy citizen and one who has contributed more than either of us to the good of the county?" I am told "Yes, but you know he is getting more than his share of the county business now and my neighbors, who don't know you, think he is working for you because he expects to control you in the board."

"I have known Mr. So and So many years, not very intimately, 'tis true, but I think I know him well enough to know that he would be almost the last man to ask of me to violate my oath as a Supervisor, and that is more than I can say of some of his enemies. I wish to tell you in all candor that I have made no promises, and shall make none, being determined, if elected, to do the business of the county with the same care and attention to detail that I have done my own business in the years I have been in your midst. I have made many mistakes in my own business, and no doubt would make others were I made Supervisor, and were it lawful I could not, and neither could you afford to have me pledged to him or even against him.

One thing more and I have done. It is not perhaps in good taste to criticise in any way the work of former or present Boards of Supervisors, and it is not a part of my policy to do so. I am willing, however, to go on record, notwithstanding the violent opposition of some of the gentlemen who live in the vicinity, against the system which has been pursued in robbing the creek bed, on Fruit Vale avenue, for the sake of obtaining material which is, of itself, of doubtful value when placed upon any of the main thoroughfares. It is high time this practice was stopped, and material of better quality procured. This is in accord with my best judgment, many times publicly expressed in years gone by, and presented now without solicitation by or suggestion from any person.

I thank you for your kind attention, and ask you if you are satisfied with the explanation of my position, to assist in the selection of a Fruit Vale representative in the Board of Supervisors on the 6th of next November.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fatal Collision on the Hudson

NEW YORK, October 20.—In a dense fog that hung over the river and harbor today the tugboat F. A. Kirkham was sunk off the Battery by a collision with Jersey Central Railroad Company's ferryboat Mauch Chunk. One man was drowned. The Mauch Chunk fished out another of the crew and a third was saved by a passing tug.

BRAVE.

The Japanese Are Aggressive.

Details of the Great Naval Battle.

The Emperor's Insult to Li Hung Chang.

He Still Has a Few Chances Left to Redeem Himself.

Special Correspondence of the Associated Press (per steamers China and Australia.)

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — Long before the rejoicing over the capture of Phyong Yang had begun to subside Japan was excited to fresh enthusiasm by the news of a naval victory of even greater significance, in the northeastern inlet of the Yellow sea. On the 16th of September Admiral Ito, commanding the squadron stationed at the mouth of the Taitong, or Daido river, was notified that a large Chinese fleet had arrived at the Yalu river, in charge of transports conveying reinforcements to the army on the frontier.

He set sail the following morning with all the men-of-war that could be immediately summoned, namely: The Matsushima, flagship; Hashidate, Itsukushima, Yoshino, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Naniwa, Chiyoda, Fuso, Akagi and Hiyei. Accompanying these eleven was the Saikio, a merchant steamer taken into the national service since the war began, of no strength and not intended for heavy work in action. She would not have joined the expedition but for the desire of Admiral Viscount Kabayma, the naval chief of the staff, who, being on a visit of inspection at the north, could not resist the temptation to witness the expected engagement. Between 12 and 1 o'clock fourteen Chinese ships and six torpedo boats were discovered a little south of a harbor called Taikosan in Japanese pronunciation and east of Kaiyoto island.

The ships were the Ting Yuen, flag; Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chih Yuen, Ping Yuen, Chao Yuen, Yang Wei, Kwang-Kak, Wei Yuen, Kwang Ping and two others whose names are still unknown. Of these the first two carried Krupp guns of thirty centimetre and fifteen centimetre. The next four carried twenty-one centimetre and fifteen centimetre Krupps and the next two had twenty-five ton Armstrongs.

Contrary to anticipation they advanced unhesitatingly and commenced to fire when four thousand metres distant from the Japanese, who reserved their first discharge until another thousand metres had been covered. The serious fighting began between the vessels of the China right and the Japanese left, the flagships on either side leading the onset. By 1 o'clock the contest was general. Both lines maintained their position steadily for an hour, when the Chinese showed signs of wavering. Three of their ships, either by accident or design, had for some time been made special objects of attack, and though they contended vigorously to the last, they were sunk one after another, the crews climbing into the rigging as each descended and signaling wildly for help to both their companions and assailants. They were the Lai Yuen, Chih Yuen and Chao Yuen.

As soon as they were disposed of the foremost Japanese ships directed their assault against the immense German-built vessels at the head of the Chinese column, but for a long time without effect upon the heavy steel plating which protected them.

At last, however, a lucky shell struck the Ting Yuen a little above the water, and seemed to the Japanese observers to pierce the armor through and through. Their belief that this feat had been achieved was increased when a thick body of smoke was seen rising from the flagship, and although no diminution of activity on board was perceptible, they were convinced that she had been set on fire and remained burning up to the hour of her hasty departure.

Whatever her condition, she succeeded in inflicting heavy punishment upon her chief adversary. The Matsushima was struck by two twelve-inch shells, the first of which upset and battered out of shape one of her large guns, while the second exploded an ammunition box, dealing dreadful havoc among the crew, and starting a fire which was subdued only with great difficulty.

In consequence of these mishaps, the Matsushima withdrew from the scene and moved toward the Taitong, Admiral Ito transferring his flag to the Hashidate.

Meanwhile, three other Japanese vessels had undergone extremely rough treatment. The Saikio, which Viscount Kabayama persisted in keeping in the thick of the fight, notwithstanding her obvious unsuitability for such duty, lost control of her rudder, and found herself in much closer proximity than was desirable to the Ting Yuen and Chen Yuen. As she could not avoid them, she made directly for them, misleading them, it is supposed, into the belief that she was about to ram them. The Japanese are of the opinion that it was under this illusion that the two huge ships separated, allowing the Saikio a passage of about forty fathoms wide, through which to escape.

Torpedoes were discharged at her as she went by, but without avail. The Hiyei having been unable, by means of her slowness, to keep pace with the rest of the fleet, became a conspicuous object to the Chinese, and was so deluged with missiles that she was set on fire before the afternoon was half over. Her small crew was greatly reduced, and as the surgeon was among the wounded the sufferers could not be properly cared for. When she had lost twenty killed and thirty-four wounded she fell out of line and turned toward the Taitong.

But meeting a transport on the way, she obtained assistance in quenching the flames, handed over the wounded, and returned with all the speed she could make, not waiting for a doctor, to take up her work where she had left off. In this hope she was disappointed, for the enemy had flown, and the battle was over. It is recorded that when steaming away in flames she was thrice in great danger from torpedoes, but skillfully escaped by employing a device described in a recent magazine account of an imaginary naval fight in South America. To most readers of that sketch, the expedient of stopping a projectile by turning upon it a converging fire of shot and shell seemed purely fictitious; yet this is precisely what the Hiyei is said to have done in at least one instance.

About the time when Admiral Ito left the Matsushima the disorder in the Chinese fleet plainly indicated that the contest could not be prolonged on their side. Three ships had been sunk and a fourth, the Yang Wei, had been half destroyed and abandoned. Besides the Ting Yuen two others were on fire, and the entire force was thoroughly demoralized. A little after 5 o'clock the flagship took the lead in retreat toward the home stations. Four fast-steaming Japanese cruisers were detailed to follow and if possible to cut off their escape. But the torpedoes had to be reckoned with, and the possibility of being struck by one of them in the night made it imperative that the Japanese should exercise caution. Morning found them at the mouth of the Gulf of Pechili, with no ship of the enemy in sight.

They steamed back to Kaiyoto island, keeping a keen lookout on the way, but the Chinese had evidently reached a safe place of refuge. The greater part of the Japanese squadron had reconvened near Taikosan harbor, on the chance of getting another fight, bringing this time some torpedo boats to co-operate. The need of them was so greatly felt on the previous day that it is safe to say no large body of Japanese ships will ever again sail without these essential adjuncts. One of them was now put to a practical if somewhat inglorious use in breaking up the Yang Wei, deserted and unfit for further service.

Examination shows that none of the Japanese vessels received damages that cannot be repaired with slight cost or labor. All but the four referred to were so free from injury that they could have gone into action afresh the following day.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE.

An extraordinary session of Parliament has been called by the Emperor to meet at Hiroshima, October 15th, and to last seven days. The summons states that the co-operation of the National Representatives and their consent to the war expenditures are recognized as necessary by the Sovereign. No other subject but war supplies is to occupy the attention of the Diet. As no large building is available in Hiroshima, it is proposed that the meetings be held in a huge tent.

The Prime Minister and Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs, Finance and Justice are in attendance upon the Emperor at Hiroshima, but Government business continues to be conducted at Tokio.

The Empress, always active in movements of mercy and charity, has called the ladies of the court to assist her, as patroness of the Red Cross Association, in collecting hospital supplies and preparing lint, bandages, etc., for the needs of the wounded in Corea. By her Majesty's express desire all articles thus provided and sent from the Palace are to be used for Japanese, Chinese and Coreans alike. In a similar spirit a notification has been issued by the Minister of War calling attention to the principles of the Geneva convention, to which Japan became a party in 1886, and admonishing the army that "However cruel and vindictive the enemy may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rules of civilization; his disabled succored, and his captured kindly and considerately protected." Also that "gentle treatment is due to those who offer no resistance to our arms," and that even the body of a dead foe should receive respect." Although China has not subscribed to the convention, and her soldiers may therefore behave inhumanly, no Japanese must retaliate but "bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their August sovereign, and display charity as well as courage."

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Warnings of punishment in store for Li Hung Chang in consequence of the repeated defeats suffered by the Chinese Army and Navy, had several times been sent forth from Pekin, but the foreign public has been slow to credit the possibility of so ill advised a proceeding.

That the rules of a system which condemns every official to disgrace in the event of failure in his enterprises, should be applied to the chief subject of the enterprise, or that the Imperial authority could be so injudiciously exercised as to fasten ignominy upon a statesman and soldier to whom the reigning house owes all the power it possesses, seemed too great a departure from propriety for the court to sanction. But the wrath of the Emperor has been kindled, and his displeasure manifests itself in a decree proclaimed on the 17th of September, and published in Shanghai the next day, the full text of which is as follows:

"The Wojen, having broken faith with Corea and forcibly occupied that country, the throne sympathized with its tributary kingdom in her distress and so raised an army to attack the common enemy. Upon Li Hung Chang, Imperial High Commissioner of the Peiyang, having chief control of the forces there, rested the entire burden of being prepared for emergencies, but, instead, he has been unable to act with speed and promptness in his military preparations, so that much time has elapsed without any important results. He has indeed failed in the trust reposed in him by us. We therefore command that his decoration of the three-eyed peacock feather be plucked off from his hat, and that he be stripped of the yellow riding jacket as a slight punishment.

It is necessary then that the said Imperial High Commissioner exert himself to the utmost and decide upon what should be done; that he direct and hasten the various armies from the various provinces to the front, in order that all may put forth their best strength to chase and rout out the enemy. In this way Li Hung Chang may hope to redeem his former errors."

A Military Ball

Troop A, First Cavalry, National Guards of California, will give a ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday night. It will be a full-dress affair, both as regards guests and members of the company. The captain, John Brunson, is a resident of Oakland. The troop was stationed in this city during the late railroad strike, and many of the members made a favorable impression upon citizens with whom they came in contact.

A DESPERATE BURGLARY.

But it Yields the Thieves Very Little Plunder.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—At North Dover last night, four masked men battered down the office door of the C. M. Ovlatt Manufacturing Company, after the night watchman had refused them admission, then bound and gagged the watchman, drilled the safe and blew it open with dynamite. They did not obtain much money.

CHOKED HER PA.

A Death That Looks Much Like a Murder.

Officials Intend to Investigate the Affair.

A Feeble Old Man Brutally Beaten by His Daughter.

CHICAGO, October 22.—David Higgins, a bricklayer, aged 51 years, living at 178 Sangamon street, was found dead in his room last night.

The circumstances surrounding his death are so suspicious that his son-in-law, Richard Stapleton, and his daughter Minnie are being held by the Desplaines street police to await for a coroner's inquest.

The police say that Stapleton made this statement when arrested:

"My wife and her father have been drunk for several days. Saturday morning they had a row, in which Minnie choked her pa. After she let him go he threw himself on the cot and complained of feeling sick. We went away, and when we returned last night found him dead."

This story of Stapleton's does not coincide with that told by Emil Strong, who owns the house in which Higgins died.

Strong averred that no penalty of the law was severe enough to punish Mrs. Stapleton, and that her husband was included in the same category. Strong said:

"Five weeks ago old man Higgins rented a room of me. A week ago Richard Stapleton and his wife came to occupy the same room with Higgins, the woman being the old man's daughter. She's everything a woman should not be; her husband is no better a man. That morning about 1 o'clock I heard Higgins out in the hall. I took him into my room and made a bed for him on the sofa. He said he was afraid Stapleton would kill him, and that his daughter choked him so he could not sleep. The next day I turned the Stapletons out. They returned shortly after, and have since abused the old man shamefully."

Strong stated that the woman and Stapleton were accustomed to beat and choke the old man cruelly, and the dead man's face being almost unrecognizable from discoloration when found lends color to the belief that he was murdered by the couple.

BURNT ALIVE.

Four Children Perish in a Blazing House.

The Fire Broke Out While They Were Asleep.

Midnight Catastrophe at an Honored Man's Home.

NYACK, N. Y., October 22.—The four grandchildren of Rev. William Taylor, the Methodist missionary bishop of Africa, perished in the burning of the elegant house of their father, Ross Taylor of South Nyack, early today.

In addition, one man was so badly burned that he can scarcely recover and two others are seriously injured.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when Mrs. Taylor was awakened by the smoke.

She aroused her husband, the Rev. Ross Taylor.

He found the halls filled with smoke, the fire having obtained great headway.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor groped through the suffocating smoke to the open air, without having been able to extend a helping hand to their six children or others of the household.

As Mr. and Mrs. Taylor emerged the fire department arrived.

The energies of all were directed toward the rescue of those who remained in the doomed structure.

The two eldest Taylor children, Stewart and William, were aroused, and jumping from the window, were caught without being seriously injured.

Harriet aged 11, Ada aged 9, Arthur aged 7, Schultz 5, perished.

Their bodies were recovered three hours later.

Michael Mulady, a laborer, and Edward Link and William Ruth, house decorators, sleeping in the third story, jumped for their lives.

Mulady was fatally hurt. Ruth and Link sustained serious injuries, but will probably recover.

The house had been recently built and the interior decorations were still incomplete.

FIXING UP.

Supervisors Are Preparing for the Election.

Arrangements Being Made for Ballot Boxes.

Application for More Tellers in the Seventh Ward.

The Supervisors met this morning. Owing to the absence of Supervisor Morgan the chair was occupied by Mr. Bailey. All the other members of the board were in attendance.

Mrs. Frederick made application for relief for Miss M. Lynch, an invalid at 663 Tenth street, who has recently undergone a dangerous surgical operation. The matter was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

B. T. Weir asked for relief for P. Boccacio, who resides on Myrtle street, below Third. The request was granted and Boccacio was allowed to go to the Infirmary.

Mrs. Mary Erickson, residing at 1771 Fifth, with two children, asked for temporary relief, and the request was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The request of Annie Willet of 837 Washington street for relief was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

Albert Dijore, aged 24 years, residing on Second street, between Broadway and Franklin street, said he did not want to go the infirmary, but desires to receive some food. His case was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

H. F. Haskins, aged 58 years, a native of Illinois, residing at 1769 Goss street, also asked for relief, and the case was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

THE SUNOL ROAD.

C. M. Day, J. Wellbyle and G. W. Nusbaumer, viewers of the proposed widening of the county road between Sunol and Pleasanton, reported that the proposed widening is a public necessity. The cost of the improvement would be about $800, $358 50 of which would be paid for land to Charles Felton and Charles Hadsell. A resolution was adopted transferring $358 50 from the General Road District fund to the Road Damage fund, for the payment of Messrs. Hadsell and Felton.

County Surveyor Nusbaumer filed a map showing the obstructing fence on Fruit Vale avenue complained of by W. G. Henshaw and others. The question of removing the obstruction was referred to Supervisor Martin.

Mrs. Ella Sleeper of 779 Twelfth street, said her husband is sick and she is unable to support her three children. The application was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

Dr. Stratton recommended that a truss be allowed Mrs. M. Jesus and the matter was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The Oakland Paving Company made another demand for the refunding of the duplicate poll tax, which had been collected from a number of their men. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. J. C. Plunkett expressing appreciation for the tribute paid by the Supervisors to the memory of her husband, the late Supervisor J. C. Plunkett. The letter was called forth by the receipt by Mrs. Plunkett of a beautifully engrossed memorial card, setting forth the good qualities of the late Supervisor, and signed by all the members who served with him on the board. Mrs. Plunkett's note was ordered spread upon the minutes of the board.

CREDITS FOR PRISONERS.

On request, William Adams, in jail for battery, and L. E. Farney, imprisoned for petty larceny, were granted credits for good behavior while under sentence.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted to H. C. Ey, Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; John Tierney, Broadway and Columbia avenue; and P. Carreras, Clifton street and Claremont avenue.

Applications for liquor licenses were referred to the Judiciary Committee as follows: J. Webb, Forty-first street and San Pablo avenue; Simon Coste, Mission San Jose; Julius Wildermuth, Newark; and I. V. Rolph, Alvarado.

On motion of Supervisor Johnston, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a concrete culvert at College avenue and Vernon street. The bids will be opened November 5th.

On motion of Supervisor Martin, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, plans and specifications for a concrete culvert at the head of Fruit Vale avenue. These bids will also be opened November 5th.

The clerk was instructed to furnish Justice Larue with a docket.

A certified copy of the finding of the Superior Court in the suit of E. L. Lawrence, Constable, vs. Alameda county was read. It showed that Lawrence had secured judgment as fees and costs amounting to $313 70. Filed.

ELECTION TELLERS.

Thomas Jeffress wanted to know whether or not the Supervisors could allow additional tellers to be appointed at the election on the 6th of next month in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward. He said that, under the law, it is contemplated that a voting precinct shall not contain more than 200 voters. The Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward he said, at the last election polled 625 votes and required three days and two nights for the Election Board to count them. This year he claimed there would be at least 700 votes polled in that precinct and it would require at least four days and nights to count them. No election board, he thought, could stand the work. In San Francisco, he said, the inspectors of election have the power to appoint two additional tellers to aid in the canvass of the vote, and if additional tellers were appointed here it would enable the canvass of the vote to be carried out with a great deal of dispatch.

Supervisor Johnston said that if tellers should be appointed in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward they would also have to be appointed in the Third precinct in Berkeley, where about the same number of voters are to be accommodated as are in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward.

The question raised by Mr. Jeffress was referred to the District Attorney.

BALLOT BOXES NEEDED.

Supervisor Pelouze notified the board that there is a shortage in ballot boxes and that in Mr. Bailey's district only eight out of fifteen boxes required could be located. He claimed that they had not been returned after the last election. The clerk was notified to ascertain where ballot boxes could be made according to the plan now in use.

Mrs. D. Ferguson, who resides in the little ark on Twelfth street, near Lake Merritt, asked for groceries. This is the little woman who, about a year ago, claimed that she had been beaten, bound and robbed in her house while her husband was absent for a few moments. The request was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

A resolution was adopted directing the County Treasurer to pay to the clerk of the Superior Court, for R. T. Pope, the sum of $1 as damages in the matter of opening a road in Murray township.

CHASING THE COOK.

No More Deaths Yet From the Colusa Poisoning.

COLUSA, Cal., October 22. — Twenty-two inmates of the County Hospital were poisoned yesterday morning by strychnine in their coffee.

One man died.

No farther deaths have resulted from the poisoning of the inmates of the County Hospital.

Mrs. Ingram, the wife of the superintendent, is still very sick, but will recover.

The accepted theory is that the discharged Chinese cook, who had trouble with the steward, entered the hospital during the night and put strychnine in a can of ground coffee.

There are no arrests as yet.

MARCHED AWAY.

The Industrials Start Out for San Leandro.

Santa Clara's Sheriff Will Head Them Off

A Would-Be Recruit Is Subjected to a Bad Beating.

Thirty enthusiastic Industrials will camp at San Leandro tonight. They are the pick of the Eighth street army, and as stated in the TRIBUNE several days ago, they are they will march to San Jose despite the Sheriff of Santa Clara and all his hosts.

Shortly after lunch today the wealers emerged from their tent and, forming in military order, marched eastward to—possibly Santa Clara. They expect to return in a few days and will possibly make another excursion into the country before the election.

Yesterday "General" Kelley was seized with a fit of morality. Some of his privates did not see the sense of the proper, so they went to it. One of the men ejected proceeded to ask things here for the leaders. His name is Martin and he is one of "General" Frye's last year's crop of Industrials. Yesterday morning he came over from San Francisco to join Kelley's wealers.

He immediately proceeded to the tent but met with a cold reception. He claims that Kelley gave orders to kill the intruder unless he left at once.

Very naturally the would-be recruit vanished in a hurry. After thinking the matter over he concluded to return and take his chances. Now he wishes he hadn't.

A miscellaneous crowd of officers and privates jumped the persistent visitor and gave him a severe trouncing. In fact, before he made his escape he was badly used up. He complained to the police, and was told to swear to a complaint. Thus far he has failed to do so.

The wealers deny Martin's story, but the cuts and bruises on the injured man's head and face are pretty strong evidence in his favor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Republican Excursionists Injured at Tippecanoe.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., October 20.—The Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston train, bearing excursionists to the Republican meeting at Charleroi, was wrecked at Tippecanoe.

The front truck of the third car dropped and three cars jumped the track.

The passengers jumped wildly from the train.

John Thomas Green, colored, of Uniontown, had his leg broken.

Evan Lynn of Uniontown had some bones broken.

Benjamin Kettering of Greensburg had an ankle broken.

None of them were fatally injured.

DIRECTUM WITHDRAWS.

The Great Horse Has Probably Broken Down.

BOSTON, Mass., October 20. — Alix has won the first heat in the race with Directum by three lengths. Time, 2.09.

In the second heat Alix won handily by four lengths. Time, 2:14¾.

The race ended with the second heat, when Directum was withdrawn. He is under the care of a veterinary surgeon.

J. R. Talcott Takes a Stand.

An Interesting Meeting at Fruit Vale.

Republican Gatherings All Over the County.

Wind-Up Work Is Being Done by the Office Seekers.

The Republicans of Fruit Vale held a big meeting at Blake's Hall Saturday night. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Valentine G. Hush acted as chairman. During the evening speeches were made by A. L. Frick, E. C. Hart, Judge Post and J. R. Talcott.

Mr. Talcott is a candidate for Supervisor, and much interest was taken in his speech. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been asked in an open letter received October 7, 1894, signed by ten prominent citizens, to tell the people of Fruit Vale my views upon town incorporation, and also to pledge myself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section (in the event of my election as Supervisor), and, that you may understand fully my position in this matter, I will ask your indulgence while I read from this letter the two questions submitted:

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it be backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

Second.—Pending such town incorporation, will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section?

Recognizing the high standing and general reputation for fairness of the signers of this leter, I read carefully the questions asked, and became satisfied that I could not give (as demanded) a "definite and unqualified" answer to the first question in its present form. (One of the reasons being that they did not outline the proposed boundaries of their scheme.) You will remember that during the past year, no less than three distinct schemes, for a town of the sixth class, have been put forward in Fruit Vale, the petitions, for each, published for weeks in the local paper, and no two having the same boundary lines.

Not wishing to delay matters by returning the letter to the writers for revision I, on October 8th, addressed to each signer the following letter:

"In reply to the open letter of yourself and friends, will say that I desire to meet all of you gentlemen together before giving the required answer to the public. I would be pleased to invite another ten men of equally good standing, thoroughly representative residents of Fruit Vale Road district to meet with us.

"I feel that you have opened the way to a more complete understanding of each other's views, and, while we may differ in some minor details, am fully satisfied that the common interest of us all is in the same direction and that we may not be so far apart when we consider the matter, without prejudice, together.

"Hoping this will meet the views of you all, and that you will allow me to name some central place of meeting, and as soon as consistent with other appointments now made. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "J. R. TALCOTT."

Imagine my surprise when before breakfast the following morning, October 9th, I read in a leading Democratic organ the report of an interview with one of the signers of the open letter. The only answer, other than this, which I have received direct from any of these gentlemen, I now hold in my hand. It is under date of October 10th, and is as follows:

"J. R. Talcott, Esq., Fruit Vale. DEAR SIR:—Your note of October 8th in reply to ours of a previous date is at hand. With regard to meeting ten other gentlemen and yourself, "at a time consistent with your other appointments" to discuss the questions propounded to you in our letter, is, to say the least, very indefinite, and, as it seems to us, entirely unnecessary. The questions are plain, simple and easily understood, and should not require a conference with twenty gentlemen before answering.

"You must long since have made up your mind upon the questions asked, otherwise you are not a fit person for our Supervisor.

"Our object in asking them was to learn positively your views upon these important questions, and to learn how you will act regarding them if elected, not to discuss them with you, and ten of your friends. The time for discussion is past, we want to know where you stand.

"A general complaint made against you is that it is next to impossible to get a direct answer from you on any public question, and the tenor of your letter seems to confirm this.

"We again ask for replies to our questions, and however brief your answers may be we hope they will be definite, without equivocation, and not needing further explanation, so that we can govern ourselves accordingly. Respectfully,

"JOHN LLOYD,

"For self, and on behalf of other signers of letter, etc."

Before answering this communication I learned upon good authority that although this letter appeared to be a second letter from the same gentleman who signed the first one, as a matter of fact it was not so. Consequently the answer was intended to be very plain. He put it in full:

"FRUIT VALE, October 14, 1894.

"To John Lloyd, Esq., Fruit Vale—DEAR SIR: Your letter to me of October 13th, signed by yourself, and on behalf of other signers of a communication of other signers of October 1, 1894, is unpaid, under date of October 1, 1894, is unpaid, under date of I address you personally in tone, and creditably informed that because I am one of the above referred to of the signers of the above referred to of the communication of October 1, 1894, our letter to me of October that your written and signed by you with was knowledge or authority. Due it their communication above referred to and of me a written pledge, which I and lawyer, should know would be filed a me to give under the election laws Oct

State. I deny the right of any man, or set of men, to require written or other pledges from me as a candidate, touching questions that may come before the Board of Supervisors in their official capacity. Upon the receipt of the communication of October 1st, heretofore referred to, which I received on October 7th, believing that it would be illegal for me to give the written pledge demanded, and being desirous that the signers of that communication should have a complete understanding as to my position on these questions, I addressed to each of them on October 8, 1894, a letter requesting them to meet me for that purpose, which you, in your letter of October 10th, say is "entirely unnecessary," as "the time for discussion is passed." In this we differ—and while I have refrained for the reason heretofore stated, from pledging myself, in the manner demanded, it is my intention to clearly define my position at a public meeting, to be held at Fruit Vale at an early date, of which due notice will be given.

"Respectfully yours,

"J. R. TALCOTT."

And I will state that each one of the gentlemen signing that letter received a written invitation to be here tonight.

And now fellow-citizens, agreeable to my promise, I am before you tonight to answer as well as I can the questions in their present form.

"First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it is backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

My Friends: I desire to be entirely frank with you. Should the scheme referred to in this question be originated in the same manner as the one taken before the Board of Supervisors this present session, that is, without consulting any person upon the outskirts of the town, and should its projectors proceed to carry it out in the same manner and upon the same lines, I have as yet, as a citizen, seen no reason to materially change my opinion of its merits. On the other hand, if at any time it appears that a considerable number of the best citizens of Fruit Vale desire incorporation into a sixth class town, and go about it in a business way, with committees of representative residents and tax payers from each section of the proposed town, all meeting together for the common good, and if they should under such circumstances decide to go ahead, I have no idea but that self interest alone would compel me to join with them, even though my judgment should be wavering.

I believe that this section of country has a bright future before it and I think that when you stop to consider the matter that you will see that my every interest is in line with anything that will benefit this whole community. Local pride makes many of you zealous in protecting the interests of Fruit Vale avenue. This is as it should be. Others are equally interested for San Leandro road. Others still would like something done on Sherman street and the Redwood road, and so on through all sections of this road district.

No; I shall not oppose incorporation when you take all parties in interest into your councils and I find that the majority are in favor of it.

In answer to the second question, which is: "Pending such town incorporation will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund contributed by the section are used for the improvement of this section?" will say that if by "this section" Fruit Vale Road District is meant I can answer it easily, for if elected to the office of Supervisor I am determined to have the road taxes, so far as I have the power, expended in the district where collected, and shall use my best endeavors to have the road funds honestly expended and fairly distributed in all sections of each and every road district and to, so far as possible consistent with economy, distribute the work of each road district among its own citizens. Of course everyone acknowledges the necessity of giving more attention to the main thoroughfares, but all county roads must come in for a share.

It may be of interest to you to know that I deem it essential to have in each road district some competent person to look after its wants in detail. If ever there was economy needed in the administration of the county business it is in times like the present and you can depend upon it that I fully appreciate this fact.

Many of us are going to the Tax Collector's rooms this year with heavy hearts caused by nearly empty purses.—Not a pleasant task in good times, it becomes a burden now. If elected, I shall surely help what I can to make the burden lighter until such times as we can afford to be generous. I expect to give all the time necessary to the work, and good counsel from public-spirited citizens will always be acceptable. I hope I have made plain my views on two questions asked.

Before closing I desire to say to my friend, Mr. Lloyd, that the position taken by me in my letter to him of October 14, 1894, (refusing his demand for written pledges) I am informed has been declared to be sound law by leading judges on both the San Francisco and Alameda county benches, and also by eminent attorneys who practice before them; and I think on further consideration he will so see it. Of one thing further I wish to say a word. I don't know as it is good judgment to do so, for many reasons; but I have heard so often during this campaign that "if so and so was not working for you, my neighbors would support you to a man." I ask, "Why does that make any difference? Is not so and so a man of judgment, a good business man, a worthy citizen and one who has contributed more than either of us to the good of the county?" I am told "Yes, but you know he is getting more than his share of the county business now and my neighbors, who don't know you, think he is working for you because he expects to control you in the board."

"I have known Mr. So and So many years, not very intimately, 'tis true, but I think I know him well enough to know that he would be almost the last man to ask of me to violate my oath as a Supervisor, and that is more than I can say of some of his enemies. I wish to tell you in all candor that I have made no promises, and shall make none, being determined, if elected, to do the business of the county with the same care and attention to detail that I have done my own business in the years I have been in your midst. I have made many mistakes in my own business, and no doubt would make others were I made Supervisor, and were it lawful I could not, and neither could you afford to have me pledged to him or even against him.

One thing more and I have done. It is not perhaps in good taste to criticise in any way the work of former or present Boards of Supervisors, and it is not a part of my policy to do so. I am willing, however, to go on record, notwithstanding the violent opposition of some of the gentlemen who live in the vicinity, against the system which has been pursued in robbing the creek bed on Fruit Vale avenue, for the sake of obtaining material which is, of itself, of doubtful value when placed upon any of the main thoroughfares. It is high time this practice was stopped, and material of better quality procured. This is in accord with my best judgment, many times publicly expressed in years gone by, and presented now without solicitation by or suggestion from any person.

I thank you for your kind attention, and ask you if you are satisfied with the explanation of my position, to assist in the selection of a Fruit Vale representative in the Board of Supervisors on the 6th of next November.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fatal Collision on the Hudson

NEW YORK, October 20.—In a dense fog that hung over the river and harbor today the tugboat F. A. Kirkham was sunk off the Battery by a collision with Jersey Central Railroad Company's ferryboat Mauch Chunk. One man was drowned. The Mauch Chunk fished out another of the crew and a third was saved by a passing tug.

Details of the Great Naval Battle.

The Emperor's Insult to Li Hung Chang.

He Still Has a Few Chances Left to Redeem Himself.

Special Correspondence of the Associated Press (per steamers China and Australia.)

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — Long before the rejoicing over the capture of Phyong Yang had begun to subside Japan was excited to fresh enthusiasm by the news of a naval victory of even greater significance, in the northeastern inlet of the Yellow sea. On the 16th of September Admiral Ito, commanding the squadron stationed at the mouth of the Taitong, or Daido river, was notified that a large Chinese fleet had arrived at the Yalu river, in charge of transports conveying reinforcements to the army on the frontier.

He set sail the following morning with all the men-of-war that could be immediately summoned, namely: The Matsushima, flagship; Hashidate, Itsukushima, Yoshino, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Naniwa, Chiyoda, Fuso, Akagi and Hiyei. Accompanying these eleven was the Saikio, a merchant steamer taken into the national service since the war began, of no strength and not intended for heavy work in action. She would not have joined the expedition but for the desire of Admiral Viscount Kabayma, the naval chief of the staff, who, being on a visit of inspection at the north, could not resist the temptation to witness the expected engagement. Between 12 and 1 o'clock fourteen Chinese ships and six torpedo boats were discovered a little south of a harbor called Talkosan in Japanese pronunciation and east of Kaiyoto island.

The ships were the Ting Yuen, flag; Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chih Yuen, Ping Yuen, Chao Yuen, Yang Wei, Kwang-Kak, Wei Yuen, Kwang Ping and two others whose names are still unknown. Of these the first two carried Krupp guns of thirty centimetre and fifteen centimetre. The next four carried twenty-one centimetre and fifteen centimetre Krupps and the next two had twenty-five ton Armstrongs.

Contrary to anticipation they advanced unhesitatingly and commenced to fire when four thousand metres distant from the Japanese, who reserved their first discharge until another thousand metres had been covered. The serious fighting began between the vessels of the China right and the Japanese left, the flagships on either side leading the onset. By 1 o'clock the contest was general. Both lines maintained their position steadily for an hour, when the Chinese showed signs of wavering. Three of their ships, either by accident or design, had for some time been made special objects of attack, and though they contended vigorously to the last, they were sunk one after another, the crews climbing into the rigging as each descended and signaling wildly for help to both their companions and assailants. They were the Lai Yuen, Caih Yuen and Chao Yuen.

As soon as they were disposed of the foremost Japanese ships directed their assault against the immense German-built vessels at the head of the Chinese column, but for a long time without effect upon the heavy steel plating which protected them.

At last, however, a lucky shell struck the Ting Yuen a little above the water, and seemed to the Japanese observers to pierce the armor through and through. Their belief that this feat had been achieved was increased when a thick body of smoke was seen rising from the flagship, and although no diminution of activity on board was perceptible, they were convinced that she had been set on fire and remained burning up to the hour of her hasty departure.

Whatever her condition, she succeeded in inflicting heavy punishment upon her chief adversary. The Matsushima was struck by two twelve-inch shells, the first of which upset and battered out of shape one of her large guns, while the second exploded an ammunition box, dealing dreadful havoc among the crew, and starting a fire which was subdued only with great difficulty.

In consequence of these mishaps, the Matsushima withdrew from the scene and moved toward the Taitong, Admiral Ito transferring his flag to the Hashidate.

Meanwhile, three other Japanese vessels had undergone extremely rough treatment. The Saikio, which Viscount Kabayama persisted in keeping in the thick of the fight, notwithstanding her obvious unsuitability for such duty, lost control of her rudder, and found herself in much closer proximity than was desirable to the Ting Yuen and Chen Yuen. As she could not avoid them, she made directly for them, misleading them, it is supposed, into the belief that she was about to ram them. The Japanese are of the opinion that it was under this illusion that the two huge ships separated, allowing the Saikio a passage of about forty fathoms wide, through which to escape.

Torpedoes were discharged at her as she went by, but without avail. The Hiyei having been unable, by means of her slowness, to keep pace with the rest of the fleet, became a conspicuous object to the Chinese, and was so deluged with missiles that she was set on fire before the afternoon was half over. Her small crew was greatly reduced, and as the surgeon was among the wounded the sufferers could not be properly cared for. When she had lost twenty killed and thirty-four wounded she fell out of line and turned toward the Taitong.

But meeting a transport on the way, she obtained assistance in quenching the flames, handed over the wounded, and returned with all the speed she could make, not waiting for a doctor, to take up her work where she had left off. In this hope she was disappointed, for the enemy had flown, and the battle was over. It is recorded that when steaming away in flames she was thrice in great danger from torpedoes, but skillfully escaped by employing a device described in a recent magazine account of an imaginary naval fight in South America. To most readers of that sketch, the expedient of stopping a projectile by turning upon it a converging fire of shot and shell seemed purely fictitious; yet this is precisely what the Hiyei is said to have done in at least one instance.

About the time when Admiral Ito left the Matsushima the disorder in the Chinese fleet plainly indicated that the contest could not be prolonged on their side. Three ships had been sunk and a fourth, the Yang Wei, had been half destroyed and abandoned. Besides the Ting Yuen two others were on fire, and the entire force was thoroughly demoralized. A little after 5 o'clock the flagship took the lead in retreat toward the home stations. Four fast-steaming Japanese cruisers were detailed to follow and if possible to cut off their escape. But the torpedoes had to be reckoned with, and the possibility of being struck by one of them in the night made it imperative that the Japanese should exercise caution. Morning found them at the mouth of the Gulf of Pechili, with no ship of the enemy in sight.

They steamed back to Kaiyoto island, keeping a keen lookout on the way, but the Chinese had evidently reached a safe place of refuge. The greater part of the Japanese squadron had reconvened near Taikosan harbor, on the chance of getting another fight, bringing this time some torpedo boats to co-operate. The need of them was so greatly felt on the previous day that it is safe to say no large body of Japanese ships will ever again sail without these essential adjuncts. One of them was now put to a practical if somewhat inglorious use in breaking up the Yang Wei, deserted and unfit for further service.

Examination shows that none of the Japanese vessels received damages that cannot be repaired with slight cost or labor. All but the four referred to were so free from injury that they could have gone into action afresh the following day.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE.

An extraordinary session of Parliament has been called by the Emperor to meet at Hiroshima, October 15th, and to last seven days. The summons states that the co-operation of the National Representatives and their consent to the war expenditures are recognized as necessary by the Sovereign. No other subject but war supplies is to occupy the attention of the Diet. As no large building is available in Hiroshima, it is proposed that the meetings be held in a huge tent.

The Prime Minister and Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs, Finance and Justice are in attendance upon the Emperor at Hiroshima, but Government business continues to be conducted at Tokio.

The Empress, always active in movements of mercy and charity, has called the ladies of the court to assist her, as patroness of the Red Cross Association, in collecting hospital supplies and preparing lint, bandages, etc., for the needy of the wounded in Corea. By her Majesty's express desire all articles thus provided and sent from the Palace are to be used for Japanese, Chinese and Coreans alike. In a similar spirit a notification has been issued by the Minister of War calling attention to the principles of the Geneva convention, to which Japan became a party in 1886, and admonishing the army that "However cruel and vindictive the enemy may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rules of civilization; his disabled succored, and his captured kindly and considerately protected." Also that "gentle treatment is due to those who offer no resistance to our arms," and that even the body of a dead foe should receive respect." Although China has not subscribed to the convention, and her soldiers may therefore behave inhumanly, no Japanese must retaliate but "bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their August sovereign, and display charity as well as courage."

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Warnings of punishment in store for Li Hung Chang in consequence of the repeated defeats suffered by the Chinese Army and Navy, had several times been sent forth from Pekin, but the foreign public has been slow to credit the possibility of an ill advised a proceeding.

That the rules of a system which condemns every official to disgrace in the event of failure in his enterprises, should be applied to the chief subject of the enterprise, or that the Imperial authority could be so injudiciously exercised as to fasten ignominy upon a statesman and soldier to whom the reigning house owes all the power it possesses, seemed too great a departure from propriety for the court to sanction. But the wrath of the Emperor has been kindled, and his displeasure manifests itself in a decree proclaimed on the 17th of September, and published in Shanghai the next day, the full text of which is as follows:

"The Wojen, having broken faith with Corea and forcibly occupied that country, the throne sympathized with its tributary kingdom in her distress and so raised an army to attack the common enemy. Upon Li Hung Chang, Imperial High Commissioner of the Peiyang, having chief control of the forces there, rested the entire burden of being prepared for emergencies, but, instead, he has been unable to act with speed and promptness in his military preparations, so that much time has elapsed without any important results. He has indeed failed in the trust reposed in him by us. We therefore command that his decoration of the three-eyed peacock feather be plucked off from his hat, and that he be stripped of the yellow riding jacket as a slight punishment.

"It is necessary then that the said Imperial High Commissioner exert himself to the utmost and decide upon what should be done; that he direct and hasten the various armies from the various provinces to the front, in order that all may put forth their best strength to chase and root out the enemy. In this way Li Hung Chang may hope to redeem his former errors."

A Military Ball.

Troop A, First Cavalry, National Guards of California, will give a ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday night. It will be a full-dress affair, both as regards guests and members of the company. The captain, John Brunson, is a resident of Oakland. The troop was stationed in this city during the late railroad strike, and many of the members made a favorable impression upon citizens with whom they came in contact.

A DESPERATE BURGLARY.

But It Yields the Thieves Very Little Plunder.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—At North Dover last night, four masked men battered down the office door of the C. M. Ovlatt Manufacturing Company, after the night watchman had refused them admission, then bound and gagged the watchman, drilled the safe and blew it open with dynamite. They did not obtain much money.

CHOKED HER PA.

A Death That Looks Much Like a Murder.

Officials Intend to Investigate the Affair.

A Feeble Old Man Brutally Beaten by His Daughter.

CHICAGO, October 22.—David Higgins, a bricklayer, aged 51 years, living at 178 Sangamon street, was found dead in his room last night.

The circumstances surrounding his death are so suspicious that his son-in-law, Richard Stapleton, and his daughter Minnie are being held by the Desplaines street police to await for a coroner's inquest.

The police say that Stapleton made this statement when arrested:

"My wife and her father have been drunk for several days. Saturday morning they had a row, in which Minnie choked her pa. After she let him go he threw himself on the cot and complained of feeling sick. We went away, and when we returned last night found him dead."

This story of Stapleton's does not coincide with that told by Emil Strong, who owns the house in which Higgins died.

Strong averred that no penalty of the law was severe enough to punish Mrs. Stapleton, and that her husband was included in the same category. Strong said:

"Five weeks ago old man Higgins rented a room of me. A week ago Richard Stapleton and his wife came to occupy the same room with Higgins, the woman being the old man's daughter. She's everything a woman should not be; her husband is no better a man. That morning about 1 o'clock I heard Higgins out in the hall. I took him into my room and made a bed for him on the sofa. He said he was afraid Stapleton would kill him, and that his daughter choked him so he could not sleep. The next day I turned the Stapletons out. They returned shortly after, and have since abused the old man shamefully."

Strong stated that the woman and Stapleton were accustomed to beat and choke the old man cruelly, and the dead man's face being almost unrecognizable from discoloration when found lends color to the belief that he was murdered by the couple.

BURNT ALIVE.

Four Children Perish in a Blazing House.

The Fire Broke Out While They Were Asleep.

Midnight Catastrophe at an Honored Man's Home.

NYACK, N. Y., October 22.—The four grandchildren of Rev. William Taylor, the Methodist missionary Bishop of Africa, perished in the burning of the elegant house of their father, Ross Taylor of South Nyack, early today.

In addition, one man was so badly burned that he can scarcely recover and two others are seriously injured.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when Mrs. Taylor was awakened by the smoke.

She aroused her husband, the Rev. Ross Taylor.

He found the halls filled with smoke, the fire having obtained great headway.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor groped through the suffocating smoke to the open air, without having been able to extend a helping hand to their six children or others of the household.

As Mr. and Mrs. Taylor emerged the fire department arrived.

The energies of all were directed toward the rescue of those who remained in the doomed structure.

The two eldest Taylor children, Stewart and William, were aroused, and jumping from the window, were caught without being seriously injured.

Harriet aged 11, Ada aged 9, Arthur aged 7, Schultz 5, perished.

Their bodies were recovered three hours later.

Michael Mulady, a laborer, and Edward Link and William Ruth, house decorators, sleeping in the third story, jumped for their lives.

Mulady was fatally hurt. Ruth and Link sustained serious injuries, but will probably recover.

The house had been recently built and the interior decorations were still incomplete.

FIXING UP.

Supervisors Are Preparing for the Election.

Arrangements Being Made for Ballot Boxes.

Application for More Tellers in the Seventh Ward.

The Supervisors met this morning. Owing to the absence of Supervisor Morgan the chair was occupied by Mr. Bailey. All the other members of the board were in attendance.

Mrs. Frederick made application for relief for Miss M. Lynch, an invalid at 663 Tenth street, who has recently undergone a dangerous surgical operation. The matter was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

B. T. Weir asked for relief for P. Boccacio, who resides on Myrtle street, below Third. The request was granted and Boccacio was allowed to go to the Infirmary.

Mrs. Mary Erickson, residing at 1571 Fifth, with two children, asked for temporary relief, and the request was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The request of Annie Willot of 807 Washington street for relief was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

Albert Dijore, aged 24 years, residing on Second street, between Broadway and Franklin street, said he did not want to go the infirmary, but desired to receive some food. His case was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

H. F. Harkins, aged 58 years, a native of Illinois, residing at 1769 Goss street, also asked for relief, and the case was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

THE SUNOL ROAD.

C. M. Day, J. Wellbye and G. W. Nusbaumer, viewers of the proposed widening of the county road between Sunol and Pleasanton, reported that the proposed widening is a public necessity. The cost of the improvement would be about $800, $358 50 of which would be paid for land to Charles Felton and Charles Hadsell. A resolution was adopted transferring $358 50 from the General Road District fund to the Road Damage fund, for the payment of Messrs. Hadsell and Felton.

County Surveyor Nusbaumer filed a map showing the obstructing fence on Fruit Vale avenue complained of by W. G. Henshaw and others. The question of removing the obstruction was referred to Supervisor Martin.

Mrs. Ella Sleeper of 779 Twelfth street, said her husband is sick and she is unable to support her three children. The application was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

Dr. Stratton recommended that a truss be allowed Mrs. M. Jesus and the matter was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The Oakland Paving Company made another demand for the refunding of the duplicate poll tax, which had been collected from a number of their men. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. J. C. Punkett expressing appreciation for the tribute paid by the Supervisors to the memory of her husband, the late Supervisor J. C. Punkett. The letter was called forth by the receipt by Mrs. Punkett of a beautifully engrossed memorial card, setting forth the good qualities of the late Supervisor, and signed by all the members who served with him on the board. Mrs. Plunkett's note was ordered spread upon the minutes of the board.

CREDITS FOR PRISONERS.

On request, William Adams, in jail for battery, and L. E. Farney, imprisoned for petty larceny, were granted credits for good behavior while under sentence.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted to H. E. Ey, Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; John Tiernoy, Broadway and Columbia avenue; and P. Carrosso, Clifton street and Claremont avenue.

Applications for liquor licenses were referred to the Judiciary Committee as follows: J. Webb, Forty-first street and San Pablo avenue; Simon Coste, Mission San Jose; Julius Wildermuch, Newark; and I. V. Rolph, Alvarado.

On motion of Supervisor Johnston, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a concrete culvert at College avenue and Vernon street. The bids will be opened November 5th.

On motion of Supervisor Martin, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, plans and specifications for a concrete culvert at the head of Fruit Vale avenue. These bids will also be opened November 5th.

The clerk was instructed to furnish Justice Larue with a docket.

A certified copy of the finding of the Superior Court in the suit of E. L. Lawrence, Constable, vs. Alameda county was read. It showed that Lawrence had secured judgment as fees and costs amounting to $312 70. Filed.

ELECTION TELLERS.

Thomas Jeffress wanted to know whether or not the Supervisors could allow additional tellers to be appointed at the election on the 6th of next month in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward. He said that, under the law, it is contemplated that a voting precinct shall not contain more than 200 voters. The Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward he said, at the last election polled 625 votes and required three days and two nights for the Election Board to count them. This year he claimed there would be at least 700 votes polled in that precinct and it would require at least four days and nights to count them. No election board, he thought, could stand the work. In San Francisco, he said, the inspectors of election have the power to appoint two additional tellers to aid in the canvass of the vote, and if additional tellers were appointed here it would enable the canvass of the vote to be carried out with a great deal of dispatch.

Supervisor Johnston said that if tellers should be appointed in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward they would also have to be appointed in the Third precinct in Berkeley, where about the same number of voters are to be accommodated as are in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward.

The question raised by Mr. Jeffress was referred to the District Attorney.

BALLOT BOXES NEEDED.

Supervisor Pelouze notified the board that there is a shortage in ballot boxes and that in Mr. Bailey's district only eight out of fifteen boxes required could be located. He claimed that they had not been returned after the last election. The clerk was notified to ascertain where ballot boxes could be made according to the plan now in use.

Mrs. D. Ferguson, who resides in the little ark on Twelfth street, near Lake Merritt, asked for groceries. This is the little woman who, about a year ago, claimed that she had been beaten, bound and robbed in her house while her husband was absent for a few moments. The request was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

A resolution was adopted directing the County Treasurer to pay to the clerk of the Superior Court, for R. T. Popo, the sum of $1 as damages in the matter of opening a road in Murray township.

CHASING THE COOK.

No More Deaths Yet From the Colusa Poisoning.

COLUSA, Cal., October 22. — Twenty-two inmates of the County Hospital were poisoned yesterday morning by strychnine in their coffee.

One man died.

No further deaths have resulted from the poisoning of the inmates of the County Hospital.

Mrs. Ingram, the wife of the superintendent, is still very sick, but will recover.

The accepted theory is that the discharged Chinese cook, who had trouble with the steward, entered the hospital during the night and put strychnine in a can of ground coffee.

There are no arrests as yet.

MARCHED AWAY.

The Industrials Start Out for San Leandro.

Santa Clara's Sheriff Will Head Them Off.

A Would-Be Recruit Is Subjected to a Bad Beating.

Thirty enthusiastic Industrials will camp at San Leandro tonight. They are the pick of the Eighth street army, and as stated in the TRIBUNE several days ago, they say they will march to San Jose despite the Sheriff of Santa Clara and all his hosts.

Shortly after lunch today the wealers emerged from their tent and, forming in military order, marched eastward to —possibly Santa Clara jail. They expect to return in a few days and will possibly make another excursion into the country before the election.

Yesterday "General" Kelley was seized with a fit of morality. Some of his privates did not please his sense of the proper, so they were fired. One of the men ejected proposes to make things lively for the leaders. His name is Martin and he is one of "General" Frye's last year's crop of Industrials. Yesterday morning he came over from San Francisco to join Kelley's wealers.

He immediately proceeded to the tent but met with a chilly reception. He claims that Kelley gave orders to kill the intruder unless he left at once.

Very naturally the would-be recruit vanished in a hurry. After thinking the matter over he concluded to return and take his chances. Now he wishes he hadn't.

A miscellaneous crowd of officers and privates jumped the persistent visitor and gave him a severe trouncing. In fact, before he made his escape he was badly used up. He complained to the police, and was told to swear to a complaint. Thus far he has failed to do so.

The wealers deny Martin's story, but the cuts and bruises on the injured man's head and face are pretty strong evidence in his favor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Republican Excursionists Injured at Tippecanoe.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., October 20.—The Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston train, bearing excursionists to the Republican meeting at Charleroi, was wrecked at Tippecanoe.

The front truck of the third car dropped and three cars jumped the track.

The passengers jumped wildly from the train.

John Thomas Green, colored, of Uniontown, had his leg broken.

Evans Lynn of Uniontown had some bones broken.

Benjamin Kettering of Greensburg had an ankle broken.

None of them were fatally injured.

DIRECTUM WITHDRAWS.

The Great Horse Has Probably Broken Down.

BOSTON, Mass., October 20. — Alix has won the first heat in the race with Directum by three lengths. Time, 2:09.

In the second heat Alix won handily by four lengths. Time, 2:14¾.

The race ended with the second heat, when Directum was withdrawn. He is under the care of a veterinary surgeon.

Alix may be sent on an exhibition mile.

The judges announced that Alix would trot an exhibition mile with a running mate and that the purse of $11,000 would be given to the mare.

Alix trotted the exhibition mile in 2:07¾.

Far End of the Ragged Brigade.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The so-called Coxey Army paraded, consisting of only eight ragged men with a wagon, and went through Wall street today. Carl Browne, who was the leader, was arrested.

A Gospel Mission.

Special services will be held in the Gospel Mission, 418 Eighth street, led by the converted Jew Evangelist Harry May. Services commence Tuesday at 7:30 P.M.

NEWS BY STEAMER.

Disastrous to Chinese Ships and British Interference.

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — (Per steamer City of Pekin to Honolulu, and steamer Australia to San Francisco, October 20.) There is still great rejoicing here over the Japanese land victory at Pyong-Yang and the naval victory off Yalu river.

Shanghai newspapers report as an undisputed fact that the news has been received of the mutiny of 6000 Chinese troops near the border of Corea and their flat refusal to march in the direction ordered by their officers.

The Cheun, a Chinese transport, was wrecked early in September, while carrying a thousand troops from Ching Kiang to Formosa, and two hundred were drowned.

The surviving soldiers murdered the captain and crew on reaching shore, in revenge for the mismanagement of the ship.

Although the Japanese Government refuses to disclose any damaging facts concerning British Admiral Freemantle his actions are beginning to be freely criticized throughout Japan, even by British residents. After the engagement at Asan, in July, the crew of the Chinese man-of-war, Kwang Yi, abandoned their ship and took refuge on Corean island.

It has been discovered that Admiral Freemantle sent one of his vessels for these men, and caused them to be taken back to China after exacting from them the promise that they would not again serve against Japan. So far as known, the Government at Tokio has made no complaint of this breach of neutrality.

SENATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 7.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State, amending section nine of article thirteen thereof, relative to the State Board of Equalization.

NEWS BY STEAMER.

Disastrous to Chinese Ships and British Interference.

YOKOHAMA, September 30.—(Per steamer City of Pekin to Honolulu, and steamer Australia to San Francisco, October 20.) There is still great rejoicing here over the Japanese land victory at Pgyong-Yang and the naval victory off Yalu river.

Shanghai newspapers report as an undisputed fact that the news has been received of the mutiny of 6000 Chinese troops near the border of Corea and their flat refusal to march in the direction ordered by their officers.

The Chean, a Chinese transport, was wrecked early in September, while carrying a thousand troops from Ching Kiang to Formosa, and two hundred were drowned.

The surviving soldiers murdered the captain and crew on reaching shore, in revenge for the mismanagement of the ship.

Although the Japanese Government refuses to disclose any damaging facts concerning British Admiral Freemantle his actions are beginning to be freely criticized throughout Japan, even by British residents. After the engagement at A[illegible], in July, the crew of the Chinese man-of-war, Kwang Yi, abandoned their ship and took refuge on Corean island.

It has been discovered that Admiral Freemantle sent one of his vessels for them, and caused them to be taken back to China after exacting from them the promise that they would not again serve against Japan. So far as known, the Government at Tokio has made no complaint of this breach of neutrality.

The Controller of State shall be ex officio a member of the Board. The Boards of Supervisors of the several counties of the State shall constitute Boards of Equalization for their respective counties, whose duty it shall be to equalize the valuation of the taxable property in the county for the purpose of taxation; provided, such State and County Boards of Equalization are hereby authorized and empowered, under such rules of notice as the County Boards may prescribe as to the county assessments, and under such rules of notice as the State Board may prescribe as to the action of the State Board, to increase or lower the entire assessment roll, or any assessment contained therein, so as to equalize the assessment of the property contained in said assessment roll, and make the assessment conform to the true value in money of the property contained in said roll; provided, that no Board of Equalization shall raise any mortgage, deed of trust, contract, or other obligation by which a debt is secured, money, or solvent credits, above its face value. The State Board of Equalization elected in eighteen hundred and ninety-four shall continue in office until their successors, as herein provided for, shall be elected and shall qualify.

J. R. Talcott Takes a Stand.

An Interesting Meeting at Fruit Vale.

Republican Gatherings All Over the County.

Wind-Up Work Is Being Done by the Office Seekers.

The Republicans of Fruit Vale held a big meeting at Blake's Hall Saturday night. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Valentine G. Hush acted as chairman. During the evening speeches were made by A. L. Frick, E. C. Hart, Judge Post and J. R. Talcott.

Mr. Talcott is a candidate for Supervisor, and much interest was taken in his speech. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been asked in an open letter received October 7, 1894, signed by ten prominent citizens, to tell the people of Fruit Vale my views upon town incorporation, and also to pledge myself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section (in the event of my election as Supervisor), and, that you may understand fully my position in this matter, I will ask your indulgence while I read from this letter the two questions submitted:

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it be backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

Second.—Pending such town incorporation, will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section?

Recognizing the high standing and general reputation for fairness of the signers of this letter, I read carefully the questions asked, and became satisfied that I could not give (as demanded) a "definite and unqualified" answer to the first question in its present form. (One of the reasons being that they did not outline the proposed boundaries of their scheme.) You will remember that during the past year, no less than three distinct schemes, for a town of the sixth class, have been put forward in Fruit Vale, the petitions, for each published for weeks in the local paper, and no two having the same boundary lines.

Not wishing to delay matters by returning the letter to the writers for revision I, on October 8th, addressed to each signer the following letter:

"In reply to the open letter of yourself and friends, will say that I desire to meet all of you gentlemen together before giving the required answer to the public. I would be pleased to invite another ten men of equally good standing, thoroughly representative residents of Fruit Vale Road district to meet with us.

"I feel that you have opened the way to a more complete understanding of each other's views, and, while we may differ in some minor details, am fully satisfied that the common interest of us all is in the same direction and that we may not be so far apart when we consider the matter, without prejudice, together.

"Hoping this will meet the views of you all, and that you will allow me to name some central place of meeting, and as soon as consistent with other appointments now made. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "J. R. TALCOTT."

Imagine my surprise when before breakfast the following morning, October 9th, I read in a leading Democratic organ the report of an interview with one of the signers of the open letter. The only answer, other than this, which I have received direct from any of those gentlemen, I now hold in my hand. It is under date of October 10th, and is as follows:

"J. R. Talcott, Esq., Fruit Vale. DEAR SIR.—Your note of October 8th in reply to ours of a previous date is at hand. With regard to meeting ten other gentlemen and yourself, 'at a time consistent with your other appointments' to discuss the questions propounded to you in our letter, is, to say the least, very indefinite, and, as it seems to us, entirely unnecessary. The questions are plain, simple and easily understood, and should not require a conference with twenty gentlemen before answering.

"You must long since have made up your mind upon the questions asked, otherwise you are not a fit person for our Supervisor

"Our object in asking them was to learn positively your views upon these important questions, and to learn how you will act regarding them if elected, not to discuss them with you, and ten of your friends. The time for discussion is past, we want to know where you stand.

"A general complaint made against you is that it is next to impossible to get a direct answer from you on any public question, and the tenor of your letter seems to confirm this.

"We again ask for replies to our questions, and however brief your answers may be we hope they will be definite, without qualification, and not needing further explanation, so that we can govern ourselves accordingly. Respectfully,

"JOHN LLOYD,

"For self and on behalf of other signers of letter, etc."

Before answering this communication I learned upon good authority that although this letter appeared to be a second letter from the same gentleman who signed the first one, as a matter of fact it was not so. Consequently my answer was intended to be very plain. I give it in full:

"FRUIT VALE, October 14, 1894.

"To John Lloyd, Fruit Vale—DEAR SIR: Your letter to me of October 10th, signed by yourself, and on behalf of other signers of a communication to me, under date of October 1, 1894, is impertinent in tone, and I address you personally because I am creditably informed that some of the signers of the above referred to your communication of October 1, 1894, claim that your letter to me of October 10th was written and signed by you without their knowledge or authority. The letter and communication above referred to demand of me a written pledge, which you, as a lawyer, should know would be illegal for me to give under the election laws of this State. I deny the right of any man, or set of men, to require written or other pledges from me as a candidate, touching questions that may come before the Board of Supervisors in their official capacity. Upon the receipt of the communication of October 1st, heretofore referred to, which I received on October 7th, believing that it would be illegal for me to give the written pledge demanded, and being desirous that the signers of that communication should have a complete understanding as to my position on these questions, I addressed to each of them on October 8, 1894, a letter requesting them to meet me for that purpose, which you, in your letter of October 10th, say is 'entirely unnecessary,' as 'the time for discussion is passed.' In this we differ—and while I have refrained for the reason heretofore stated, from pledging myself, in the manner demanded, it is my intention to clearly define my position at a public meeting, to be held at Fruit Vale at an early date, of which due notice will be given.

"Respectfully yours,

"J. R. TALCOTT."

And I will state that each one of the gentlemen signing that letter received a written invitation to be here tonight.

And now fellow-citizens, agreeable to my promise, I am before you tonight to answer as well as I can the questions in their present form.

"First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it is backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

My Friends: I desire to be entirely frank with you. Should the scheme referred to in this question be originated in the same manner as the one taken before the Board of Supervisors this present session, that is, without consulting any person upon the outskirts of the town, and should its projectors proceed to carry it out in the same manner and upon the same lines, I have as yet, as a citizen, seen no reason to materially change my opinion of its merits. On the other hand, if at any time it appears that a considerable number of the best citizens of Fruit Vale desire incorporation into a sixth class town, and go about it in a business way, with committees of representative residents and tax payers from each section of the proposed town, all meeting together for the common good, and if they should under such circumstances decide to go ahead, I have no idea but that self interest alone would compel me to join with them, even though my judgment should be wavering.

I believe that this section of country has a bright future before it and I think that when you stop to consider the matter that you will see that my every interest is in line with anything that will benefit this whole community. Local pride makes many of you zealous in protecting the interests of Fruit Vale avenue. This is as it should be. Others are equally interested for San Leandro road. Others still would like something done on Sherman street and the Redwood road, and so on through all sections of this road district.

No; I shall not oppose incorporation when you take all parties in interest into your councils and I find that the majority are in favor of it.

In answer to the second question, which is "Pending such town incorporation will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund contributed by the section are used for the improvement of this section?" will say that if by "this section" Fruit Vale Road District is meant I can answer it easily, for if elected to the office of Supervisor I am determined to have the road taxes, so far as I have the power, expended in the district where collected, and shall use my best endeavors to have the road funds honestly expended and fairly distributed in all sections of each and every road district and to, so far as possible consistent with economy, distribute the work of each road district among its own citizens. Of course everyone acknowledges the necessity of giving more attention to the main thoroughfares, but all county roads must come in for a share.

It may be of interest to you to know that I deem it essential to have in each road district some competent person to look after its wants in detail. If ever there was economy needed in the administration of the county business it is in times like the present and you can depend upon it that I fully appreciate this fact.

Many of us are going to the Tax Collector's rooms this year with heavy hearts caused by nearly empty purses.—Not a pleasant task in good times, it becomes a burden now. If elected, I shall surely help what I can to make the burden lighter until such times as we can afford to be generous. I expect to give all the time necessary to the work, and good counsel from public-spirited citizens will always be acceptable. I hope I have made plain my views on two questions asked.

Before closing I desire to say to my friend, Mr. Lloyd, that the position taken by me in my letter to him of October 14, 1894, (refusing his demand for written pledges) I am informed has been declared to be sound law by leading judges on both the San Francisco and Alameda county benches, and also by eminent attorneys who practice before them; and I think on further consideration he will so see it. Of one thing further I wish to say a word. I don't know as it is good judgment to do so, for many reasons, but I have heard so often during this campaign that "if so and so was not working for you, my neighbors would support you to a man." I ask, "Why does that make any difference? Is not so and so a man of judgment, a good business man, a worthy citizen and one who has contributed more than either of us to the good of the county?" I am told "Yes, but you know he is getting more than his share of the county business now and my neighbors, who don't know you, think he is working for you because he expects to control you in the board."

"I have known Mr. So and So many years, not very intimately, 'tis true, but I think I know him well enough to know that he would be almost the last man to ask of me to violate my oath as a Supervisor, and that is more than I can say of some of his enemies. I wish to tell you in all candor that I have made no promises, and shall make none, being determined, if elected, to do the business of the county with the same care and attention to detail that I have done my own business in the years I have been in your midst. I have made many mistakes in my own business, and no doubt would make others were I made Supervisor, and were it lawful I could not, and neither could you afford to have me pledged to him or even against him.

One thing more and I have done. It is not perhaps in good taste to criticise in any way the work of former or present Boards of Supervisors, and it is not a part of my policy to do so. I am willing, however, to go on record, notwithstanding the violent opposition of some of the gentlemen who live in the vicinity, against the system which has been pursued in robbing the creek bed, on Fruit Vale avenue, for the sake of obtaining material which is, of itself, of doubtful value when placed upon any of the main thoroughfares. It is high time this practice was stopped, and material of better quality procured. This is in accord with my best judgment, many times publicly expressed in years gone by, and presented now without solicitation by or suggestion from any person.

I thank you for your kind attention, and ask you if you are satisfied with the explanation of my position, to assist in the selection of a Fruit Vale representative in the Board of Supervisors on the 6th of next November.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fatal Collision on the Hudson

NEW YORK, October 20.—In a dense fog that hung over the river and harbor today the tugboat F. A. Kirkham was sunk off the Battery by a collision with Jersey Central Railroad Company's ferryboat Mauch Chunk. One man was drowned. The Mauch Chunk fished out another of the crew and a third was saved by a passing tug.

BRAVE.

The Japanese Are Aggressive.

Details of the Great Naval Battle.

The Emperor's Insult to Li Hung Chang.

He Still Has a Few Chances Left to Redeem Himself.

Special Correspondence of the Associated Press (per steamers China and Australia.)

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — Long before the rejoicing over the capture of Phyong Yang had begun to subside Japan was excited to fresh enthusiasm by the news of a naval victory of even greater significance, in the northeastern inlet of the Yellow sea. On the 16th of September Admiral Ito, commanding the squadron stationed at the mouth of the Taitong, or Daido river, was notified that a large Chinese fleet had arrived at the Yalu river, in charge of transports conveying reinforcements to the army on the frontier.

He set sail the following morning with all the men-of-war that could be immediately summoned, namely: The Matsushima, flagship; Hashidate, Itsukushima, Yoshino, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Naniwa, Chiyoda, Fuso, Akagi and Hiyei. Accompanying these eleven was the Saikio, a merchant steamer taken into the national service since the war began, of no strength and not intended for heavy work in action. She would not have joined the expedition but for the desire of Admiral Viscount Kabayma, the naval chief of the staff, who, being on a visit of inspection at the north, could not resist the temptation to witness the expected engagement. Between 12 and 1 o'clock fourteen Chinese ships and six torpedo boats were discovered a little south of a harbor called Taikosan in Japanese pronunciation and east of Kaiyoto island.

The ships were the Ting Yuen, flag; Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chih Yuen, Ping Yuen, Chao Yuen, Yang Wei, Kwang-Kak, Wei Yuen, Kwang Ping and two others whose names are still unknown. Of these the first two carried Krupp guns of thirty centimetre and fifteen centimetre. The next four carried twenty-one centimetre and fifteen centimetre Krupps and the next two had twenty-five ten Armstrongs.

Contrary to anticipation they advanced enthusiastically and commenced to fire when four thousand metres distant from the Japanese, who reserved their first discharge until another thousand metres had been covered. The serious fighting began between the vessels of the China right and the Japanese left, the flagships on either side leading the onset. By 1 o'clock the contest was general. Both lines maintained their position steadily for an hour, when the Chinese showed signs of wavering. Three of their ships, either by accident or design, had for some time been made special objects of attack, and though they contended vigorously to the last, they were sunk one after another, the crews climbing into the rigging as each descended and signaling wildly for help to both their companions and assailants. They were the Lai Yuen, Chih Yuen and Chao Yuen.

As soon as they were disposed of the foremost Japanese ships directed their assault against the immense German-built vessels at the head of the Chinese column, but for a long time without effect upon the heavy steel plating which protected them.

At last, however, a lucky shell struck the Ting Yuen a little above the water, and seemed to the Japanese observers to pierce the armor through and through. Their belief that this feat had been achieved was increased when a thick body of smoke was seen rising from the flagship, and although no diminution of activity on board was perceptible, they were convinced that she had been set on fire and remained burning up to the hour of her hasty departure.

Whatever her condition, she succeeded in inflicting heavy punishment upon her chief adversary. The Matsushima was struck by two twelve-inch shells, the first of which upset and battered out of shape one of her large guns, while the second exploded an ammunition box, dealing dreadful havoc among the crew, and starting a fire which was subdued only with great difficulty.

In consequence of these mishaps, the Matsushima withdrew from the scene and moved toward the Taitong, Admiral Ito transferring his flag to the Hashidate.

Meanwhile, three other Japanese vessels had undergone extremely rough treatment. The Saikio, which Viscount Kabayama persisted in keeping in the thick of the fight, notwithstanding her obvious unsuitability for such duty, lost control of her rudder, and found herself in much closer proximity than was desirable to the Ting Yuen and Chen Yuen. As she could not avoid them, she made directly for them, misleading them, it is supposed, into the belief that she was about to ram them. The Japanese are of the opinion that it was under this illusion that the two huge ships separated, allowing the Saikio a passage of about forty fathoms wide, through which to escape.

Torpedoes were discharged at her as she went by, but without avail. The Hiyei having been unable, by means of her slowness, to keep pace with the rest of the fleet, became a conspicuous object to the Chinese, and was so deluged with missiles that she was set on fire before the afternoon was half over. Her small crew was greatly reduced, and as the surgeon was among the wounded the sufferers could not be properly cared for. When she had lost twenty killed and thirty-four wounded she fell out of line and turned toward the Taitong.

But meeting a transport on the way, she obtained assistance in quenching the flames, handed over the wounded, and returned with all the speed she could make, not waiting for a doctor, to take up her work where she had left off. In this hope she was disappointed, for the enemy had flown, and the battle was over. It is recorded that when steaming away in flames she was thrice in great danger from torpedoes, but skillfully escaped by employing a device described in a recent magazine account of an imaginary naval fight in South America. To most readers of that sketch, the expedient of stopping a projectile by turning upon it a converging fire of shot and shell seemed purely fictitious; yet this is precisely what the Hiyei is said to have done in at least one instance.

About the time when Admiral Ito left the Matsushima the disorder in the Chinese fleet plainly indicated that the contest could not be prolonged on their side. Three ships had been sunk and a fourth, the Yang Wei, had been half destroyed and abandoned. Besides the Ting Yuen two others were on fire, and the entire force was thoroughly demoralized. A little after 5 o'clock the flagship took the lead in retreat toward the home stations. Four fast-steaming Japanese cruisers were detailed to follow and if possible to cut off their escape. But the torpedoes had to be reckoned with, and the possibility of being struck by one of them in the night made it imperative that the Japanese should exercise caution. Morning found them at the mouth of the Gulf of Pechili, with no ship of the enemy in sight.

They steamed back to Kaiyoto island, keeping a keen lookout on the way, but the Chinese had evidently reached a safe place of refuge. The greater part of the Japanese squadron had reconvened near Taikosan harbor, on the chance of getting another fight, bringing this time some torpedo boats to co-operate. The need of them was so greatly felt on the previous day that it is safe to say no large body of Japanese ships will ever again sail without these essential adjuncts. One of them was now put to a practical if somewhat inglorious use in breaking up the Yang Wei, deserted and unfit for further service.

Examination shows that none of the Japanese vessels received damages that cannot be repaired with slight cost or labor. All but the four referred to were so free from injury that they could have gone into action afresh the following day.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE.

An extraordinary session of Parliament has been called by the Emperor to meet at Hiroshima, October 15th, and to last seven days. The summons states that the co-operation of the National Representatives and their consent to the war expenditures are recognized as necessary by the Sovereign. No other subject but war supplies is to occupy the attention of the Diet. As no large building is available in Hiroshima, it is proposed that the meetings be held in a huge tent.

The Prime Minister and Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs, Finance and Justice are in attendance upon the Emperor at Hiroshima, but Government business continues to be conducted at Tokio.

The Empress, always active in movements of mercy and charity, has called the ladies of the court to assist her, as patroness of the Red Cross Association, in collecting hospital supplies and preparing lint, bandages, etc., for the needs of the wounded in Corea. By her Majesty's express desire all articles thus provided and sent from the Palace are to be used for Japanese, Chinese and Coreans alike. In a similar spirit a notification has been issued by the Minister of War calling attention to the principles of the Geneva convention, to which Japan became a party in 1886, and admonishing the army that "However cruel and vindictive the enemy may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rules of civilization; his disabled succored, and his captured kindly and considerately protected." Also that "gentle treatment is due to those who offer no resistance to our arms," and that even the body of a dead foe should receive respect." Although China has not subscribed to the convention, and her soldiers may therefore behave inhumanly, no Japanese must retaliate but "bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their August sovereign, and display charity as well as courage."

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Warnings of punishment in store for Li Hung Chang in consequence of the repeated defeats suffered by the Chinese Army and Navy, had several times been sent forth from Pekin, but the foreign public has been slow to credit the possibility of so ill advised a proceeding.

That the rules of a system which condemns every official to disgrace in the event of failure in his enterprises, should be applied to the chief subject of the enterprise, or that the Imperial authority could be so injudiciously exercised as to fasten ignominy upon a statesman and soldier to whom the reigning house owes all the power it possesses, seemed too great a departure from propriety for the court to sanction. But the wrath of the Emperor has been kindled, and his displeasure manifests itself in a decree proclaimed on the 17th of September, and published in Shanghai the next day, the full text of which is as follows:

"The Wojen, having broken faith with Corea and forcibly occupied that country, the throne sympathized with its tributary kingdom in her distress and so raised an army to attack the common enemy. Upon Li Hung Chang, Imperial High Commissioner of the Peiyang, having chief control of the forces there, rested the entire burden of being prepared for emergencies, but, instead, he has been unable to act with speed and promptness in his military preparations, so that much time has elapsed without any important results. He has indeed failed in the trust reposed in him by us. We therefore command that his decoration of the three-eyed peacock feather be plucked off from his hat, and that he be stripped of the yellow riding jacket as a slight punishment.

"It is necessary then that the said Imperial High Commissioner exert himself to the utmost and decide upon what should be done; that he direct and hasten the various armies from the various provinces to the front, in order that all may put forth their best strength to chase and root out the enemy. In this way Li Hung Chang may hope to redeem his former errors."

A Military Ball.

Troop A, First Cavalry, National Guards of California, will give a ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday night. It will be a full-dress affair, both as regards guests and members of the company. The captain, John Brunson, is a resident of Oakland. The troop was stationed in this city during the late railroad strike, and many of the members made a favorable impression upon citizens with whom they came in contact.

A DESPERATE BURGLARY.

But It Yields the Thieves Very Little Plunder.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—At North Dover last night, four masked men battered down the office door of the C. M. Oviatt Manufacturing Company, after the night watchman had refused them admission, then bound and gagged the watchman, drilled the safe and blew it open with dynamite. They did not obtain much money.

CHOKED HER PA.

A Death That Looks Much Like a Murder.

Officials Intend to Investigate the Affair.

A Feeble Old Man Brutally Beaten by His Daughter.

CHICAGO, October 22.—David Higgins, a bricklayer, aged 51 years, living at 178 Sangamon street, was found dead in his room last night.

The circumstances surrounding his death are so suspicious that his son-in-law, Richard Stapleton, and his daughter Minnie are being held by the Desplaines street police to await for a coroner's inquest.

The police say that Stapleton made this statement when arrested:

"My wife and her father have been drunk for several days. Saturday morning they had a row, in which Minnie choked her pa. After she let him go he threw himself on the cot and complained of feeling sick. We went away, and when we returned last night found him dead."

This story of Stapleton's does not coincide with that told by Emil Strong, who owns the house in which Higgins died.

Strong averred that no penalty of the law was severe enough to punish Mrs. Stapleton, and that her husband was included in the same category. Strong said:

"Five weeks ago old man Higgins rented a room of me. A week ago Richard Stapleton and his wife came to occupy the same room with Higgins, the woman being the old man's daughter. She's everything a woman should not be; her husband is no better a man. That morning about 1 o'clock I heard Higgins out in the hall. I took him into my room and made a bed for him on the sofa. He said he was afraid Stapleton would kill him, and that his daughter choked him so he could not sleep. The next day I turned the Stapletons out. They returned shortly after, and have since abused the old man shamefully."

Strong stated that the woman and Stapleton were accustomed to beat and choke the old man cruelly, and the dead man's face being almost unrecognizable from discoloration when found lends color to the belief that he was murdered by the couple.

BURNT ALIVE.

Four Children Perish in a Blazing House.

The Fire Broke Out While They Were Asleep.

Midnight Catastrophe at an Honored Man's Home.

NYACK, N. Y., October 22.—The four grandchildren of Rev. William Taylor, the Methodist missionary bishop of Africa, perished in the burning of the elegant house of their father, Ross Taylor of South Nyack, early today.

In addition, one man was so badly burned that he can scarcely recover and two others are seriously injured.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when Mrs. Taylor was awakened by the smoke.

She aroused her husband, the Rev. Ross Taylor.

He found the halls filled with smoke, the fire having obtained great headway.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor groped through the suffocating smoke to the open air, without having been able to extend a helping hand to their six children or others of the household.

As Mr. and Mrs. Taylor emerged the fire department arrived.

The energies of all were directed toward the rescue of those who remained in the doomed structure.

The two eldest Taylor children, Stewart and William, were aroused, and jumping from the window, were caught without being seriously injured.

Harriet aged 11, Ada aged 9, Arthur aged 7, Schultz 5, perished.

Their bodies were recovered three hours later.

Michael Mulady, a laborer, and Edward Link and William Ruth, house decorators, sleeping in the third story, jumped for their lives.

Mulady was fatally hurt. Ruth and Link sustained serious injuries, but will probably recover.

The house had been recently built and the interior decorations were still incomplete.

FIXING UP.

Supervisors Are Preparing for the Election.

Arrangements Being Made for Ballot Boxes.

Application for More Tellers in the Seventh Ward.

The Supervisors met this morning. Owing to the absence of Supervisor Morgan the chair was occupied by Mr. Bailey. All the other members of the board were in attendance.

Mrs. Frederick made application for relief for Miss M. Lynch, an invalid at 663 Tenth street, who has recently undergone a dangerous surgical operation. The matter was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

B. T. Weir asked for relief for P. Boccacio, who resides on Myrtle street, below Third. The request was granted and Boccacio was allowed to go to the Infirmary.

Mrs. Mary Erickson, residing at 1571 Fifth, with two children, asked for temporary relief, and the request was referred to Supervisor Palouze.

The request of Annie Willet of 807 Washington street for relief was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

Albert Dijore, aged 24 years, residing on Second street, between Broadway and Franklin street, said he did not want to go the infirmary, but desired to receive some food. His case was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

H. F. Harkins, aged 58 years, a native of Illinois, residing at 1769 Goss street, also asked for relief, and the case was referred to Supervisor Palouze.

THE SUNOL ROAD.

O. M. Day, J. Wellbye and G. W. Nusbaumer, viewers of the proposed widening of the county road between Sunol and Pleasanton, reported that the proposed widening is a public necessity. The cost of the improvement would be about $800, $358 50 of which would be paid for land to Charles Felton and Charles Hadsell. A resolution was adopted transferring $358 50 from the General Road District fund to the Road Damage fund, for the payment of Messrs. Hadsell and Felton.

County Surveyor Nusbaumer filed a map showing the obstructing fence on Fruit Vale avenue complained of by W. G. Henshaw and others. The question of removing the obstruction was referred to Supervisor Martin.

Mrs. Etta Sleeper of 779 Twelfth street, said her husband is sick and she is unable to support her three children. The application was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

Dr. Stratton recommended that a truss be allowed Mrs. M. Josus and the matter was referred to Supervisor Palouze.

The Oakland Paving Company made another demand for the refunding of the duplicate poll tax, which had been collected from a number of their men. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. J. C. Plunkett expressing appreciation for the tribute paid by the Supervisors to the memory of her husband, the late Supervisor J. C. Plunkett. The letter was called forth by the receipt by Mrs. Plunkett of a beautifully engrossed memorial card, setting forth the good qualities of the late Supervisor, and signed by all the members who served with him on the board. Mrs. Plunkett's note was ordered spread upon the minutes of the board.

CREDITS FOR PRISONERS.

On request, William Adams, in jail for battery, and L. E. Farney, imprisoned for petty larceny, were granted credits for good behavior while under sentence.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted to H. E. Ey, Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; John Tierney, Broadway and Columbia avenue; and P. Carreso, Clifton street and Claremont avenue.

Applications for Liquor licenses were referred to the Judiciary Committee as follows: J. Webb, Forty-first street and San Pablo avenue; Simon Coste, Mission San Jose; Julius Wildermuth, Newark; and I. V. Rolph, Alvarado.

On motion of Supervisor Johnston, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a concrete culvert at College avenue and Vernon street. The bids will be opened November 5th.

On motion of Supervisor Martin, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, plans and specifications for a concrete culvert at the head of Fruit Vale avenue. These bids will also be opened November 5th.

The clerk was instructed to furnish Justice Larue with a docket.

A certified copy of the finding of the Superior Court in the suit of E. L. Lawrence, Constable, vs. Alameda county was read. It showed that Lawrence had secured judgment as fees and costs amounting to $313 70. Filed.

ELECTION TELLERS.

Thomas Jeffress wanted to know whether or not the Supervisors could allow additional tellers to be appointed at the election on the 6th of next month in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward. He said that, under the law, it is contemplated that a voting precinct shall not contain more than 200 voters. The Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward he said, at the last election polled 625 votes and required three days and two nights for the Election Board to count them. This year he claimed there would be at least 700 votes polled in that precinct and it would require at least four days and nights to count them. No election board, he thought, could stand the work. In San Francisco, he said, the inspectors of election have the power to appoint two additional tellers to aid in the canvass of the vote, and if additional tellers were appointed here it would enable the canvass of the vote to be carried out with a great deal of dispatch.

Supervisor Johnston said that if tellers should be appointed in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward they would also have to be appointed in the Third precinct in Berkeley, where about the same number of voters are to be accommodated as are in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward.

The question raised by Mr. Jeffress was referred to the District Attorney.

BALLOT BOXES NEEDED.

Supervisor Palouze notified the board that there is a shortage in ballot boxes and that in Mr. Bailey's district only eight out of fifteen boxes required could be located. He claimed that they had not been returned after the last election. The clerk was notified to ascertain where ballot boxes could be made according to the plan now in use.

Mrs. D. Ferguson, who resides in the little ark on Twelfth street, near Lake Merritt, asked for groceries. This is the little woman who, about a year ago, claimed that she had been beaten, bound and robbed in her house while her husband was absent for a few moments. The request was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

A resolution was adopted directing the County Treasurer to pay to the clerk of the Superior Court, for R. T. Pope, the sum of $1 as damages in the matter of opening a road in Murray township.

CHASING THE COOK.

No More Deaths Yet From the Colusa Poisoning.

COLUSA, Cal., October 22.—Twenty-two inmates of the County Hospital were poisoned yesterday morning by strychnine in their coffee.

One man died.

No further deaths have resulted from the poisoning of the inmates of the County Hospital.

Mrs. Ingram, the wife of the superintendent, is still very sick, but will recover.

The accepted theory is that the discharged Chinese cook, who had trouble with the steward, entered the hospital during the night and put strychnine in a can of ground coffee.

There are no arrests as yet.

MARCHED AWAY.

The Industrials Start Out for San Leandro.

Santa Clara's Sheriff Will Head Them Off

A Would-Be Recruit Is Subjected to a Bad Beating.

Thirty enthusiastic industrials will camp at San Leandro tonight. They are the pick of the Eighth street army, and as stated in the TRIBUNE several days ago, they say they will march to San Jose despite the Sheriff of Santa Clara and all his hosts.

Shortly after lunch today the wealers emerged from their tent and, forming in military order, marched eastward to—possibly Santa Clara. They expect to return in a few days and will possibly make another excursion into the country before the election.

Yesterday "General" Kelley was seized with a fit of morality. Some of his privates did not observe [illegible] sense of the proper, so they were fired. One of the men ejected proposes to make things lively for the leaders. His name is Martin and he is one of "General" Frye's last year's crop of Industrials. Yesterday morning he came over from San Francisco to join Kelley's wealers. He immediately proceeded to the tent but met with a chilly reception. He claims that Kelley gave orders to kill the intruder unless he left at once.

Very naturally the would-be recruit vanished in a hurry. After thinking the matter over he concluded to return and take his chances. Now he wishes he hadn't.

A miscellaneous crowd of officers and privates jumped the persistent visitor and gave him a severe trouncing. In fact, before he made his escape he was badly used up. He complained to the police, and was told to swear to a complaint. Thus far he has failed to do so.

The wealers deny Martin's story, but the cuts and bruises on the injured man's head and face are pretty strong evidence in his favor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Republican Excursionists Injured at Tippecanoe.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., October 20.—The Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston train, bearing excursionists to the Republican meeting at Charleroi, was wrecked at Tippecanoe.

The front truck of the third car dropped and three cars jumped the track.

The passengers jumped wildly from the train.

John Thomas Green, colored, of Uniontown, had his leg broken.

Evans Lynn of Uniontown had some bones broken.

Benjamin Kettering of Greensburg had an ankle broken.

None of them were fatally injured.

DIRECTUM WITHDRAWS.

The Great Horse Has Probably Broken Down.

BOSTON, Mass., October 20.—Alix has won the first heat in the race with Directum by three lengths. Time, 2:09.

In the second heat Alix won handily by four lengths. Time, 2:14¼.

The race ended with the second heat, when Directum was withdrawn. He is under the care of a veterinary surgeon.

Alix may be sent on an exhibition mile.

The judges announced that Alix would trot an exhibition mile with a running mate and that the purse of $11,000 would be given to the mare.

Alix trotted the exhibition mile in 2:07½.

Fag End of the Ragged Brigade.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The so-called Coxey Army paraded, consisting of only eight ragged men with a wagon, and went through Wall street today. Carl Browne, who was the leader, was arrested.

J. R. Talcott Takes a Stand.

An Interesting Meeting at Fruit Vale.

Republican Gatherings All Over the County.

Wind-Up Work Is Being Done by the Office Seekers.

The Republicans of Fruit Vale held a big meeting at Blake's Hall Saturday night. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

Valentine G. Hush acted as chairman. During the evening speeches were made by A. L. Frick, E. C. Hart, Judge Post and J. R. Talcott.

Mr. Talcott is a candidate for Supervisor, and much interest was taken in his speech. He spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I have been asked in an open letter received October 7, 1894, signed by ten prominent citizens, to tell the people of Fruit Vale my views upon town incorporation, and also to pledge myself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section (in the event of my election as Supervisor), and, that you may understand fully my position in this matter, I will ask your indulgence while I read from this letter the two questions submitted:

First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it be backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

Second.—Pending such town incorporation, will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund, contributed by this section, are used for the improvement of this section?

Recognizing the high standing and general reputation for fairness of the signers of this letter, I read carefully the questions asked, and became satisfied that I could not give (as demanded) a "definite and unqualified" answer to the first question in its present form. (One of the reasons being that they did not outline the proposed boundaries of their scheme.) You will remember that during the past year, no less than three distinct schemes, for a town of the sixth class, have been put forward in Fruit Vale, the petitions, for each, published for weeks in the local paper, and no two having the same boundary lines.

Not wishing to delay matters by returning the letter to the writers for revision I, on October 8th, addressed to each signer the following letter:

"In reply to the open letter of yourself and friends, will say that I desire to meet all of you gentlemen together before giving the required answer to the public. I would be pleased to invite another ten men of equally good standing, thoroughly representative residents of Fruit Vale Road district to meet with us.

"I feel that you have opened the way to a more complete understanding of each other's views, and, while we may differ in some minor details, am fully satisfied that the common interest of us all is in the same direction and that we may not be so far apart when we consider the matter, without prejudice, together.

"Hoping this will meet the views of you all, and that you will allow me to name some central place of meeting, and as soon as consistent with other appointments now made. Yours sincerely,

(Signed) "J. R. TALCOTT."

Imagine my surprise when before breakfast the following morning, October 9th, I read in a leading Democratic organ the report of an interview with one of the signers of the open letter. The only answer, other than this, which I have received direct from any of those gentlemen, I now hold in my hand. It is under date of October 10th, and is as follows:

"J. R. Talcott, Esq., Fruit Vale. DEAR SIR:—Your note of October 8th in reply to ours of a previous date is at hand. With regard to meeting ten other gentlemen and yourself, 'at a time consistent with your other appointments' to discuss the questions propounded to you in our letter, is, to say the least, very indefinite, and, as it seems to us, entirely unnecessary. The questions are plain, simple and easily understood, and should not require a conference with twenty gentlemen before answering.

"You must long since have made up your mind upon the questions asked, otherwise you are not a fit person for our Supervisor.

"Our object in asking them was to learn positively your views upon these important questions, and to learn how you will act regarding them if elected, not to discuss them with you, and ten of your friends. The time for discussion is past, we want to know where you stand.

"A general complaint made against you is that it is next to impossible to get a direct answer from you on any public question, and the tenor of your letter seems to confirm this.

"We again ask for replies to our questions, and however brief your answers may be we hope they will be definite, without qualification, and not needing further explanation, so that we can govern ourselves accordingly. Respectfully,

"JOHN LLOYD,

"For self and on behalf of other signers of letter, etc."

Before answering this communication I learned upon good authority that although this letter appeared to be a second letter from the same gentleman who signed the first one, as a matter of fact it was not so. Consequently my answer was intended to be very plain. I give it in full:

"FRUIT VALE, October 14, 1894.

"To John Lloyd, Fruit Vale—DEAR SIR: Your letter to me of October 10th, signed by yourself, and on behalf of other signers of a communication to me, under date of October 1, 1894, is impertinent in tone, and I address you personally because I am creditably informed that some of the signers of the above referred to your communication of October 1, 1894, claim that your letter to me of October 10th was written and signed by you without their knowledge or authority. The letter and communication above referred to demand of me a written pledge, which you, as a lawyer, should know would be illegal for me to give under the election laws of this State. I deny the right of any man, or set of men, to require written or other pledges from me as a candidate, touching questions that may come before the Board of Supervisors in their official capacity. Upon the receipt of the communication of October 1st, heretofore referred to, which I received on October 7th, believing that it would be illegal for me to give the written pledge demanded, and being desirous that the signers of that communication should have a complete understanding as to my position on these questions, I addressed to each of them on October 8, 1894, a letter requesting them to meet me for that purpose, which you, in your letter of October 10th, say is 'entirely unnecessary,' as 'the time for discussion is passed.' In this we differ—and while I have refrained for the reason heretofore stated, from pledging myself, in the manner demanded, it is my intention to clearly define my position at a public meeting, to be held at Fruit Vale at an early date, of which due notice will be given.

"Respectfully yours,

"J. R. TALCOTT."

And I will state that each one of the gentlemen signing that letter received a written invitation to be here tonight.

And now fellow-citizens, agreeable to my promise, I am before you tonight to answer as well as I can the questions in their present form.

"First—In the event of a new application for an election for the incorporation of Fruit Vale into a town of the sixth class, will the scheme meet with your support, provided it is backed up by a majority of the taxpayers of the district to be effected, or will you upon technical grounds still continue to oppose such incorporation?

My Friends: I desire to be entirely frank with you. Should the scheme referred to in this question be originated in the same manner as the one taken before the Board of Supervisors this present session, that is, without consulting any person upon the outskirts of the town, and should its projectors proceed to carry it out in the same manner and upon the same lines, I have as yet, as a citizen, seen no reason to materially change my opinion of its merits. On the other hand, if at any time it appears that a considerable number of the best citizens of Fruit Vale desire incorporation into a sixth class town, and go about it in a business way, with committees of representative residents and tax payers from each section of the proposed town, all meeting together for the common good, and if they should under such circumstances decide to go ahead, I have no idea but that self interest alone would compel me to join with them, even though my judgment should be wavering.

I believe that this section of country has a bright future before it and I think that when you stop to consider the matter that you will see that my every interest is in line with anything that will benefit this whole community. Local pride makes many of you zealous in protecting the interests of Fruit Vale avenue. This is as it should be. Others are equally interested for San Leandro road. Others still would like something done on Sherman street and the Redwood road, and so on through all sections of this road district.

No; I shall not oppose incorporation when you take all parties in interest into your councils and I find that the majority are in favor of it.

In answer to the second question, which is: "Pending such town incorporation will you, if elected, pledge yourself to see that the moneys in the county road fund contributed by the section are used for the improvement of this section?' will say that if by "this section" Fruit Vale Road District is meant I can answer it easily, for if elected to the office of Supervisor I am determined to have the road taxes, so far as I have the power, expended in the district where collected, and shall use my best endeavors to have the road funds honestly expended and fairly distributed in all sections of each and every road district and to, so far as possible consistent with economy, distribute the work of each road district among its own citizens. Of course everyone acknowledges the necessity of giving more attention to the main thoroughfares, but all county roads must come in for a share.

It may be of interest to you to know that I deem it essential to have in each road district some competent person to look after its wants in detail. If ever there was economy needed in the administration of the county business it is in times like the present and you can depend upon it that I fully appreciate this fact.

Many of us are going to the Tax Collector's rooms this year with heavy hearts caused by nearly empty purses.—Not a pleasant task in good times, it becomes a burden now. If elected, I shall surely help what I can to make the burden lighter until such times as we can afford to be generous. I expect to give all the time necessary to the work, and good counsel from public-spirited citizens will always be acceptable. I hope I have made plain my views on two questions asked.

Before closing I desire to say to my friend, Mr. Lloyd, that the position taken by me in my letter to him of October 14, 1894, (refusing his demand for written pledges) I am informed has been declared to be sound law by leading judges on both the San Francisco and Alameda county benches, and also by eminent attorneys who practice before them; and I think on further consideration he will so see it. Of one thing further I wish to say a word. I don't know as it is good judgment to do so, for many reasons; but I have heard so often during this campaign that "if so and so was not working for you, my neighbors would support you to a man." I ask, "Why does that make any difference? Is not so and so a man of judgment, a good business man, a worthy citizen and one who has contributed more than either of us to the good of the county?" I am told "Yes, but you know he is getting more than his share of the county business now and my neighbors, who don't know you, think he is working for you because he expects to control you in the board."

"I have known Mr. So and So many years, not very intimately, 'tis true, but I think I know him well enough to know that he would be almost the last man to ask of me to violate my oath as a Supervisor, and that is more than I can say of some of his enemies. I wish to tell you in all candor that I have made no promises, and shall make none, being determined, if elected, to do the business of the county with the same care and attention to detail that I have done my own business in the years I have been in your midst. I have made many mistakes in my own business, and no doubt would make others were I made Supervisor, and were it lawful I could not, and neither could you afford to have me pledged to him or even against him.

One thing more and I have done. It is not perhaps in good taste to criticise in any way the work of former or present Boards of Supervisors, and it is not a part of my policy to do so, I am willing, however, to go on record, notwithstanding the violent opposition of some of the gentlemen who live in the vicinity, against the system which has been pursued in robbing the creek bed, on Fruit Vale avenue, for the sake of obtaining material which is, of itself, of doubtful value when placed upon any of the main thoroughfares. It is high time this practice was stopped, and material of better quality procured. This is in accord with my best judgment, many times publicly expressed in years gone by, and presented now without solicitation by or suggestion from any person.

I thank you for your kind attention, and ask you if you are satisfied with the explanation of my position, to assist in the selection of a Fruit Vale representative in the Board of Supervisors on the 6th of next November.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fatal Collision on the Hudson

NEW YORK, October 20.—In a dense fog that hung over the river and harbor today the tugboat F. A. Kirkham was sunk off the Battery by a collision with Jersey Central Railroad Company's ferryboat Mauch Chunk. One man was drowned. The Mauch Chunk fished out another of the crew and a third was saved by a passing tug.

Details of the Great Naval Battle.

The Emperor's Insult to Li Hung Chang.

He Still Has a Few Chances Left to Redeem Himself.

Special Correspondence of the Associated Press (per Steamers China and Australia.)

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — Long before the rejoicing over the capture of Phyong Yang had begun to subside Japan was excited to fresh enthusiasm by the news of a naval victory of even greater significance, in the northeastern inlet of the Yellow sea. On the 16th of September Admiral Ito, commanding the squadron stationed at the mouth of the Taitong, or Daido river, was notified that a large Chinese fleet had arrived at the Yalu river, in charge of transports conveying reinforcements to the army on the frontier.

He set sail the following morning with all the men-of-war that could be immediately summoned, namely: The Matsushima, flagship; Hashidate, Itsukushima, Yoshino, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Naniwa, Chiyoda, Fuso, Akagi and Hiyei. Accompanying these eleven was the Saikio, a merchant steamer taken into the national service since the war began, of no strength and not intended for heavy work in action. She would not have joined the expedition but for the desire of Admiral Viscount Kabayama, the naval chief of the staff, who, being on a visit of inspection at the north, could not resist the temptation to witness the expected engagement. Between 12 and 1 o'clock fourteen Chinese ships and six torpedo boats were discovered a little south of a harbor called Taikosan in Japanese pronunciation and east of Kaiyoto island.

The ships were the Ting Yuen, flag; Chen Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chih Yuen, Ping Yuen, Chao Yuen, Yang Wei, Kwang-Kak, Wei Yuen, Kwang Ping and two others whose names are still unknown. Of these the first two carried Krupp guns of thirty centimetre and fifteen centimetre. The next four carried twenty-one centimetre and fifteen centimetre Krupps and the next two had twenty-five ton Armstrongs.

Contrary to anticipation they advanced unhesitatingly and commenced to fire when four thousand metres distant from the Japanese, who reserved their first discharge until another thousand metres had been covered. The serious fighting began between the vessels of the China right and the Japanese left, the flagships on either side leading the onset. By 1 o'clock the contest was general. Both lines maintained their position steadily for an hour, when the Chinese showed signs of wavering. Three of their ships, either by accident or design, had for some time been made special objects of attack, and though they contended vigorously to the last, they were sunk one after another, the crews climbing into the rigging as each descended and signaling wildly for help to both their companions and assailants. They were the Lai Yuen, Chih Yuen and Chao Yuen.

As soon as they were disposed of the foremost Japanese ships directed their assault against the immense German-built vessels at the head of the Chinese column, but for a long time without effect upon the heavy steel plating which protected them.

At last, however, a lucky shell struck the Ting Yuen a little above the water, and seemed to the Japanese observers to pierce the armor through and through. Their belief that this feat had been achieved was increased when a thick body of smoke was seen rising from the flagship, and although no diminution of activity on board was perceptible, they were convinced that she had been set on fire and remained burning up to the hour of her hasty departure.

Whatever her condition, she succeeded in inflicting heavy punishment upon her chief adversary. The Matsushima was struck by two twelve-inch shells, the first of which upset and battered out of shape one of her large guns, while the second exploded an ammunition box, dealing dreadful havoc among the crew, and starting a fire which was subdued only with great difficulty.

In consequence of these mishaps, the Matsushima withdrew from the scene and moved toward the Taitong, Admiral Ito transferring his flag to the Hashidate.

Meanwhile, three other Japanese vessels had undergone extremely rough treatment. The Saikio, which Viscount Kabayama persisted in keeping in the thick of the fight, notwithstanding her obvious unsuitability for such duty, lost control of her rudder, and found herself in much closer proximity than was desirable to the Ting Yuen and Chen Yuen. As she could not avoid them, she made directly for them, misleading them, it is supposed, into the belief that she was about to ram them. The Japanese are of the opinion that it was under this illusion that the two huge ships separated, allowing the Saikio a passage of about forty fathoms wide, through which to escape.

Torpedoes were discharged at her as she went by, but without avail. The Hiyei having been unable, by means of her slowness, to keep pace with the rest of the fleet, became a conspicuous object to the Chinese, and was so deluged with missiles that she was not on fire before the afternoon was half over. Her small crew was greatly reduced, and as the surgeon was among the wounded the sufferers could not be properly cared for. When she had lost twenty killed and thirty-four wounded she fell out of line and turned toward the Taitong.

But meeting a transport on the way, she obtained assistance in quenching the flames, handed over the wounded, and returned with all the speed she could make, not waiting for a doctor, to take up her work where she had left off. In this hope she was disappointed, for the enemy had flown, and the battle was over. It is recorded that when steaming away in flames she was thrice in great danger from torpedoes, but skillfully escaped by employing a device described in a recent magazine account of an imaginary naval fight in South America. To most readers of that sketch, the expedient of stopping a projectile by turning upon it a converging fire of shot and shell seemed purely fictitious; yet this is precisely what the Hiyei is said to have done in at least one instance.

About the time when Admiral Ito left the Matsushima the disorder in the Chinese fleet plainly indicated that the contest could not be prolonged on their side. Three ships had been sunk and a fourth, the Yang Wei, had been half destroyed and abandoned. Besides the Ting Yuen two others were on fire, and the entire force was thoroughly demoralized. A little after 5 o'clock the flagship took the lead in retreat toward the home stations. Four fast-steaming Japanese cruisers were detailed to follow and if possible to cut off their escape. But the torpedoes had to be reckoned with, and the possibility of being struck by one of them in the night made it imperative that the Japanese should exercise caution. Morning found them at the mouth of the Gulf of Pechili, with no ship of the enemy in sight.

They steamed back to Kaiyoto island, keeping a keen lookout on the way, but the Chinese had evidently reached a safe place of refuge. The greater part of the Japanese squadron had reconvened near Taikosan harbor, on the chance of getting another fight, bringing this time some torpedo boats to co-operate. The need of them was so greatly felt on the previous day that it is safe to say no large body of Japanese ships will ever again sail without these essential adjuncts. One of them was now put to a practical if somewhat inglorious use in breaking up the Yang Wei, deserted and unfit for further service.

Examination shows that none of the Japanese vessels received damages that cannot be repaired with slight cost or labor. All but the four referred to were so free from injury that they could have gone into action afresh the following day.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE.

An extraordinary session of Parliament has been called by the Emperor to meet at Hiroshima, October 15th, and to last seven days. The summons states that the co-operation of the National Representatives and their consent to the war expenditures are recognized as necessary by the Sovereign. No other subject but war supplies is to occupy the attention of the Diet. As no large building is available in Hiroshima, it is proposed that the meetings be held in a huge tent.

The Prime Minister and Ministers of War, Navy, Foreign Affairs, Finance and Justice are in attendance upon the Emperor at Hiroshima, but Government business continues to be conducted at Tokio.

The Empress, always active in movements of mercy and charity, has called the ladies of the court to assist her, as patroness of the Red Cross Association, in collecting hospital supplies and preparing lint, bandages, etc., for the needs of the wounded in Corea. By her Majesty's express desire all articles thus provided and sent from the Palace are to be used for Japanese, Chinese and Coreans alike. In a similar spirit a notification has been issued by the Minister of War calling attention to the principles of the Geneva convention, to which Japan became a party in 1886, and admonishing the army that "However cruel and vindictive the enemy may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rules of civilization; his disabled succored, and his captured kindly and considerately protected." Also that "gentle treatment is due to those who offer no resistance to our arms," and that even the body of a dead foe should receive respect." Although China has not subscribed to the convention, and her soldiers may therefore behave inhumanly, no Japanese must retaliate but "bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their August sovereign, and display charity as well as courage."

CHINA WAR NEWS.

Warnings of punishment in store for Li Hung Chang in consequence of the repeated defeats suffered by the Chinese Army and Navy, had several times been sent forth from Pekin, but the foreign public has been slow to credit the possibility of so ill advised a proceeding.

That the rules of a system which condemns every official to disgrace in the event of failure in his enterprises, should be applied to the chief subject of the enterprise, or that the Imperial authority could be so injudiciously exercised as to fasten ignominy upon a statesman and soldier to whom the reigning house owes all the power it possesses, seemed too great a departure from propriety for the court to sanction. But the wrath of the Emperor has been kindled, and his displeasure manifests itself in a decree proclaimed on the 17th of September, and published in Shanghai the next day, the full text of which is as follows:

"The Wojen, having broken faith with Corea and forcibly occupied that country, the throne sympathized with its tributary kingdom in her distress and so raised an army to attack the common enemy. Upon Li Hung Chang, Imperial High Commissioner of the Peiyang, having chief control of the forces there, rested the entire burden of being prepared for emergencies, but, instead, he has been unable to act with speed and promptness in his military preparations, so that much time has elapsed without any important results. He has indeed failed in the trust reposed in him by us. We therefore command that his decoration of the three-eyed peacock feather be plucked off from his hat, and that he be stripped of the yellow-riding jacket as a slight punishment.

"It is necessary then that the said Imperial High Commissioner exert himself to the utmost and decide upon what should be done; that he direct and hasten the various armies from the various provinces to the front; in order that all may put forth their best strength to chase and root out the enemy. In this way Li Hung Chang may hope to redeem his former errors."

A Military Ball.

Troop A, First Cavalry, National Guards of California, will give a ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday night. It will be a full-dress affair, both as regards guests and members of the company. The captain, John Brunson, is a resident of Oakland. The troop was stationed in this city during the late railroad strike, and many of the members made a favorable impression upon citizens with whom they came in contact.

A DESPERATE BURGLARY.

But it Yields the Thieves Very Little Plunder.

CLEVELAND, O., October 20.—At North Dover last night, four masked men battered down the office door of the C. M. Oviatt Manufacturing Company, after the night watchman had refused them admission, then bound and gagged the watchman, drilled the safe and blew it open with dynamite. They did not obtain much money.

CHOKED HER PA.

A Death That Looks Much Like a Murder.

Officials Intend to Investigate the Affair.

A Feeble Old Man Brutally Beaten by His Daughter.

CHICAGO, October 22.—David Higgins, a bricklayer, aged 51 years, living at 178 Sangamon street, was found dead in his room last night.

The circumstances surrounding his death are so suspicious that his son-in-law, Richard Stapleton, and his daughter Minnie are being held by the Desplaines street police to await for a coroner's inquest.

The police say that Stapleton made this statement when arrested:

"My wife and her father have been drunk for several days. Saturday morning they had a row, in which Minnie choked her pa. After she let him go he threw himself on the cot and complained of feeling sick. We went away, and when we returned last night found him dead."

This story of Stapleton's does not coincide with that told by Emil Strong, who owns the house in which Higgins died.

Strong averred that no penalty of the law was severe enough to punish Mrs. Stapleton, and that her husband was included in the same category. Strong said:

"Five weeks ago old man Higgins rented a room of me. A week ago Richard Stapleton and his wife came to occupy the same room with Higgins, the woman being the old man's daughter. She's everything a woman should not be; her husband is no better a man. That morning about 1 o'clock I heard Higgins out in the hall. I took him into my room and made a bed for him on the sofa. He said he was afraid Stapleton would kill him, and that his daughter choked him so he could not sleep. The next day I turned the Stapletons out. They returned shortly after, and have since abused the old man shamefully."

Strong stated that the woman and Stapleton were accustomed to beat and choke the old man cruelly, and the dead man's face being almost unrecognizable from discoloration when found lends color to the belief that he was murdered by the couple.

BURNT ALIVE.

Four Children Perish in a Blazing House.

The Fire Broke Out While They Were Asleep.

Midnight Catastrophe at an Honored Man's Home.

NYACK, N. Y., October 22.—The four grandchildren of Rev. William Taylor, the Methodist missionary bishop of Africa, perished in the burning of the elegant house of their father, Ross Taylor of South Nyack, early today.

In addition, one man was so badly burned that he can scarcely recover and two others are seriously injured.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when Mrs. Taylor was awakened by the smoke.

She aroused her husband, the Rev. Ross Taylor.

He found the halls filled with smoke, the fire having obtained great headway.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor groped through the suffocating smoke to the open air, without having been able to extend a helping hand to their six children or others of the household.

As Mr. and Mrs. Taylor emerged the fire department arrived.

The energies of all were directed toward the rescue of those who remained in the doomed structure.

The two eldest Taylor children, Stewart and William, were aroused, and jumping from the window, were caught without being seriously injured.

Harriet aged 11, Ada aged 9, Arthur aged 7, Schultz 5, perished.

Their bodies were recovered three hours later.

Michael Mulady, a laborer, and Edward Link and William Ruth, house decorators, sleeping in the third story, jumped for their lives.

Mulady was fatally hurt. Ruth and Link sustained serious injuries, but will probably recover.

The house had been recently built and the interior decorations were still incomplete.

FIXING UP.

Supervisors Are Preparing for the Election.

Arrangements Being Made for Ballot Boxes.

Application for More Tellers in the Seventh Ward.

The Supervisors met this morning. Owing to the absence of Supervisor Morgan the chair was occupied by Mr. Bailey. All the other members of the board were in attendance.

Mrs. Frederick made application for relief for Miss M. Lynch, an invalid at 663 Tenth street, who has recently undergone a dangerous surgical operation. The matter was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

B. T. Weir asked for relief for P. Boccacio, who resides on Myrtle street, below Third. The request was granted and Boccacio was allowed to go to the Infirmary.

Mrs. Mary Erickson, residing at 1571 Fifth, with two children, asked for temporary relief, and the request was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The request of Annie Willet of 897 Washington street for relief was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

Albert Dijore, aged 24 years, residing on Second street, between Broadway and Franklin street, said he did not want to go the infirmary, but desired to receive some food. His case was referred to Supervisor Morgan.

H. F. Hawkins, aged 58 years, a native of Illinois, residing at 1769 Goss street, also asked for relief, and the case was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

THE SUNOL ROAD.

C. M. Day, J. Wellbyle and G. W. Nusbaumer, viewers of the proposed widening of the county road between Sunol and Pleasanton, reported that the proposed widening is a public necessity. The cost of the improvement would be about $800, $358 50 of which would be paid for land to Charles Felton and Charles Hadsell. A resolution was adopted transferring $358 50 from the General Road District fund to the Road Damage fund, for the payment of Messrs. Hadsell and Felton.

County Surveyor Nusbaumer filed a map showing the obstructing fence on Fruit Vale avenue complained of by W. G. Heashaw and others. The question of removing the obstruction was referred to Supervisor Martin.

Mrs. Ella Sleeper of 779 Twelfth street, said her husband is sick and she is unable to support her three children. The application was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

Dr. Stratton recommended that a truss be allowed Mrs. M. Josus and the matter was referred to Supervisor Pelouze.

The Oakland Paving Company made another demand for the refunding of the duplicate poll tax, which had been collected from a number of their men. The communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. J. C. Punkett expressing appreciation for the tribute paid by the Supervisors to the memory of her husband, the late Supervisor J. C. Punkett. The letter was called forth by the receipt by Mrs. Punkett of a beautifully engrossed memorial card, setting forth the good qualities of the late Supervisor, and signed by all the members who served with him on the board. Mrs. Punkett's note was ordered spread upon the minutes of the board.

CREDITS FOR PRISONERS.

On request, William Adams, in jail for battery, and L. E. Farney, imprisoned for petty larceny, were granted credits for good behavior while under sentence.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Liquor licenses were granted to H. E. Ey, Thirty-ninth street and Telegraph avenue; John Tierney, Broadway and Columbia avenue; and P. Carrozo, Clifton street and Claremont avenue.

Applications for liquor licenses were referred to the Judiciary Committee as follows: J. Webb, Forty-first street and San Pablo avenue; Simon Coate, Mission San Jose; Julius Wildermuth, Newark; and I. V. Rolph, Alvarado.

On motion of Supervisor Johnston, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a concrete culvert at College avenue and Vernon street. The bids will be opened November 5th.

On motion of Supervisor Martin, the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids, plans and specifications for a concrete culvert at the head of Fruit Vale avenue. These bids will also be opened November 5th.

The clerk was instructed to furnish Justice Larue with a docket.

A certified copy of the finding of the Superior Court in the suit of E. L. Lawrence, Constable, vs. Alameda county was read. It showed that Lawrence had secured judgment as fees and costs amounting to $313 70. Filed.

ELECTION TELLERS.

Thomas Jeffress wanted to know whether or not the Supervisors could allow additional tellers to be appointed at the election on the 6th of next month in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward. He said that, under the law, it is contemplated that a voting precinct shall not contain more than 200 voters. The Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward he said, at the last election polled 625 votes and required three days and two nights for the Election Board to count them. This year he claimed there would be at least 700 votes polled in that precinct and it would require at least four days and nights to count them. No election board, he thought, could stand the work. In San Francisco, he said, the inspectors of election have the power to appoint two additional tellers to aid in the canvass of the vote, and if additional tellers were appointed here it would enable the canvass of the vote to be carried out with a great deal of dispatch.

Supervisor Johnston said that if tellers should be appointed in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward they would also have to be appointed in the Third precinct in Berkeley, where about the same number of voters are to be accommodated as are in the Seventh precinct of the Seventh ward.

The question raised by Mr. Jeffress was referred to the District Attorney.

BALLOT BOXES NEEDED.

Supervisor Pelouze notified the board that there is a shortage in ballot boxes and that in Mr. Bailey's district only eight out of fifteen boxes required could be located. He claimed that they had not been returned after the last election. The clerk was notified to ascertain where ballot boxes could be made according to the plan now in use.

Mrs. D. Ferguson, who resides in the little ark on Twelfth street, near Lake Merritt, asked for groceries. This is the little woman who, about a year ago, claimed that she had been beaten, bound and robbed in her house while her husband was absent for a few moments. The request was referred to Supervisor Johnston.

A resolution was adopted directing the County Treasurer to pay to the clerk of the Superior Court, for R. T. Pope, the sum of $1 as damages in the matter of opening a road in Murray township.

CHASING THE COOK.

No More Deaths Yet From the Colusa Poisoning.

COLUSA, Cal., October 22. — Twenty-two inmates of the County Hospital were poisoned yesterday morning by strychnine in their coffee.

One man died.

No further deaths have resulted from the poisoning of the inmates of the County Hospital.

Mrs. Ingram, the wife of the superintendent, is still very sick, but will recover.

The accepted theory is that the discharged Chinese cook, who had trouble with the steward, entered the hospital during the night and put strychnine in a can of ground coffee.

There are no arrests as yet.

MARCHED AWAY.

The Industrials Start Out for San Leandro.

Santa Clara's Sheriff Will Head Them Off.

A Would-Be Recruit Is Subjected to a Bad Beating.

Thirty enthusiastic Industrials will camp at San Leandro tonight. They are the pick of the Eighth street army, and as stated in the TRIBUNE several days ago, they say they will march to San Jose despite the Sheriff of Santa Clara and all his hosts.

Shortly after lunch today the wealers emerged from their tent and, forming in military order, marched eastward to —possibly Santa Clara jail. They expect to return in a few days and will possibly make another excursion into the country before the election.

Yesterday "General" Kelley was seized with a fit of morality. Some of his privates did not please his sense of the proper, so they were fired. One of the men ejected proposes to make things lively for the leaders. His name is Martin and he is one of "General" Fryo's last year's crop of Indiana mals. Yesterday morning he came over from San Francisco to join Kelley's wealers.

He immediately proceeded to the tent but met with a chilly reception. He claims that Kelley gave orders to kill the intruder unless he left at once.

Very naturally the would-be recruit vanished in a hurry. After thinking the matter over he concluded to return and take his chances. Now he wishes he hadn't.

A miscellaneous crowd of officers and privates jumped the persistent visitor and gave him a severe trouncing. In fact, before he made his escape he was badly used up. He complained to the police, and was told to swear to a complaint. Thus far he has failed to do so.

The wealers deny Martin's story, but the cuts and bruises on the injured man's head and face are pretty strong evidence in his favor.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Republican Excursionists Injured at Tippecanoe,

UNIONTOWN, Pa., October 20.—The Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston train, bearing excursionists to the Republican meeting at Charleroi, was wrecked at Tippecanoe.

The front truck of the third car dropped and three cars jumped the track.

The passengers jumped wildly from the train.

John Thomas Green, colored, of Uniontown, had his leg broken.

Evans Lynn of Uniontown had some bones broken.

Benjamin Kettering of Greensburg had an ankle broken.

None of them were fatally injured.

DIRECTUM WITHDRAWS.

The Great Horse Has Probably Broken Down.

BOSTON, Mass., October 20. — Alix has won the first heat in the race with Directum by three lengths. Time, 2:09.

In the second heat Alix won handily by four lengths. Time, 2:14¾.

The race ended with the second heat, when Directum was withdrawn. He is under the care of a veterinary surgeon.

Alix may be sent on an exhibition mile.

The judges announced that Alix would trot an exhibition mile with a running mate and that the purse of $11,000 would be given to the mare.

Alix trotted the exhibition mile in 2:07¾.

Far End of the Ragged Brigade.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The so-called Coxey Army paraded, consisting of only eight ragged men with a wagon, and went through Wall street today. Carl Browne, who was the leader, was arrested.

A Gospel Mission.

Special services will be held in the Gospel Mission, 418 Eighth street, led by the converted Jew Evangelist Harry May. Services commence Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

NEWS BY STEAMER.

Disastrous to Chinese Ships and British Interference.

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — (Per steamer City of Pekin to Honolulu, and steamer Australia to San Francisco, October 20.) There is still great rejoicing here over the Japanese land victory at Pgyong-Yang and the naval victory off Yalu river.

Shanghai newspapers report as an undisputed fact that the news has been received of the mutiny of 6000 Chinese troops near the border of Corea and their flat refusal to march in the direction ordered by their officers.

The Chean, a Chinese transport, was wrecked early in September, while carrying a thousand troops from Ching Kiang to Formosa, and two hundred were drowned.

The surviving soldiers murdered the captain and crew on reaching shore, in revenge for the mismanagement of the ship.

Although the Japanese Government refuses to disclose any damaging facts concerning British Admiral Freemantle his actions are beginning to be freely criticized throughout Japan, even by British residents. After the engagement at Asan, in July, the crew of the Chinese man-of-war, Kwang Yi, abandoned their ship and took refuge on Corean island.

It has been discovered that Admiral Freemantle sent one of his vessels for these men, and caused them to be taken back to China after exacting from them the promise that they would not again serve against Japan. So far as known, the Government at Tokio has made no complaint of this breach of neutrality.

Every county which shall be enlarged or created from territory taken from any other county or counties, shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the county or counties from which such territory shall be taken.

NEWS BY STEAMER.

Disastrous to Chinese Ships and British Interference.

YOKOHAMA, September 30. — (Per steamer City of Pekin to Honolulu, and steamer Australia to San Francisco, October 20.) There is still great rejoicing here over the Japanese land victory at Pgyong-Yang and the naval victory off Yalu river.

Shanghai newspapers report as an undisputed fact that the news has been received of the mutiny of 6000 Chinese troops near the border of Corea and their flat refusal to march in the direction ordered by their officers.

The Chean, a Chinese transport, was wrecked early in September, while carrying a thousand troops from Ching Kiang to Formosa, and two hundred were drowned.

The surviving soldiers murdered the captain and crew on reaching shore, in revenge for the mismanagement of the ship.

Although the Japanese Government refuses to disclose any damaging facts concerning British Admiral Freemantle his actions are beginning to be freely criticized throughout Japan, even by British residents. After the engagement at A-san, in July, the crew of the Chinese man-of-war, Kwang Yi, abandoned their ship and took refuge on Corean island.

It has been discovered that Admiral Freemantle sent one of his vessels for these men, and caused them to be taken back to China after exacting from them the promise that they would not again serve against Japan. So far as known, the Government at Tokio has made no complaint of this breach of neutrality.

The Controller of State shall be ex officio a member of the Board. The Boards of Supervisors of the several counties of the State shall constitute Boards of Equalization for their respective counties, whose duty it shall be to equalize the valuation of the taxable property in the county for the purpose of taxation; provided, such State and County Boards of Equalization are hereby authorized and empowered, under such rules of notice as the County Boards may prescribe as to the county assessments, and under such rules of notice as the State Board may prescribe as to the action of the State Board, to increase or lower the entire assessment roll, or any assessment contained therein, so as to equalize the assessment of the property contained in said assessment roll, and make the assessment conform to the true value in money of the property contained in said roll; provided, that no Board of Equalization shall raise any mortgage, deed of trust, contract, or other obligation by which a debt is secured, money, or solvent credits, above its face value. The State Board of Equalization elected in eighteen hundred and ninety-four shall continue in office until their successors, as herein provided for, shall be elected and shall qualify.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVEN.

SENATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 16

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to article thirteen of the Constitution, section one, in relation to revenue and taxation.

Section 1. All property in the State, not exempt under the laws of the United States, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as provided by law. The word "property," as used in this article and section, is hereby declared to include moneys, credits, bonds, stocks, dues, franchises, and all other matters and things, real, personal, and mixed, capable of private ownership; provided, that property used for free public libraries and free museums, growing crops, property used exclusively for public schools, and such as may belong to the United States, this State, or to any county or municipal corporation within this State, shall be exempt from taxation. The Legislature may provide, except in case of credits secured by mortgage or trust deed, for a deduction from credits of debts due to bona fide residents of this State.

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHT.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to section seven (7) of article nine (IX) of the Constitution of the State of California, by increasing the number of members constituting the State Board of Education, by adding thereto the President and Professor of Pedagogics of the University of California.

Section 7. The Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the President of the University of California, and the Professor of Pedagogy therein, and the Principals of the State Normal Schools, shall constitute the State Board of Education, and shall compile or cause to be compiled, and adopt, a uniform series of text-books for use in the common schools throughout the State. The State Board may cause such text-books, when adopted, to be printed and published by the Superintendent of State Printing, at the State Printing Office, and when so printed and published, to be distributed and sold at the cost price of printing, publishing, and distributing the same. The text-books so adopted shall continue in use not less than four years; and said State Board shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall provide for a Board of Education in each county in the State. The County Superintendents and the County Boards of Education shall have control of the examination of teachers and the granting of teachers' certificates within their respective jurisdictions.

AMENDMENT NUMBER NINE

SENATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 20.

An Act to submit to the people of the State of California an amendment to section twenty-three of article four of the Constitution of the State of California.

Not a New Artist.

Not a new artist, but a new Gallery, to be opened by an old artist, who, for several years, was with W. W. Dames and is now the successor of E. D. Ormsby. Walter J. Smith is no stranger to us in the line of photography, and he has fitted up his parlors at 1055 Broadway in a most beautiful manner, having decorated, repainted and tinted the establishment in an up-to-date metropolitan style. On Saturday evening, Oct. 27th, Mr. Smith gives his initial opening to the public with a musical concert by the new orchestra under the leadership of Louis Homeier. It will be an evening of art and music both combined, and all are cordially invited to attend from 8 to 10 o'clock. Cut this notice out and present it at our studio and receive a receipt for $1 as part payment on a dozen cabinets.

See our $12 real Astrachan capes. Palace Cloak Co., A. Mosbacher, 1009 and 1011 Washington street.

SANTA CLARA COUNTY will give a rousing majority to W. H. Clark for Railroad Commissioner, for since the people have had a chance of getting acquainted with him, they have learned that he is exactly the right man for the place.—San Jose Mercury.

That is exactly what ought to happen to Mayor Clark in Alameda County, also, and for the same reasons.

The Chicago Times cynically puts this up as a ticket for 1896:

For President, George M. Pullman of Italy.

For Vice President, Andrew Carnegie of Scotland.

Platform: To hell with the workingman.

THE San Diego Union has opened its batteries on the "piece clubs," which have been organized in that city and are "actively engaged in soliciting cash contributions from candidates on the plea that if the money is forthcoming the members will act as a unit and help to elect the men who foe them." The Union says that they are not confining their efforts to any party, but address themselves to all. The Purity Election law aimed at abolishing these political blackmailing organizations, and if candidates will only have the courage to comply with its requirements they will die a natural death.

The Napa Register says Santa Cruz Republicans are talking as most Republicans talk here:

The county and the district tickets are of much more importance to the people this year than usual. The Republican county ticket, when it comes to voting on it, constitutes, to all intents and purposes, the foundation of the Republican State and Congressional tickets. Fealty to the one means fealty to all; the betrayal of one will carry a damaging influence on all others. The State and county tickets represent administrations of four years duration.

"Them's our sentiment's." They are our sentiments in more ways than one. THE TRIBUNE gave birth to the paragraph which the Santa Cruz Sentinel, having no journalistic honor, appropriated without credit.

A COLONEL HENDERSON of Denver, Col., has begun to work the gold-bearing placers in the San Francisquita canyon, about sixty miles from Los Angeles. The presence of these gold-bearing deposits have been known for a long time. Over twenty years ago Colonel Peel prospected them pretty thoroughly, but was compelled to abandon them for the want of water. The gravel beds are rich in gold, but there is no water that can be brought to bear upon them within a radius of 100 miles, hence they are unprofitable to work. Peel and his associates were compelled to carry the pay dirt on mule back to the canyon below and cradle it with the slender stream dribbling through that gorge in the Coast range.

Log Rafting on the Pacific.

The loss of the big Astorian raft of logs which parted at sea shortly after crossing the Columbia river bar, en route to San Francisco, in tow of the tug Monarch, gives another setback to this method of lumber shipment. The raft was the property of the Southern Pacific Company. It was valued at $30,000, and was insured for one-half the sum. A little over a year ago, the San Francisco Bridge Company made an effort to bring wharf piles and saw-logs down the coast the same way. They lost two mammoth rafts in the same way that the Astorian raft was lost last week. The last of these two rafts cost the Bridge Company $45,000, and swamped it. The company made an assignment soon after the news of the wreck of the raft reached here.

While the rafting of logs from one point to another is successfully conducted on the Eastern coast, only one company on this side has seemingly made any success of it, namely the Fort Bragg and Noyo River Lumber Company, a corporation in which General Alger of Michigan and some Oaklanders are largely interested. That company has safely towed down the coast a large number of rafts. The big profits in this method of transporting lumber is very tempting to millmen. It would seem reasonable to expect greater success with the business on the Pacific coast than they enjoy on the Atlantic coast, because of greater exemption from storms. Big rafts have gone adrift on the Atlantic side, and for months afterwards have menaced the commerce of that ocean, but the disasters have not been as serious or as frequent, as they have been here. Maybe our lumbermen are too eager to make a big thing in one shipment on the principle of "make or break," and as luck has gone against them, the latter experience has been their fate. It is also possible that the method of constructing the log rafts is defective, for once the big cigar-shaped structure leaves its cradle, the immense weight of its contents brings such a tremendous strain upon the chains binding it together that the dissolution of the cumbersome craft by the action of the waves is thus materially aided.

If rafting logs is to be made a success on this side of the continent, either some new method of raft construction will have to be adopted or else smaller rafts will have to be taken in tow.

The "Independent" in the Campaign.

It is at this juncture in the county campaign a noteworthy fact and affords food for reflection that what is left of the Democratic party here is a unit. The same, in a literal sense, is the state of affairs in the camp of the Democratic tender—the Populist party. Every Independent candidate, on the other hand, is a Republican, and if he remains in the field must injure the party with which he has hitherto affiliated. There is probably not a man in the field today as an independent candidate who has that deliberately in view. He probably thinks that his personal popularity, or some streak of good luck, will carry him safely through. But if he will take time to reflect one moment on the situation he cannot fail to realize his error. He failed at the primary; he lost in the convention. The party nominee is sure to receive the bulk of the party votes, as he is fairly entitled to them all. Where then can the "independent" derive enough votes to elect him? The Democrats were never known to vote for a Republican. They are not going to do it this year, even though that Republican classes himself as an "independent." They will stand by the Democratic candidate—that is, so many of them that have not joined the Populistic tender. The greatest danger to the Republican county ticket lies therefore within the ranks of Republicans. If any Republican gives his vote to an "independent" candidate, he must know that in so doing he is weakening his own party ticket and putting the party in jeopardy. His intentions may not be that way, but it will be the logical effect.

If any Republican, therefore, fails to read between the lines of the situation as affected by the independent element in the current campaign then he must be a dullard indeed. The remedy is a simple and safe one—it is this: If the "independent" candidate declines to voluntarily withdraw from the field, but persists in remaining in it and getting his name on the ballot, then every Republican when he comes to vote should, in stamping his ballot, avoid the name of the "independent" as he would the plague.

ACCORDING to the published Japanese account of the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river, Admiral Ito, in command of the Japanese fleet, attempted to execute the same maneuver that Nelson successfully executed at Trafalgar. The Chinese fleet was approaching in double column, and Admiral Ito at once changed the course of his ships so as to pass down the line between the two columns. The Chinese Admiral, Ting Ju Chang, realized his danger as soon as he saw the Japanese fleet bearing down upon him in single column, and he hurriedly changed his line of battle, thus avoiding a repetition of the story of Trafalgar. Had Admiral Ito succeeded in entering the lane between the two columns of the Chinese fleet he would have divided it as Nelson divided the French fleet, and he would have been in a position to work his guns on both sides of his ships at short range, while the ships of the enemy would have been receiving their own fire as well as his. Ito achieved a brilliant victory, nevertheless.

A VETERAN of Waterloo, who served under Wellington, is said to be living at St. Joseph, Mo., aged 107 years. His name is William Chambers, and he was born at Ballymant, County Antrim, Ireland, September 12, 1787. Chambers enlisted in the British army and fought at Waterloo as a cavalryman. A correspondent of the Chicago Times says that investigation of the birth records of Ballymant and the British war records establish the authenticity of Chambers' age and military service. He is still hale and has a clear memory of past events.

IN Grass Valley there is some talk of reorganizing a "601" society to get rid of the worthless characters that have established quarters there. The Tidings recommends that course. It is beginning to look as if a '77-'56 organization would have to be revived on this side of the bay by the cities of Alameda and Oakland for a similar purpose. Crime is a natural accompaniment of organized vagabondage.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Sashes and throatlets of a different color and material from the gown are very popular and do much to dress a simple toilet. A dainty arrangement is to fasten a sash on the left side of the bust, with about one-third of its length falling down on the skirt; the sash then passes under the left arm about the figure and fastens on the right side at the waist line, with the long end falling almost to the hem of the frock.

Indian Chutney—Three ounces salt, one pound brown sugar, one ounce garlic, one half pound raisins, one quarter ounce cayenne, six ounces preserved ginger, juice of four small lemons, six wineglasses of vinegar, and ten large apples. Pare and cut up the apples and boil them in the vinegar till quite soft. Shred all the other ingredients very finely and mix the lemon juice and sugar together. Mix everything together and simmer for one hour. Keep in a dry place; the warmer, too, the better. The chutney is ready for use in six months' time.

WHEN WOMEN VOTE.

Oh, mother, please, mother, come with me now,
The afternoon's slipping by fast,
You said you were coming right home from the polls
As soon as your ballot was cast.
Poor father came in for his dinner at noon
And not a mouthful could he find,
And the words that he said as he slammed the front door
Left a strong smell of sulphur behind.

Science says now that beauty is not skin deep. She can tell you that half the charm of a pretty face—at least the expression—is a matter of little muscles and a complex labyrinth of little nerves, and that the curve of the lips, the glance of the eyes, the droop of their lids, are a matter of the prevalent use of certain small muscles in obedience to a prevalent aspect of the mind. Moreover, that the use of these organs of expression has come down along ancestral lines, and that the mold of the features themselves is a question of heredity.

A new invention which will be largely appreciated, especially by home dressmakers, is a patent dress fastener, consisting of two pieces of cloth lined with steel, to which the hooks and eyes necessary for the front of a bodice are firmly and symmetrically riveted. These are sewn into the fronts of the dress, and as the hooks and eyes are alternately reversed, it is quite impossible for the bodice when in wear to become accidentally unfastened. The contrivance is sold for a few cents.

POLITICAL PRATTLE.

What the California Newspapers Are Saying.

Possibly our dairymen may be interested to know that "sham issue," the tariff question, directly affects their pockets and business. Well, here is one obvious consequence of superseding the McKinley tariff by the Wilson-Gorman schedule. The protection afforded to American cheese under the McKinley tariff was six cents per pound or say 43 per cent ad valorem. Under the Gorman bill it is but four cents per pound or say 29 per cent ad valorem. Even under the McKinley tariff the importation from Canada, as shown by the statistics of the treasury department for the year ending June 30, 1892, was over 200,000 pounds, which found its way to the Chicago market and assisted in fixing the price of cheese for the American market and necessarily for this market. Now that the tariff has been reduced one-third, of course the Canadian importations will be vastly increased with the result that our cheese makers may expect hereafter to have their profits hampered down still farther and the price they may get will be fixed by the Canadian dairyman.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

Estee will be an easy winner in the Gubernatorial race which is now on, Webster will be second and Jim and his buckboard will bring up the rear.—Petaluma Imprint.

As matters now stand, the voters of Fresno county are apparently called on to decide between George C. Perkins and Colonel Irish, the Southern Pacific servant, when they cast their votes for members of the Legislature. John P. Irish is not only a railroad servant of long standing, but is an ardent supporter of Cleveland's gold bug, anti-silver, pro-Chinese record, and is now stall fed for the Senatorial race with fat things from the Federal pie factory. This is a question which deserves serious consideration by the voter.—Fresno Republican.

Mr. Budd wanted to discuss State issues, and Governor Markham has given him a dose from which he will scarcely recover in time to blossom next November. By the way, the Democracy do not appear very willing to discuss local issues in Kern county. Of a truth, they are between the devil and the deep sea, with the latter yawning to swallow them up.—Kern County Californian.

Promises to reduce taxation do not come with good grace from the Democrats, whose record in State management does not warrant belief in them. Every Republican administration in California that has followed a Democratic administration has reduced the tax levy of its predecessor. In every campaign promises of economy were made, as now. In every instance the Republicans redeemed their pledges and the Democrats did not.—Nevada City Transcript.

Mr. Budd, the Democratic candidate for Governor, is making all sorts of captivating promises to the people, which are to be fulfilled in the event of his election—may be. Among other benefits to accrue to his Administration, he and his associate "reformers" are to reduce the rates of transportation 25 per cent. Hon. H. M. LaRue, the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner from the Sacramento district, says that he has not taken the Democratic pledge for a horizontal reduction in the rates of transportation in this State. Since this can be done only through the Railroad Commission, and since at least one candidate for Railroad Commissioner repudiates the pledge, this high sounding promise of the boastful Budd appears to be on the same plane with the great majority of his loud promises—made solely in the interest of Jim's Jim.—Petaluma Imprint.

Every honest Democrat in California knows that Hilborn was bunco'ed out of his seat.—The Mail of Woodland.

The Democratic Populists are Populists all through the campaign, but on the day of election they will vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom. Let the Republicans remember this and not imperil the chances of their own men by casting a single Populist ticket on the 6th of November.—Oroville Register.

Good reports are received everywhere as to the Republican chances for success. The State and Legislative tickets are beyond question in our mind. There will be a Republican Governor, a Republican Legislature and very nearly a solid Republican delegation in Congress—certainly a United States Senator.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Republicans are said to be slow to arouse to enthusiasm, but appearances indicate that in the fifteen days that remain before the election the enthusiasm will rise high above the ordinary boiling temperature. This enthusiasm may become dangerous by inspiring too great confidence. Enthusiasm alone will not carry the election. There must be careful work as well as arousing zeal. California must be made to give an unusually large Republican majority, one that will give emphasis to its condemnation of the destructive Democracy.—Stockton Independent.

All who have felt the evil effects of Democratic misgovernment should vote the Republican Legislative ticket, so as to make sure of a United States Senator who will stand up for protection and good government.—San Jose Mercury.

CURRENT EASTERN COMMENT.

The Hill that defeated Hornblower for the United States Supreme Court and that held up the nomination of Healy until the adjournment of the Senate and enabled the President to put him in office on a recess appointment must have been a bad Hill; the Hill that was. When did the bad Hill that was become transferred into the good Hill that has since been.—Brooklyn Times.

Some Democrats are fighting Tammany this year. In 1898 all Democrats will be with Tammany, just as they were in 1892.—Cleveland Leader.

The hisses that greeted the mention of Dr. Parkhurst's name in the Tammany Convention were the greatest compliment that could have been paid him.—New York Recorder.

"Called back"—the member of the administration who makes arrangements to deliver stump speeches for Hill without having first obtained permission from the President.—New York Tribune.

It would be as little as the paragraphers of this country could decently do to chip in [illegible] Li Hung Chang an [illegible].—Boston Star.

Senator Allison's bald head is a tempting bait, but there is nothing to indicate that the flies ever roost there.—St. Louis Republic.

Senator Allison doesn't need a political boom; what Senator Allison needs is a political epitaph.—Chicago Times.

MEN TO VOTE FOR.

LOU H. MOREHOUSE,

Republican Nominee for Board of Equalization, Second District.

If there is any man now in office who is pre-eminently entitled to a re-election for his fidelity to the public interest and fairness and for the honesty with which he has performed his public duties, that man is L. C. Morehouse, the Republican nominee for member of the State Board of Equalization from the Second Equalization district.

Mr. Morehouse has already held the office for three terms, and proven to the satisfaction of his constituents his special fitness for it. The duties of the Board require special qualifications in its members, a thorough knowledge of the values of realty in the various counties in the State. There is not a County Assessor in any part of the State, San Francisco, perhaps, excepted, that will not give Mr. Morehouse credit for an expert knowledge of the property values of their respective counties. The people of the State, outside of San Francisco, have long ago become thoroughly familiar with the reason why the metropolis does not also give him the same credit. He has incurred a strong opposition from that city because it has been his unpleasant duty, each year, in the interest of fairness and justice to the rest of the State, to vote for the raising of its assessment valuations. But in so doing, Mr. Morehouse and his colleagues have erred on the side of leniency. This year, the assessment of San Francisco was raised by the State Board of Equalization fifteen per cent, at Mr. Morehouse's suggestions, although Mr. Beamer, the Democratic member of the Third district, advocated a raise of 20 per cent, and some of the interior papers thought it would not have been unfair to have raised it twenty-five per cent. In evidence that no injustice was done the metropolis by the raise, recent forced sales of business property there show that the local assessment could have been quadrupled in those cases without any injustice to the owners. It is an officer that knows how to do his duty and has the courage to do it, like Mr. Morehouse, whom the State wants in its service.

Mr. Morehouse was born in New York State, December 29, 1833. From there he accompanied his parents to Illinois in 1844. In 1852 he crossed the plains to California and located in Alameda county in 1853, remaining here until 1858, when he returned to Illinois by water.

In Illinois he pursued the occupation of farming until 1866, when he again crossed the plains for this State, driving overland in a wagon. He again located in this county and has remained here since.

Mr. Morehouse has held several public offices and in each one he has served the people honestly and faithfully. He was for a time a Deputy Revenue Assessor. Subsequently he was a constable. Later he was appointed a Deputy Sheriff. Afterwards he was chosen Township Assessor by election, and when the office became one of appointment he was made Deputy Assessor.

Mr. Morehouse's official training was, therefore, one which qualified him for the high and more responsible office to which he was elected by the people of the Second Equalization District in 1882.

Mr. Morehouse's election that year was a red-letter event. He was the only Republican that was elected that year on either District or State ticket. He has filled the office through three Administrations with uniform acceptability, having been re-elected in 1886 and 1890.

The Republicans of the Second Equalization district have a full appreciation of his worth, and in recognition of it they nominated him by acclamation at the District Convention this year.

The Second Equalization District embraces the following counties: Alameda, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Tuolumne.

At the election of 1890, with five candidates in the field, Mr. Morehouse received a majority vote over all of 4556, or a plurality over Dusterberry, the Democratic candidate, of 12,129 votes.

There are very cogent reasons why Mr. Morehouse should receive this year a still stronger indorsement at the hands of the people. He has given general satisfaction to his district; he is thoroughly posted on the duties of his office; no member has ever filled the position who has given it the attention he has given it; he has studied it carefully, given more time to it than any other man who ever occupied a seat on the board; he is a man who does his duty fearlessly, regardless of criticism. Those ought to be strong enough reasons to influence the conduct of every voter in the district, irrespective of party affiliations, in his favor, thus swelling his majority larger than it ever has been.

SANTA CLARA COUNTY will give a rousing majority to W. F. Clark for Railroad Commissioner, for since the people have had a chance of getting acquainted with him, they have learned that he is exactly the right man for the place.—San Jose Mercury.

That is exactly what ought to happen to Mayor Clark in Alameda County, also, and for the same reasons.

The Chicago Times ironically puts this up as a ticket for 1896:

For President, George M. Pullman of Italy.

For Vice President, Andrew Carnegie of Scotland.

Platform: To hell with the workingman.

THE San Diego Union has opened its batteries on the "piece clubs," which have been organized in that city and are "actively engaged in soliciting cash contributions from candidates on the plea that if the money is forthcoming the members will act as a unit and help to elect the men who fee them." The Union says that they are not confining their efforts to any party, but address them alike to all. The Purity Election law aimed at abolishing these political blackmailing organizations, and if candidates will only have the courage to comply with its requirements they will die a natural death.

THE Napa Register says Santa Cruz Republicans are talking as most Republicans talk here:

The county and the district tickets are of much more importance to the people this year than usual. The Republican county ticket when it comes to voting on it, constitutes, to all intents and purposes, the foundation of the Republican State and Congressional tickets. Fealty to the one means fealty to all; the betrayal of one will carry a damaging influence on all others. The State and county tickets represent administrations of four years duration.

"There's our sentiment's." They are our sentiments in more ways than one. THE TRIBUNE gave birth to the paragraph which the Santa Cruz Sentinel, having no journalistic honor, appropriated without credit.

A COLONEL HENDERSON of Denver, Col., has begun to work the gold-bearing placers in the San Francisquito canyon, about sixty miles from Los Angeles. The presence of these gold-bearing deposits have been known for a long time. Over twenty years ago Colonel Peel prospected them pretty thoroughly, but was compelled to abandon them for the want of water. The gravel beds are rich in gold, but there is no water that can be brought to bear upon them within a radius of 100 miles, hence they are unprofitable to work. Peel and his associates were compelled to carry the pay dirt on mule back to the canyon below and cradle it with the slender stream dribbling through that gorge in the Coast range.

Log Rafting on the Pacific.

The loss of the big Astorian raft of logs which parted at sea shortly after crossing the Columbia river bar, en route to San Francisco, in tow of the tug Monarch, gives another setback to this method of lumber shipment. The raft was the property of the Southern Pacific Company. It was valued at $30,000, and was insured for one-half the sum. A little over a year ago, the San Francisco Bridge Company made an effort to bring wharf piles and saw-logs down the coast the same way. They lost two mammoth rafts in the same way that the Astorian raft was lost last week. The last of these two rafts cost the Bridge Company $45,000, and swamped it. The company made an assignment soon after the news of the wreck of the raft reached here.

While the rafting of logs from one point to another is successfully conducted on the Eastern coast, only one company on this side has seemingly made any success of it, namely the Fort Bragg and Noyo River Lumber Company, a corporation in which General Alger of Michigan and some Oaklanders are largely interested. That company has safely towed down the coast a large number of rafts. The big profits in this method of transporting lumber is very tempting to millmen. It would seem reasonable to expect greater success with the business on the Pacific coast than they enjoy on the Atlantic coast, because of greater exemption from storms. Big rafts have gone adrift on the Atlantic side, and for months afterwards have menaced the commerce of that ocean, but the disasters have not been as serious or as frequent, as they have been here. Maybe our lumbermen are too eager to make a big thing in one shipment on the principle of "make or break," and as luck has gone against them, the latter experience has been their fate. It is also possible that the method of constructing the log rafts is defective, for once the big cigar-shaped structure leaves its cradle, the immense weight of its contents brings such a tremendous strain upon the chains binding it together that the dissolution of the cumbersome craft by the action of the waves is thus materially aided.

If rafting logs is to be made a success on this side of the continent, either some new method of raft construction will have to be adopted or else smaller rafts will have to be taken in tow.

The "Independent" in the Campaign.

It is at this juncture in the county campaign a noteworthy fact and affords food for reflection that what is left of the Democratic party here is a unit. The same, in a literal sense, is the state of affairs in the camp of the Democratic tender—the Populist party. Every Independent candidate, on the other hand, is a Republican, and if he remains in the field must injure the party with which he has hitherto affiliated. There is probably not a man in the field today as an independent candidate who has that deliberately in view. He probably thinks that his personal popularity, or some streak of good luck, will carry him safely through. But if he will take time to reflect one moment on the situation he cannot fail to realize his error. He failed at the primary; he lost in the convention. The party nominee is sure to receive the bulk of the party votes, as he is fairly entitled to them all. Where then can the "independent" derive enough votes to elect him? The Democrats were never known to vote for a Republican. They are not going to do it this year, even though that Republican classes himself as an "independent." They will stand by the Democratic candidate—that is, so many of them that have not joined the Populistic tender. The greatest danger to the Republican county ticket lies therefore within the ranks of Republicans. If any Republican gives his vote to an "independent" candidate, he must know that in so doing he is weakening his own party ticket and putting the party in jeopardy. His intentions may not be that way, but it will be the logical effect.

If any Republican, therefore, fails to read between the lines of the situation as affected by the independent element in the current campaign then he must be a dullard indeed. The remedy is a simple and safe one—it is this: If the "independent" candidate declines to vo untarily withdraw from the field, but persists in remaining in it and getting his name on the ballot, then every Republican when he comes to vote should, in stamping his ballot, avoid the name of the "independent" as he would the plague.

ACCORDING to the published Japanese account of the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river, Admiral Ito, in command of the Japanese fleet, attempted to execute the same maneuver that Nelson successfully executed at Trafalgar. The Chinese fleet was approaching in double column, and Admiral Ito at once headed the course of his ships so as to pass down the line between the two columns. The Chinese Admiral, Ting Ju Chang, realized his danger as soon as he saw the Japanese fleet bearing down upon him in single column, and he hurriedly changed his line of battle, thus avoiding a repetition of the story of Trafalgar. Had Admiral Ito succeeded in entering the lane between the two columns of the Chinese fleet he would have divided it as Nelson divided the French fleet, and he would have been in a position to work his guns on both sides of his ships at short range, while the ships of the enemy would have been receiving their own fire as well as his. He achieved a brilliant victory, nevertheless.

A VETERAN of Waterloo, who served under Wellington, is said to be living at St. Joseph, Mo., aged 107 years. His name is William Chambers, and he was born at Ballymant, County Antrim, Ireland, September 12, 1787. Chambers enlisted in the British army and fought at Waterloo as a cavalryman. A correspondent of the Chicago Times says that investigation of the birth records of Ballymant and the British war records establish the authenticity of Chambers' age and military service. He is still hale and has a clear memory of past events.

IN GRASS VALLEY there is some talk of reorganizing a "601" society to get rid of the worthless characters that have established quarters there. The Tidings recommends that course. It is beginning to look as if a '77-'56 organization would have to be revived on this side of the bay by the cities of Alameda and Oakland for a similar purpose. Crime is a natural accompaniment of organized vagabondage.

NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Sashes and throatlets of a different color and material from the gown are very popular and do much to dress a simple toilet. A dainty arrangement is to fasten a sash on the left side of the bust, with about one-third of its length falling down on the skirt; the sash then passes under the left arm about the figure and fastens on the right side at the waist line, with the long end falling almost to the hem of the frock.

Indian Chutney—Three ounces salt, one pound brown sugar, one ounce garlic, one half pound raisins, one quarter ounce cayenne, six ounces preserved ginger, juice of four small lemons, six wineglasses of vinegar, and ten large apples. Pare and cut up the apples and boil them in the vinegar till quite soft. Shred all the other ingredients very finely and mix the lemon juice and sugar together. Mix everything together and simmer for one hour. Keep in a dry place; the warmer, too, the better. The chutney is ready for use in six months' time.

WHEN WOMEN VOTE.

Oh, mother, please, mother, come with me now,
The afternoon's slipping by fast,
You said you were coming right home from the polls
As soon as your ballot was cast,
Poor father came in for his dinner at noon
And not a mouthful could he find,
And the words that he said as he slammed the front door
Left a strong smell of sulphur behind.

Science says now that beauty is not skin deep. She can tell you that half the charm of a pretty face—at least the expression—is a matter of little muscles and a complex labyrinth of little nerves, and that the curve of the lips, the glance of the eyes, the droop of their lids, are a matter of the prevalent use of certain small muscles in obedience to a prevalent aspect of the mind. Moreover, that the use of these organs of expression has come down along ancestral lines, and that the mold of the features themselves is a question of heredity.

A new invention which will be largely appreciated, especially by home dressmakers, is a patent dress fastener, consisting of two pieces of cloth lined with steel, to which the hooks and eyes necessary for the front of a bodice are firmly and symmetrically riveted. These are sewn into the fronts of the dress, and as the hooks and eyes are alternately reversed, it is quite impossible for the bodice when in wear to become accidentally unfastened. The contrivance is sold for a few cents.

POLITICAL PRATTLE.

What the California Newspapers Are Saying.

Possibly our dairymen may be interested to know that "sham issue," the tariff question, directly affects their pockets and business. Well, here is one obvious consequence of superseding the McKinley tariff by the Wilson-Gorman schedule. The protection afforded to American cheese under the McKinley tariff was six cents per pound or say 43 per cent ad valorem. Under the Gorman bill it is but four cents per pound or say 29 per cent ad valorem. Even under the McKinley tariff the importation from Canada, as shown by the statistics of the treasury department for the year ending June 30, 1892, was over 200,000 pounds, which found its way to the Chicago market and assisted in fixing the price of cheese for the American market and necessarily for this market. Now that the tariff has been reduced one-third, of course the Canadian importations will be vastly increased with the result that our cheese makers may expect hereafter to have their profits hampered down still farther and the price they may get will be fixed by the Canadian dairyman.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

Estee will be an easy winner in the Gubernatorial race which is now on, Webster will be second and Jim and his buckboard will bring up the rear.—Petaluma Imprint.

As matters now stand, the voters of Fresno county are apparently called on to decide between George C. Perkins and Colonel Irish, the Southern Pacific servant, when they cast their votes for members of the Legislature. John P. Irish is not only a railroad servant of long standing, but is an ardent supporter of Cleveland's gold bug, anti-silver, pro-Chinese record, and is now stall fed for the Senatorial race with fat things from the Federal pie factory. This is a question which deserves serious consideration by the voter.—Fresno Republican.

Mr. Budd wanted to discuss State issues, and Governor Markham has given him a dose from which he will scarcely recover in time to blossom next November. By the way, the Democracy do not appear very willing to discuss local issues in Kern county. Of a truth, they are between the devil and the deep sea, with the latter yawning to swallow them up.—Kern County Californian.

Promises to reduce taxation do not come with good grace from the Democrats, whose record in State management does not warrant belief in them. Every Republican administration in California that has followed a Democratic administration has reduced the tax levy of its predecessor. In every campaign promises of economy were made, as now. In every instance the Republicans redeemed their pledges and the Democrats did not.—Nevada City Transcript.

Mr. Budd, the Democratic candidate for Governor, is making all sorts of captivating promises to the people, which are to be fulfilled in the event of his election—may be. Among other benefits to accrue to his Administration, he and his associate "reformers" are to reduce the rates of transportation 25 per cent. Hon. H. M LaRue, the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner from the Sacramento district, says that he has not taken the Democratic pledge for a horizontal reduction in the rates of transportation in this State. Since this can be done only through the Railroad Commission, and since at least one candidate for Railroad Commissioner repudiates the pledge, this high sounding promise of the boastful Budd appears to be on the same plane with the great majority of his loud promises—made solely in the interest of Jim's Jim.—Petaluma Imprint.

Every honest Democrat in California knows that Hilborn was bunco'ed out of his seat.—The Mail of Woodland.

The Democratic Populists are Populists all through the campaign, but on the day of election they will vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom. Let the Republicans remember this and not imperil the chances of their own men by casting a single Populist ticket on the 6th of November.—Oroville Register.

Good reports are received everywhere as to the Republican chances for success. The State and Legislative tickets are beyond question in our mind. There will be a Republican Governor, a Republican Legislature and very nearly a solid Republican delegation in Congress—certainly a United States Senator.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Republicans are said to be slow to arouse to enthusiasm, but appearances indicate that in the fifteen days that remain before the election the enthusiasm will rise high above the ordinary boiling temperature. This enthusiasm may become dangerous by inspiring too great confidence. Enthusiasm alone will not carry the election. There must be careful work as well as arousing zeal. California must be made to give an unusually large Republican majority, one that will give emphasis to its condemnation of the destructive Democracy.—Stockton Independent.

All who have felt the evil effects of Democratic misgovernment should vote the Republican Legislative ticket, so as to make sure of a United States Senator who will stand up for protection and good government.—San Jose Mercury.

The Hill that defeated Hornblower for the United States Supreme Court and that held up the nomination of Healy until the adjournment of the Senate and enabled the President to put him in office on a recess appointment must have been a bad Hill; the Hill that was. ABSOLUTELY PURE

MEN TO VOTE FOR.

LOU H. MOREHOUSE,

Republican Nominee for Board of Equalization, Second District.

If there is any man now in office who is pre-eminently entitled to a re-election for his fidelity to the public interest and fairness and for the honesty with which he has performed his public duties, that man is L. C. Morehouse, the Republican nominee for member of the State Board of Equalization from the Second Equalization district.

Mr. Morehouse has already held the office for three terms, and proven to the satisfaction of his constituents his special fitness for it. The duties of the Board require special qualifications in its members, a thorough knowledge of the values of realty in the various counties in the State. There is not a County Assessor in any part of the State, San Francisco, perhaps, excepted, that will not give Mr. Morehouse credit for an expert knowledge of the property values of their respective counties. The people of the State, outside of San Francisco, have long ago become thoroughly familiar with the reason why the metropolis does not also give him the same credit. He has incurred a strong opposition from that city because it has been his unpleasant duty, each year, in the interest of fairness and justice to the rest of the State, to vote for the raising of its assessment valuations. But in so doing, Mr. Morehouse and his colleagues have erred on the side of leniency. This year, the assessment of San Francisco was raised by the State Board of Equalization fifteen per cent, at Mr. Morehouse's suggestions, although Mr. Beamer, the Democratic member of the Third district, advocated a raise of 20 per cent, and some of the interior papers thought it would not have been unfair to have raised it twenty-five per cent. In evidence that no injustice was done the metropolis by the raise, recent forced sales of business property there show that the local assessment could have been quadrupled in those cases without any injustice to the owners. It is an officer that knows how to do his duty and has the courage to do it, like Mr. Morehouse, whom the State wants in its service.

Mr. Morehouse was born in New York State, December 29, 1838. From there he accompanied his parents to Illinois in 1844. In 1852 he crossed the plains to California and located in Alameda county in 1853, remaining here until 1858, when he returned to Illinois by water.

In Illinois he pursued the occupation of farming until 1866, when he again crossed the plains for this State, driving overland in a wagon. He again located in this county and has remained here since.

Mr. Morehouse has held several public offices and in each one he has served the people honestly and faithfully. He was for a time a Deputy Revenue Assessor. Subsequently he was a constable. Later he was appointed a Deputy Sheriff. Afterwards he was chosen Township Assessor by election, and when the office became one of appointment he was made Deputy Assessor.

Mr. Morehouse's official training was, therefore, one which qualified him for the high and more responsible office to which he was elected by the people of the Second Equalization District in 1882.

Mr. Morehouse's election that year was a red-letter event. He was the only Republican that was elected that year on either District or State ticket. He has filled the office through three Administrations with uniform acceptability, having been re-elected in 1886 and 1890.

The Republicans of the Second Equalization district have a full appreciation of his worth, and in recognition of it they nominated him by acclamation at the District Convention this year.

The Second Equalization District embraces the following counties: Alameda, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Contra Costa, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Tuolumne.

At the election of 1890, with five candidates in the field, Mr. Morehouse received a majority vote over all of 4556, or a plurality over Dusterberry, the Democratic candidate, of 12,129 votes.

There are very cogent reasons why Mr. Morehouse should receive this year a still stronger indorsement at the hands of the people. He has given general satisfaction to his district; he is thoroughly posted on the duties of his office; no one has studied it carefully, given more time to it than any other man who ever occupied a seat on the board; he is a man who does his duty fearlessly, regardless of criticism. These ought to be strong enough reasons to influence the conduct of every voter in the district, irrespective of party affiliations, in his favor, thus swelling his majority larger than it ever has been.

There is one man in Philadelphia who contends that 13 is his lucky number, and it has followed him all through life. He was born in 1840, which added together makes 13, and on the 13th of the month. There were 13 in the family. At 13 he successfully passed examination for college, and the first salary he earned was $13 a week. Nearly every hotel he stops at he strikes room 13; if he is in a very great hurry car 13 comes along and he gets there all right; almost always when he pulls small change out of his pocket he has 13 cents, and so it goes. Without any effort on his part this numerical coincidence extends to the most trifling things and seems to have no let up. For years he paid $13 a week board, and the numbers of the house he lived in formed that number when added together. When he counts his mail in the morning he has 13 letters, and if he picks up a number of sheets of paper at random to count them he finds they just number 13.

CO-OPERATION.

A Plan to Give the Land to the People.

Distress Can Be Avoided by a Small Outlay.

Two Thousand Families Settled for a Million Dollars.

Editor Tribune—SIR: With reference to my plan for the assistance of the unemployed, sketched in an article recently published in your journal, I now proceed to set forth the details of the scheme:

To begin with the land, forty acres should be allowed to each man or family. Each section would thus have sixteen settlers to bring it into cultivation, without reckoning the children's help. This land should be cultivated on a co-operative system, in villages or groups, because in that way alone—as it appears to me—could the cattle and implements which would be required, be used in the most economical manner.

Each family should have a cow and some poultry; and in some cases, where the conditions were favorable, a pig or pigs for its own exclusive use, but a span of horses or a yoke of oxen would do duty for four families, as would also a plow, wagon, harrows and such like implements; while one reaper and one mower would do for an entire section, or sixteen families.

Each family would be required to reside on the place alloted for its use—no absenteeism would be allowed, except for urgent reasons, to be decided by the superintendent, whose duties will be defined later. Each family would be required to break and bring under cultivation at least ten acres of land in each year. The co-operation to which I have referred would admit of one man plowing his neighbor's land while his neighbor was seeding or otherwise cultivating the land of the person so occupied. This idea could be followed in all the various duties incidental to the common object in view.

During the first year an allowance would be made to assist in the maintenance of the family, varying in proportion to its needs, and for the feed for the animals. In the second year this would cease. The third year repayment of the sum advanced by the Government would commence. I propose that this repayment should be so gradual that it would never be felt as a hardship.

With regard to the amount of assistance to be rendered in each case I consider that an average of $500 per family would be sufficient for all purposes. A single man would require less, a man with a wife about that much, while a man with both wife and family would require more. This sum would include the cost of a house (necessarily of the very simplest construction), the proportion of cost of team, cow, poultry, implements, etc. After the second year, and each year following, one tenth of the sum so advanced should be repaid, so that in twelve years the holding would belong to the party who had cultivated it. Every four sections or sixty-four families should have a superintendent, whose duty it would be to see that each family performed the proper amount of work, to arrange as to the use of the teams and implements, with the joint concurrence of those interested therein, to see that the allowances were properly distributed; and to advise with the settlers generally.

Great care would have to be taken in the selection of these officers, while being busy bodies they should not be busybodies. They should have no right to enter the house of a settler uninvited. The object of their appointment would be the general supervision in the interests both of Government and of the settlers themselves. They would be paid by a charge of $10 a year to each settler or family after the second year.

Every town or village from which a settler or family was drawn, would be required to pay $50 towards the object of this undertaking; which, considering the relief afforded by the withdrawal of each settler or family, would, I think, be readily agreed to.

Whether the appropriation made by the Government for this purpose should be perpetuated so that the third year from the start the repayments commenced, the amounts repaid should be again used for a similar purpose, or whether the appropriation should only be for twelve years (the time in which I have suggested for the repayment by the settlers of the advances) would be a matter for consideration as would also the question whether a large sum, say $20,000,000, should be appropriated at the start, or whether a small sum, as a more tentative measure, would be the wiser course.

At the rate I have suggested, every million dollars would provide for 2000 settlers. Is there not in this country some one who will take this scheme in hand and carry it out?

In conclusion I would say that I have not been portraying Utopia. I know that there would be very many difficulties to overcome in carrying the scheme into effect. But it is a scheme by which any industrious man can surely, in a few years, secure a perfectly independent position. I know that I myself could carry the thing out if necessary. Compare this picture with the picture of a crowd of men calling themselves an Industrial Army, wandering aimlessly from city to city and being kicked from one to the other, and I say that the man who would choose the latter would deserve all the evil he could meet with.

Higher Wages Were Desired by a Printer.

He Quit and Threw Two Hundred Hatters Out of Work.

WABASH, Ind., October 22.—A peculiar damage suit has been filed in the Wabash Circuit Court designed to test how far a contract between an employer and employe is binding.

The plaintiff is Nathan Meyer, proprietor of a hat works in this city.

When the works were established in this city three years ago, Oscar Busch, a printer who has charge of the file lettering on the interior of hats, was brought from New York City under contract to do the work.

He was paid $15 a week, and two years ago his wages were raised to $18.

About a month ago he quit work and would not return unless engaged for two years at $20 a week.

This was acceded to by Mr. Meyer, and a written contract was drawn up and signed.

Friday night Busch said that he wanted the balance due him as he did not intend working longer, and a check for $52 was given him.

Saturday morning he did not appear, and when reminded of his contract said it made no difference as he was going East unless Mr. Meyer raised his wages to $25 a week.

Mr. Meyer declined to entertain this proposition, and Busch not only refused to go to the factory, but refused to let his assistant go to work.

Payment was stopped on the $52 check, and suit for $1000 damages begun against Busch.

Meanwhile the factory is closed, 200 persons are out of employment, and the works will not start again until the latter part of the week when a skilled printer can be hired and brought here.

The Reliance Football Team Scores a Splendid Victory.

The football game between the Reliance and Stanford teams last Saturday at the Haight street park resulted in a victory for the Oakland boys. The collegians were not in the contest from the beginning to the end. When the final score was obtained it stood 18 to 4 in favor of the Reliance.

The regular monthly race of the Oakland Navy was held on the estuary yesterday afternoon. The Whim crossed the line first, but she was ruled out on a foul. The Flying Scud was given first place, Amalia second and the Jack third. The big boats in the navy were practically distanced. The time was very slow, as the wind was light.

The monthly shoot of Company F for the medal was held at Shell Mound yesterday. The scores were as follows: Corporal Tyrrell, 45; Private McGinness, 44; Private Travers, 42; Private Campbell, 41; Private Parsons, 41; Private Webb, 41; Captain Wethern, 40; Sergeant Cobbledick, 39; Corporal McCrudden, 39; Private Clough, 39; Corporal Cobalt, 38; Sergeant Pierie, 37; Private Stott, 37; Private Unda, 37; Private Moe, 37; Sergeant Rennie, 34; Private Williams, 35; Private Bortley, 34; Private Beck, 33; Corporal Harvey, 32; Private Mitchell, 31; Lieutenant Wenk, 20; Private Boody, 29; Private F. The next game will be played at Haight Street Park instead of at the Piedmont grounds. The contesting teams will be the Berkeleys and Reliance.

A POPULAR ORATOR.

Evangelist Martin is Attracting Big Crowds.

The great revival under the auspices of the First Christian Church, Rev. Dr. Sweeney's congregation, has grown into a wonderful meeting. It is held at Hamilton Hall. Rev. Dr. Martin of St. Louis is doing the preaching. The crowd last night was a seething mass of human beings, boiling like a busy bee hive and swarming with life.

Mr. Martin's wit and eloquence to men who may not even believe in religion at all, is a great entertainment—in fact a popular amusement. While he edifies the saints he seems to be equally as interesting to sinners. Unlike many meetings of the kind the man seem to constitute a large majority of his hearers. He will preach every night this week, his subject for tonight being "Can People Be Saved Outside of the Church?" Chairs will be provided today to increase the seating capacity of the hall.

An Unlikely Theory.

The police of Alameda have come to the conclusion that Rev. and Mrs. Wolff, who were so brutally assaulted in their residence in that city a week ago, were the victims of emissaries of a whisky ring in Alaska which they had opposed with both vigor and success while they were acting as missionaries in that part of the world.

A BIG FALL.

A Russian Countess Is Now Selling Papers.

Her Beloved Son Was Banished to Siberia.

She Came to America, but Her Bad Luck Pursued Her.

NEW YORK, October 22.—Chicago may boast of having an alien Marquis, who is a millionaire carpenter and builder, but New York goes one better, for Wall street business men buy their papers off a Countess, who had an established position in the court at St. Petersburg.

She is a little old woman, who has a small stand in front of the postoffice, over which she presides with a dignity acquired under far different circumstances.

Her full name is Josephine Suffeen Jarozka.

Her story, as she tells it, begins when a young Polish girl she married Count Paul Jarozka and went to live in St. Petersburg. She had a high social position there.

That was almost a generation ago, and she was happy in the Russian capital for many years.

By and by she and her husband began to disagree. Finally she left him.

Then her husband retaliated in a manner that some people might call peculiarly Russian.

They had a son, a bright youth, and the father caused information to be sent to the Government that he was in a conspiracy against the crown. One day the son disappeared.

The next the mother heard of him was that he had been sent to Siberia to die in the mines.

The Countess endeavored to secure her boy's release. She visited the officials herself.

She asked all her friends to help her, but she could not remove the Czar's chains from her boy. She then came to America, bringing with her what little money she had saved.

She lived in New York in cheap lodging houses until nearly all her money was gone and the time had come for her to do some kind of work or starve.

Then she began to sell papers, and since has earned her living in that manner.

Attempts have been made to take her from her present position of want and place her where she will never again be in danger of hunger or cold, but she looks on all of them as charity and refuses them.

Run Down and Killed.

Pierre David, a Frenchman residing at 428 Second street, near Broadway, was instantly killed by the 8:20 Alameda train last night, at the pier. It is supposed the dead man in trying to get out of the way of a freight train, stepped in front of the Alameda cars, and met his death.

The Best Teacher.

The Arabs say that the best teacher is Time. That is true, especially when year after year enforces the same lesson. For more than thirty years ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS have been in use in every part of the world, and the testimony is universal as to their value as an external remedy for pains of every kind in the back, chest and side. Some people have learned the lesson so well that they try to imitate them, and the result is a host of counterfeits, all pretending to be just as good as ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, and unconscious that by this very statement they acknowledge that ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS hold the first place. The People's Express Company is always in the leading the matter of accommodating its patrons. The People's Express, among its many advantages, offers a perfect system of checking trunks to and from one's home to the depots, which is a great convenience to those going away from or returning to Oakland.

CO-OPERATION.

A Plan to Give the Land to the People.

Distress Can Be Avoided by a Small Outlay.

Two Thousand Families Settled for a Million Dollars.

Editor Tribune—SIR: With reference to my plan for the assistance of the unemployed, sketched in an article recently published in your journal, I now proceed to set forth the details of the scheme:

To begin with the land, forty acres should be allowed to each man or family. Each section would thus have sixteen settlers to bring it into cultivation, without reckoning the children's help. This land should be cultivated on a co-operative system, in villages or groups, because in that way alone—as it appears to me—could, the cattle and implements which would be required, be used in the most economical manner.

Each family should have a cow and some poultry; and in some cases, where the conditions were favorable, a pig or pigs for its own exclusive use, but a span of horses or a yoke of oxen would do duty for four families, as would also a plow, wagon, harrows and such like implements; while one reaper and one mower would do for an entire section, or sixteen families.

Each family would be required to reside on the place alloted for its use—no absenteeism would be allowed, except for urgent reasons, to be decided by the superintendent, whose duties will be defined later. Each family would be required to break and bring under cultivation at least ten acres of land in each year. The co-operation to which I have referred would admit of one man plowing his neighbor's land while his neighbor was seeding or otherwise cultivating the land of the person so occupied. This idea could be followed in all the various duties incidental to the common object in view.

During the first year an allowance would be made to assist in the maintenance of the family, varying in proportion to its needs, and for the feed for the animals. In the second year this would cease. The third year repayment of the sum advanced by the Government would commence. I propose that this repayment should be so gradual that it would never be felt as a hardship.

With regard to the amount of assistance to be rendered in each case I consider that an average of $500 per family would be sufficient for all purposes. A single man would require less, a man with a wife about that much, while a man with both wife and family would require more. This sum would include the cost of a house (necessarily of the very simplest construction), the proportion of cost of team, cow, poultry, implements, etc. After the second year, and each year following, one tenth of the sum so advanced should be repaid, so that in twelve years the holding would belong to the party who had cultivated it. Every four sections or sixty-four families should have a superintendent, whose duty it would be to see that each family performed the proper amount of work, to arrange as to the use of the teams and implements, with the joint concurrence of those interested therein, to see that the allowances were properly distributed; and to advise with the settlers generally.

Great care would have to be taken in the selection of these officers, while being busy bodies they should not be busybodies. They should have no right to enter the house of a settler uninvited. The object of their appointment would be the general supervision in the interests both of Government and of the settlers themselves. They would be paid by a charge of $10 a year to each settler or family after the second year.

Every town or village from which a settler or family was drawn, would be required to pay $50 towards the object of this undertaking; which, considering the relief afforded by the withdrawal of each settler or family, would, I think, be readily agreed to.

Whether the appropriation made by the Government for this purpose should be perpetuated so that the third year from the start the repayments commenced, the amounts repaid should be again used for a similar purpose, or whether the appropriation should only be for twelve years (the time in which I have suggested for the repayment by the settlers of the advances) would be a matter for consideration as would also the question whether a large sum, say $20,000,000, should be appropriated at the start, or whether a small sum, as a more tentative measure, would be the wiser course.

At the rate I have suggested, every million dollars would provide for 2000 settlers. Is there not in this country some one who will take this scheme in hand and carry it out?

In conclusion I would say that I have not been portraying Utopia. I know that there would be very many difficulties to overcome in carrying the scheme into effect. But it is a scheme by which any industrious man can surely, in a few years, secure a perfectly independent position. I know that I myself could carry the thing out if necessary. Compare this picture with the picture of a crowd of men calling themselves an Industrial Army, wandering aimlessly from city to city and being kicked from one to the other, and I say that the man who would choose the latter would deserve all the evil he could meet with.

Higher Wages Were Desired by a Printer.

He Quit and Threw Two Hundred Hatters Out of Work.

WABASH, Ind., October 22.—A peculiar damage suit has been filed in the Wabash Circuit Court designed to test how far a contract between an employer and employe is binding.

The plaintiff is Nathan Meyer, proprietor of a hat works in this city.

When the works were established in this city three years ago, Oscar Busch, a printer who has charge of the file lettering on the interior of hats, was brought from New York City under contract to do the work.

He was paid $15 a week, and two years ago his wages were raised to $18.

About a month ago he quit work and would not return unless engaged for two years at $20 a week.

This was acceded to by Mr. Meyer, and a written contract was drawn up and signed.

Friday night Busch said that he wanted the balance due him as he did not intend working longer, and a check for $52 was given him.

Saturday morning he did not appear, and when reminded of his contract said it made no difference as he was going East unless Mr. Meyer raised his wages to $25 a week.

Mr. Meyer declined to entertain this proposition, and Busch not only refused to go to the factory, but refused to let his assistant go to work.

Payment was stopped on the $52 check, and suit for $1000 damages begun against Busch.

Meanwhile the factory is closed, 200 persons are out of employment, and the works will not start again until the latter part of the week when a skilled printer can be hired and brought here.

SPORTING NEWS.

The Reliance Football Team Scores a Splendid Victory.

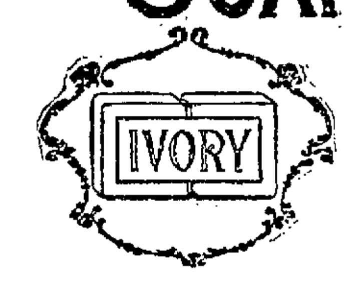

The football game between the Reliance and Stanford teams last Saturday at the Haight street park resulted in a victory for the Oakland boys. The collegians were not in the contest from the beginning to the end. When the final score was obtained it stood 18 to 4 in favor of the Reliance.

The regular monthly race of the Oakland Navy was held on the estuary yesterday afternoon. The Whim crossed the line first, but she was ruled out on a foul. The Flying Scud was given first place, Amalia second and the Jack third. The big boats in the navy were practically distanced. The time was very slow, as the wind was light.

The monthly shoot of Company F for the medal was held at Shell Mound yesterday. The scores were as follows: Corporal Tyrrell, 45; Private McGinness, 44; Private Travers, 42; Private Campbell, 41; Private Parsons, 41; Private Webb, 41; Captain Wethern, 40; Sergeant Cobbledick, 39; Corporal McCrudden, 39; Private Clough, 39; Corporal Cobalt, 38; Sergeant Pierie, 37; Private Stott, 37; Private Unda, 37; Private Moe, 37; Sergeant Rennie, 34; Private Williams, 35; Private Bortley, 24; Private Bock, 33; Corporal Harvey, 32; Private Mitchell, 31; Lieutenant Wonk, 20; Private Boudy, 29; Private F. The next game will be played at Haight Street Park instead of at the Piedmont grounds. The contesting teams will be the Berkeleys and Reliance.

A POPULAR ORATOR.

Evangelist Martin is Attracting Big Crowds.

The great revival under the auspices of the First Christian Church, Rev. Dr. Sweeney's congregation, has grown into a wonderful meeting. It is held at Hamilton Hall. Rev. Dr. Martin of St. Louis is doing the preaching. The crowd last night was a seething mass of human beings, boiling like a busy bee hive and swarming with life.

Mr. Martin's wit and eloquence to men who may not even believe in religion at all, is a great entertainment—in fact a popular amusement. While he edifies the saints he seems to be equally as interesting to sinners. Unlike many meetings of the kind the men seem to constitute a large majority of his hearers. He will preach every night this week, his subject for tonight being "Can People Be Saved Outside of the Church?" Chairs will be provided today to increase the seating capacity of the hall.

An Unlikely Theory.

The police of Alameda have come to the conclusion that Rev. and Mrs. Wolff, who were so brutally assaulted in their residence in that city a week ago, were the victims of emissaries of a whisky ring in Alaska which they had opposed with both vigor and success while they were acting as missionaries in that part of the world.

A BIG FALL.

A Russian Countess Is Now Selling Papers.

Her Beloved Son Was Banished to Siberia.

She Came to America, but Her Bad Luck Pursued Her.

NEW YORK, October 22.—Chicago may boast of having an alien Marquis, who is a millionaire carpenter and builder, but New York goes one better, for Wall street business men buy their papers off a Countess, who had an established position in the court at St. Petersburg.

She is a little old woman, who has a small stand in front of the postoffice, over which she presides with a dignity acquired under far different circumstances.

Her full name is Josephine Suffcon Jarozka.

Her story, as she tells it, begins when a young Polish girl she married Count Paul Jarozka and went to live in St. Petersburg. She had a high social position there.

That was almost a generation ago, and she was happy in the Russian capital for many years.

By and by she and her husband began to disagree. Finally she left him.

Then her husband retaliated in a manner that some people might call peculiarly Russian.

They had a son, a bright youth, and the father caused information to be sent to the Government that he was in a conspiracy against the crown. One day the son disappeared.

The next the mother heard of him was that he had been sent to Siberia to die in the mines.

The Countess endeavored to secure her boy's release. She visited the officials herself.

She asked all her friends to help her, but she could not remove the Czar's chains from her boy. She then came to America, bringing with her what little money she had saved.

She lived in New York in cheap lodging houses until nearly all her money was gone and the time had come for her to do some kind of work or starve.

Then she began to sell papers, and since has earned her living in that manner.

Attempts have been made to take her from her present position of want and place her where she will never again be in danger of hunger or cold, but she looks on all of them as charity and refuses them.

Run Down and Killed.

Pierre David, a Frenchman residing at 428 Second street, near Broadway, was instantly killed by the 8:20 Alameda train last night, at the pier. It is supposed the dead man in trying to get out of the way of a freight train, stepped in front of the Alameda cars, and met his death.

The Best Teacher.

The Arabs say that the best teacher is Time. That is true, especially when year after year enforces the same lesson. For more than thirty years ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS have been in use in every part of the world, and the testimony is universal as to their value as an external remedy for pains of every kind in the back, chest and side. Some people have learned the lesson so well that they try to imitate them, and the result is a host of counterfeits, all pretending to be just as good as ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, and unconscious that by this very statement they acknowledge that ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS hold the first place. The People's Express, among its many advantages, offers a perfect system of checking trunks to and from one's home to the depots, which is a great convenience to those going away from or returning to Oakland.

CONCERT CALLS.

Entertainments Given by Well Tried Artists.

Review of the Events of the Past Week.

Musical Comments and Gleanings Among the Artists.

The musical events of the past week are herewith given.

H. T. Stewart's Recital

Mr. Stewart gave his third organ recital last Wednesday evening at the First Unitarian Church, San Francisco. The Handel Concerto in G minor was excellently rendered. Handel's organ compositions are classics, why are they not played more? Guilmant's "Marche Religieuse" sounded just as well under the name of "Fantasia." The opening theme was taken too fast to be effective. The Andante with variations from Beethoven's Serenade for a string trio was charming, the last two variations being particularly fresh and pleasing. The Short Fugue in A minor makes a good organ fugue, but the arrangement loses all the novelty and piquancy of the original. The singing of Miss Anna Miller Wood contributed in great part to the evening's pleasure.

Congregational S. S. Orchestra

This successful organization gave its eleventh concert last Friday night. The audience was large but not so large as the performances merited. The programme began with Adam's overture "Si j'étais Roi" ["Le Roi d'Yvetot"]. For Gounod's "Queen of Sheba" March, the brass was reinforced, but was somewhat out of tune. Two dances from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker" Suite received much applause.

Miss Rose Hallahan played Mozart's First Piano Concerto. The little lady is no prodigy and the tiny fingers could not press down all the keys. This forcing of child performers is a pernicious practice, it can result in no direct benefit to them and indirectly at least, it is harmful. Miss Maud Chappell was well received and heartily encored. Miss Joan Hush was a great surprise. It has even been suggested that her playing of Munro's "Caprice de Concert" was reminiscent of the great Ovide Musin. For an encore she played Grieg's "Berceuse."

Miss Edith Russell made her debut before an Oakland audience. She has a mezzo soprano voice of pleasing quality and a winning stage presence. Garrett Colyn's "Persian Serenade" was well sung and in response to loud applause Miss Russell sang Eleanor Smith's "The Quest." She is a valuable acquisition to our musical circles and promises to rank high among our local singers. Miss Russell received her musical education in Tacoma, her home, and New York. From her reception the other evening she promises to be very popular with Oakland audiences.

The orchestra will give its next concert January 11, 1895.

Carr-Beel Popular Concert

The thirty-ninth Saturday popular concert drew a large and enthusiastic audience. Schubert's String Quartet in A minor opened the programme. Miss Regina Newman sang a bouquet of four songs. The lady has a pleasant and well trained voice, but her German pronunciation was only slightly better than her English. When will singers learn to speak in singing? This part of voice training is a most universally neglected, whereas it should be one of the most important features of such training. Louis Heine played two 'cello solos, but although called out four times he did not respond to the encore. Tschaikowsky's Trio, op. 50, closed the programme.

TOO THIN.

The Bare-Faced Story Told by a Burglar.

A. Anderson, an 18-year old lad, got out of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, committed on an usher in the People's Theater a few weeks ago, but he is now in a hole where he may remain for some time. Late Saturday night he was arrested by Officer McKeegan while engaged in appropriating a stock of knives from the hardware store of Taylor & Ausseon on Twenty-third avenue and Fourteenth street. At the City Prison he was booked on a charge of burglary.

The lad claims that Saturday night, when he was on his way home, he met a man who forced him under penalty of instant death to commit the burglary. He refuses to give the alleged Bill Sykes' description, although he claims to know him. In the Police Court, this morning, his examination was set for the 26th.

THE COW WON.

Novel Contest With a Horse in Michigan.

The Milk-Maker Ran Like a Thoroughbred.

A Purse Had Been Put Up by a Couple of Sports.

PONTIAC, Mich., October 22.—People in Oakland county are discussing a novel race which occurred last week on the race track here between a cow and a horse. The race originated in banter between two neighbors, Edward White and Joseph Russell. White is the owner of a high-grade Durham cow, 9 years old, and about four weeks ago he began to drive her to a cart.

She soon developed startling qualities, and many owners of good horses who tried to pass White had to take the dust from the bovine's heels. One day Russell tried to pass White with his sorrel mare.

This led to words, and finally White bet Russell $50 that the cow could beat the horse on a half-mile trot or a half-mile walk. Russell accepted the bet and the money was put up.

The cow was somewhat confused by the shouts of the crowd and the otherwise striking contrasts with her familiar haunts, but she easily won the half-mile in seven minutes, the horse being a minute behind at the wire.

The half-mile trot was also won by the cow without an effort in 3:07. White was saving up his cow's wind for the race against time which he had advertised as the closing feature.

His shepherd dog, which kept close behind the cart and seemed to feel a weight of responsibility in the race, was expected to bite the cow's heels as a last resort.

This proved unnecessary in the race with the horse, and the dog refused to do his part in the race for a record.

White claims, however, that she trotted a quarter at a four-minute gate on a country road, and promises to lower that with a few weeks' training.

The cow is driven with regular harness and bit, and never made a break.

SULLY'S SHOWS.

The Irish-American Comedian Here Tonight.

Good Performances to Be Given Theater-Goers.

"The Midnight Express," Is Staged at the People's.

The Millionaire, that clever comedy in which Daniel Sully has made such a hit all over the country, will be presented at the Macdonough for two nights, commencing this evening. The play is one replete with dramatic interest and is full of striking situations and intense realism. Sully plays the part of an Irish contractor, who has secured a valuable railroad franchise and who is combated by a clique of millionaires. There is a railroad race and an exciting finish, and of course the poor man finally triumphs.

The Millionaire is one of those plays that excite critical enthusiasm, and it has many excellences that more pretentious dramas do not possess. In the first place it aims to present a moral hero drawn from actual life, and it does present him without any extraneous theatrical nonsense and without any sophistry.

The Acme Club will take a benefit tonight in connection with the performance, so a big house is assured.

The People's

Dover Dale and his talented company will present the sensational comedy The Midnight Express, at the People's Theater tonight. It is a realistic sensational play.

MRS. SYNDER IN COURT.

She Claims the Neighbors are Backbiting.

Mrs. Snyder, of 835 Pine street, was in the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of cruelty to children. The woman's arrest was caused by Mrs. Sanford of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The case is a peculiar one. Neighbors of the woman claim she has been in the habit of abusing her little daughter May, and that the child has been beaten until she is in a state of desperation.

The child is rather a remarkable looking youngster. She is exceedingly slender and has a curious manner of staring fixedly at persons addressing her, something unusual in a little girl, and which leads to the suspicion that her mind is a trifle unbalanced.

In an interview with the mother this morning she stated that the whole trouble was caused by the officiousness of neighbors. Mrs. Snyder is reputed to be quite wealthy. Her husband is confined in an insane asylum. The woman was released on her own recognizance, and will appear next Monday for trial by the court.

Heagerty Knocked Out.

Danny Heagerty's long fight against the Berkeley temperance people is over. The attacks on his business, which worried him for several years past, have lately been so fierce that the hospitable caterer has concluded to leave town. The burning of his hotel and the attitude taken by the college papers have knocked him out and the thirsty college boys will have to get their coffee elsewhere.

His Injuries Fatal.

Fred Herman, the boy who was struck by the train at Los Banos several days ago, died at Dr. Woolsey's Hospital yesterday. The boy's parents reside in San Francisco.

A Reverend Football Coach.

Rev. C. O. Gill, the University football coach, conducted the services in the Presbyterian Church at Berkeley yesterday.

CONCERT CALLS.

Entertainments Given by Well Tried Artists.

Review of the Events of the Past Week.

Musical Moments and Gleanings Among the Artists.

The musical events of the past week are herewith given:

H. T. Stewart's Recital.

Mr. Stewart gave his third organ recital last Wednesday evening at the First Unitarian Church, San Francisco. The Handel Concerto in G minor was excellently rendered. Handel's organ compositions are classics; why are they not played more? Guilmant's "Marche Religieuse" sounded just as well under the name of "Fantasia." The opening theme was taken too fast to be effective. The Andante with variations from Beethoven's Serenade for a string trio was charming, the last two variations being particularly fresh and pleasing. The Short Fugue in A minor makes a good organ fugue, but the arrangement loses all the novelty and piquancy of the original. The singing of Miss Anna Miller Wood contributed in great part to the evening's pleasure.

Congregational S. S. Orchestra.

This successful organization gave its eleventh concert last Friday night. The audience was large, but not so large as the performance merited. The programme began with Adam's overture "Le Roi d'Yvetot." For Gounod's "Queen of Sheba" March, the brass was reinforced, but was somewhat out of tune. Two dances from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker" Suite received much applause.

Miss Rose Hallahan played Mozart's First Piano Concerto. The little lady is no prodigy and the tiny fingers could not press down all the keys. This forcing of child performers is a pernicious practice; it can result in no direct benefit to them and, indirectly at least, it is harmful. Miss Maud Chappell was well received and heartily encored. Miss Jean Hush was a great surprise. It has even be suggested that her playing of Musin's "Caprice de Concert" was reminiscent of the great Ovide himself. For an encore she played Grieg's "Berceuse."

Miss Edith Russell made her debut before an Oakland audience. She has a mezzo soprano voice of pleasing quality and a winning stage presence. Garrett Colyn's "Persian Serenade" was well sung, and in response to loud applause Miss Russell sang Eleanor Smith's "The Quest." She is a valuable acquisition to our musical circles and promises to rank high among our local singers. Miss Russell received her musical education in Tacoma, her home, and New York. From her reception the other evening she promises to be very popular with Oakland audiences.

The orchestra will give its next concert January 11, 1895.

Carr-Beel Popular Concert.

The thirty-ninth Saturday popular concert drew a large and enthusiastic audience. Schubert's String Quartet in A minor opened the programme. Miss Regina Newman sang a bouquet of four songs. The lady has a pleasant and well trained voice, but her German pronunciation was only slightly better than her English. When will singers learn to speak in singing! This part of voice training is almost universally neglected, whereas it should be one of the most important features of such training. Louis Heine played two 'cello solos, but although called out four times he did not respond to the encore. Tschaikowsky's Trio, op. 50, closed the programme.

LOY.

TOO THIN.

The Bare-Faced Story Told by a Burglar.

A. Anderson, an 18-year old lad, got out of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, committed on an usher in the People's Theater a few weeks ago, but he is now in a hole where he may remain for some time. Late Saturday night he was arrested by Officer McKeegan while engaged in appropriating a stock of knives from the hardware store of Taylor & Ausseon on Twenty-third avenue and Fourteenth street. At the City Prison he was booked on a charge of burglary.

The lad claims that Saturday night, when he was on his way home, he met a man who forced him under penalty of instant death to commit the burglary. He refuses to give the alleged Bill Sykes' description, although he claims to know him. In the Police Court, this morning, his examination was set for the 26th.

THE COW WON.

Novel Contest With a Horse in Michigan.

The Milk-Maker Ran Like a Thoroughbred.

A Purse Had Been Put Up by a Couple of Sports.

PONTIAC, Mich., October 22.—People in Oakland county are discussing a novel race which occurred last week on the race track here between a cow and a horse. The race originated in banter between two neighbors, Edward White and Joseph Russell. White is the owner of a high-grade Durham cow, 9 years old, and about four weeks ago he began to drive her to a cart.

She soon developed startling qualities, and many owners of good horses who tried to pass White had to take the dust from the bovine's heels. One day Russell tried to pass White with his sorrel mare.

This led to words, and finally White bet Russell $50 that the cow could beat the horse on a half-mile trot or a half-mile walk. Russell accepted the bet and the money was put up.

The cow was somewhat confused by the shouts of the crowd and the otherwise striking contrasts with her familiar haunts, but she easily won the half-mile in seven minutes, the horse being a minute behind at the wire.

The half mile trot was also won by the cow without an effort in 3:07. White was saving up his cow's wind for the race against time which he had advertised as the closing feature.

His shepherd dog, which kept close behind the cart and seemed to feel a weight of responsibility in the race, was expected to bite the cow's heels as a last resort.

This proved unnecessary in the race with the horse, and the dog refused to do his part in the race for a record.

White claims, however, that she trotted a quarter at a four-minute gate on a country road, and promises to lower that with a few weeks' training.

The cow is driven with regular harness and bit, and never made a break.

SULLY'S SHOWS.

The Irish-American Comedian Here Tonight.

Good Performances to Be Given Theater-Goers.

"The Midnight Express" Is Staged at the People's.

The Millionaire, that clever comedy in which Daniel Sully has made such a hit all over the country will be presented at the Macdonough for two nights, commencing this evening. The play is one replete with dramatic interest and is full of striking situations and intense realism. Sully plays the part of an Irish contractor, who has secured a valuable railroad franchise and who is combated by a clique of millionaires. There is a railroad race and an exciting finish, and of course the poor man finally triumphs.

The Millionaire is one of those plays that excite critical enthusiasm, and it has many excellences that more pretentious dramas do not possess. In the first place it aims to present a moral hero drawn from actual life, and it does present him without any extraneous theatrical nonsense and without any sophistry.

The Acme Club will take a benefit tonight in connection with the performance, so a big house is assured.

The People's

Dover Dale and his talented company will present the sensational comedy The Midnight Express, at the People's Theater tonight. It is a realistic sensational play.

MRS. SYNDER IN COURT.

She Claims the Neighbors are Backbiting.

Mrs. Snyder, of 835 Pine street, was in the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of cruelty to children. The woman's arrest was caused by Mrs. Sanford of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The case is a peculiar one. Neighbors of the woman claim she has been in the habit of abusing her little daughter May, and that the child has been beaten until she is in a state of desperation.

The child is rather a remarkable looking youngster. She is exceedingly slender and has a curious manner of staring fixedly at persons addressing her, something unusual in a little girl, and which leads to the suspicion that her mind is a trifle unbalanced.

In an interview with the mother this morning she stated that the whole trouble was caused by the officiousness of neighbors. Mrs. Snyder is reputed to be quite wealthy. Her husband is confined in an insane asylum. The woman was released on her own recognizance, and will appear next Monday for trial by the court.

Heagerty Knocked Out.

Danny Heagerty's long fight against the Berkeley temperance people is over. The attacks on his business, which worried him for several years past, have lately been so fierce that the hospitable caterer has concluded to leave towne. The burning of his hotel and the attitude taken by the college papers have knocked him out and the thirsty college boys will have to get their coffee elsewhere.

His Injuries Fatal.

Fred Herman, the boy who was struck by the train at Los Banos several days ago, died at Dr. Woolsey's Hospital yesterday. The boy's parents reside in San Francisco.

A Reverend Football Coach.

Rev. C. O. Gill, the University football coach, conducted the services in the Presbyterian Church at Berkeley yesterday.
